Remember Washingtons
Must It Really Be War?
Have You Read Sartor?
Our Army, 16,500,000

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

TWO HUNDRED and four years ago, George Washington was born. He did his work well, died 67 years later.

When the country needed Washington he appeared; when another Washington is needed he also will appear; let us hope not to lead another revolution.

Power is always present, power of courage, heart and mind, unknown until revealed by opportunity and necessity.

LINCOLN PROVES it, and Jackson, it is proved, too, by leaders of industry, too little appreciated in this age of dole, relief and well meant theory.

While you honor Washington don't forget his mother, Mary Ball Washington. Without her there would have been no George Washington; her qualities drove out the British. No male Washington amounted to anything until she came.

G. WARD PRICE, investigating for Lord Rothermere's "Daily Mail," sees European war around the corner. He reminds you of Dickens' fat boy: "I wants to make your flesh creep."

GERMANY PUTS inside each case of merchandise sent to Italy this message, "Hold on until the spring," meaning plainly, "Then we shall have a war worth while."

England raises her war budget to two thousand eight hundred million dollars—she never expected that.

MARSHAL TUKACHEVSKY has been in London, representing Stalin's war machine and stocks in British armament factories have gone up more than 200 per cent. Tukachevsky helped that; all Europe is helping it.

Be thankful that congress has NOT authorized anybody here to act as judge between European nations, in their wars. Such foolishness would drag us into war by the shortest route.

YOUNG MEN, to develop a style of your own for high-flown poetry or sensible advertising, you must digest, without imitating, literary styles of other men, as they must eat other animals, to build up their own bodies.

For good mental exercise, and a style that you could not imitate if you tried, read Carlyle's Sartor Resartus; you will curse the style and enjoy the thought.

BORAH SAYS DRIVE MADE AGAINST U. S. NEUTRALITY POLICY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Directly intimating Great Britain was involved, Senator Borah of Idaho tonight charged that a campaign of "insidious propaganda" had been conducted from abroad against America's neutrality policy in the Italo-Ethiopian war.

In his first formal speech since openly avowing himself a Republican presidential candidate, Borah confined himself almost entirely to international issues. His Washington's birthday radio address, urging a tenacious "aloofness from the political affairs and controversies of the old world" as advised by the first president, was made the basis for meetings of "Borah for president" clubs in various parts of the country.

The Idahoan did not name Great Britain directly in his propaganda charge. Nevertheless, after launching his accusation that foreign influence had been directed against this country's course in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, he devoted a major portion of his address to a sharp discussion of Britain's aims and actions.

TWO ISLANDS INUNDATED AS RIVER LEVEES BREAK

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Sacramento river levees at Prospect and Liberty Islands collapsed tonight, inundating both islands and causing damage estimated by officials at several hundred thousand dollars.

The levees broke just before the flood gates were opened for the first time in eight years. The river then stood four inches below flood stage.

Damage to Prospect Island alone was estimated at $200,000 by the manager of the island farms. Damage to the other island may be greater.

ROOSEVELT'S TAX IDEAS EXPECTED AT CAPITAL SOON

Word Is Sent From White House To 'Keep Thursday Night Open'

PRESIDENT ASKS CHIEFS TO BE READY FOR TALKS

Proposals May Be Submitted To Congress Friday Or Early Next Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Word from the White House to "keep Thursday night open" quickened expectation of congressional leaders today that President Roosevelt will soon make known his tax recommendations.

The executive, it was learned, has asked his legislative chieftains to be ready for a meeting with him fixed tentatively for February 27, following his return from Hyde Park, N. Y.

Mr. Roosevelt told newsmen yesterday that he expected to study the tax situation during his absence from the capital. He was in Cambridge, Mass., tonight, and will go from there to his Hyde Park home.

News of the conference was accompanied by an intimation that the executive proposals would be submitted to congress either next Friday or early in the following week, and brought to the floor of the house after a fortnight's hearings by the ways and means committee.

At the same time it was learned that the present delay in the formulation of the administration program has been occasioned largely by careful examination and re-examination to fortify it against constitutional objections based upon the supreme court's AAA decision.

For several days the general expectation has been that the new program would be confined to providing funds for financing new farm benefits. The court ruled the processing tax was an unconstitutional exaction when applied for the purpose of regulating agricultural production.

TRIBUTE IS PAID FIRST PRESIDENT

Capital Leads Nation In Observing Birthday Of Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The capital named in his honor led the nation today in traditional and reverent observance of the 204th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

While the first president's "farewell address" was read in congress, officials and citizens paid tribute by placing wreaths on Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon in nearby Virginia.

All government offices were closed. The capital's citizenry—joined by thousands of visitors—made pilgrimages to Mount Vernon or Fredericksburg, where Washington spent his boyhood, or climbed to the top of the lofty monument that bears his name.

Captain Wilson Brown, naval aide to President Roosevelt, acted for the chief executive in laying a wreath on the first president's tomb in a simple but impressive ceremony.

ONE SHREVEPORTER DIES, OTHERS HURT IN HIGHWAY MISHAP

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—One Shreveporter was burned to death and three others escaped with minor injuries when the sedan in which they were riding overturned and caught fire after striking a bridge on the Marshall highway about two miles west of Greenwood shortly after 4 p.m. today.

Tony Fulco, about 22, of Shreveport, was burned to death in the automobile despite the frantic efforts of his three companions to remove him from the blazing machine. The three with Fulco, all of whom were burned about the hands and legs, were H. U. Phillips, the driver; G. E. Cashman and R. W. Smith, all of Shreveport.

Witnesses and those in the car said they had just passed another automobile proceeding in the same direction when the car suddenly slumped down at the right front side and could not be straightened out. It smashed into the right side of the bridge, swung and struck the left guard rail and then completely turned around and headed in the opposite direction. It burst into flames when it first struck the bridge, occupants said.

NEW DEAL WINS MAJOR DECISIONS

Circuit Court Takes Side With Government's Public Utility Act

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 22.—The fourth U. S. circuit court of appeals sided with the New Deal today on cases brought to test the public utility act of 1935 and the right of WPA to advance funds for construction of a publicy-owned power plant which would compete with private industry.

In a far-reaching decision by Judge John J. Parker, with Judge Morris A. Soper of Baltimore dissenting, and Judge Elliott Northcutt of West Virginia concurring, the court upheld the power of congress to enact the public works law; held the administrator was acting within the act in making such a power loan; and ruled the Duke Power company had not had sufficient equity in court to warrant a lower court injunction it obtained against a $3,000,000 plant to be constructed by Greenwood county at Buzzards Roost, S. C.

DEMOCRATS BOLT SLATE NAMED BY PRES. ROOSEVELT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Chairman Culbert L. Olson of the Democratic state central committee and others of the "liberal" minority bolted today from the California Democratic delegation slate selected by President Roosevelt.

"Regardless of the mistakes made in selection of the delegation," Olson declared, "we liberal Democrats of California stand whole-heartedly for the re-election of the president."

In a hotly worded statement criticising the slate as predominently reactionary, Olson announced a statewide organization of "liberal Democrats" will be formed immediately.

Olson, state senator, declared the slate was "contrary to my expectations, based upon my conference with the president."

He said it was "apparent that this is the result of parleys" between United States Senator William G. McAdoo and Postmaster General Farley.

PETERMAN REFERS NOTE TO NEW WPA DIRECTOR

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Frank H. Peterman, who recently tendered his resignation as federal works administrator for Louisiana, said today that he had referred Harry J. Early's communication to James H. Crutcher, his successor.

"I don't know what Mr. Early's purpose is," Mr. Peterman said. "I turned over the duties of the office to my successor, Mr. Crutcher, on Feb. 15, and have referred Early's communication to him." Mr. Peterman said he did not care to comment on the communication further.

MAYORS DISCUSS RELIEF PROBLEM

Voice Hope That U. S. Will Continue Helping To Meet Situation

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Despite the holiday, a score of city executives from the south and southwest met in regional conference with the executive committee of the United States Conference of Mayors today to voice a unanimous hope the federal givernment would continue to help them meet municipal relief problems.

Another session will be held Monday morning, and the party will stay over for the Mardi Gras celebration Tuesday.

After hearing Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City, president of the national conference, declare relief must continue for some time after economic recovery, the city executives one by one rose to declare it would be impossible to bear their relief burdens without government aid.

Host to the conference and former head of the national conference, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, opened today's meeting, stating that the national conference had asked the federal government for $2,340,000,000 for relief purposes, and "while we do not know what the president's course will be because his relief program has not gone to congress as yet, he has always lent a willing ear to the conference."

HOFFMAN DOUBTS TESTIMONY GIVEN AT BRUNO'S TRIAL

Says Millard Whited, Lumberjack, Made Conflicting Statements

GOVERNOR BELIEVES CASH CAUSED CHANGE IN STORY

Witness Said To Have Reversed Self About Seeing Man Near Hopewell

By Samuel G. Blackman
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 22.—Governor Harold G. Hoffman, who temporarily saved Bruno Richard Hauptmann from the electric chair a month ago, today cast doubt on the testimony that placed Hauptmann near Hopewell about the time of the Lindbergh kidnaping, March 1, 1932.

At the conclusion of two hours of questioning Millard Whited, Sourland lumberjack, the governor said it was "highly significant" that Whited once told police he had seen no one near the Lindbergh home, and then apparently reversed himself when Hauptmann was arrested two and a half years later and identified him.

The governor said Whited told him he had been promised a part of the $25,000 reward, offered by the state for the arrest and conviction of the kidnaper, had received about $160 for appearing as a witness, and thought more was due him.

"It would be very interesting," the governor said, "to know whether the promise of the reward played some part in his identification of Hauptmann in the Bronx."

Whited's identification of Hauptmann at the extradition proceedings in the Bronx in October, 1934, was one reason New York authorities decided to grant New Jersey's request for the prisoner.

Hauptmann is under sentence to die the week of March 30.

Asked today if the results of Whited's questioning might mean a second reprieve, the governor said:

"I haven't considered it in that light,

Much Interest Being Created In Second Primaries Slated March 3

Sixteen absentee votes were cast Saturday in the second primary election to be held March 3.

With the date of the election drawing near, considerable interest in the various races is being shown by local voters and the campaign machinery of the various candidates is geared for a whirlwind finish during the coming week.

Leading the ticket is the race for congressman for the fifth district between Congressman Riley J. Wilson and Newt V. Mills. Both candidates are rallying their forces in an effort to win the seat, which has not been so hotly contested in recent years.

Colonel Henry L. Roosevelt Dies Suddenly Of Influenza

Assistant Secretary Of Navy And Cousin Of President Expires

DIES SUDDENLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Col. Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and a distant cousin of President Roosevelt, died suddenly today at the naval hospital here. He was 57 years old.

The stocky assistant secretary, who was acting secretary of the navy during the current illness of Secretary Swanson, was taken to the hospital only yesterday. His attack was diagnosed as intestinal influenza.

Although naval doctors reported during the day that Col. Roosevelt's illness was in a critical stage, his death was unexpected.

He died at 5:15 p.m.

Reports of his death circulated in the capital for many minutes before hospital physicians would confirm that he had passed away. Word of his death finally was forthcoming from the navy department.

The brief announcement said Col. Roosevelt died of an acute heart attack, although he was admitted for intestinal influenza.

Col. Roosevelt was born in Morristown, N. J., on October 5, 1879, the son of Nicholas Roosevelt. He entered the naval academy with the class of 1900, but left before graduation to become a second lieutenant in the marine corps for service aboard the U. S. S. Mayflower in the war with Spain.

Married in 1902 to Miss Eleanor Morrow, of San Francisco, the assistant secretary remained in the marine corps until 1920, when he resigned to enter private business. His marine

PROTESTS MADE OVER SOIL BILL

Revision By House Brings Stern Objection Of Senate Democrats

By D. Harold Oliver
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—House revision of the administration's half-billion dollar soil conservation-subsidy bill brought stern senate Democratic protests today which sent the measure to conference for adjustment of differences.

Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, co-sponsor of the senate version with Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, was so incensed over the house action that he threw up his hands in disgust and inquired:

"What kind of a fool thing is this they have adopted?"

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, who assailed the legislation when it was before the senate as a "subterfuge, fraud and sham," displayed his feelings by refusing to serve on the conference committee.

Smith had the senate disagree to the house amendments as soon as the bill was received and asked for a conference. Vice President Garner named Smith, Murphy, Democrat, Iowa; Pope, Democrat, Idaho and Capper, Republican Kansas, as the senate conferees. Smith said he would propose Senator Frazier, Republican North Dakota, for the place turned

ENGLAND REPORTED SEEKING TO BLOCK PROPOSED TREATY

ROME, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The report ran through diplomatic circles tonight that Great Britain seeks to block the rumored efforts to establish an alliance of Italy with Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Poland.

No diplomat was willing to assert this report as a fact, but several pointed to the departure for Vienna of Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome, as giving substance to the suggestion of a British maneuver.

Sir Eric let it be known he was going to Vienna for dental work. It was said he would stay in the Austrian capital a week.

The same diplomats who saw more behind his trip said they remembered that when Sir Eric was secretary to the League of Nations he was instrumental in getting financial aid for Austria. His word would mean much with that country's officials, they suggested.

12 DEATH PENALTIES ARE PRONOUNCED ON GERMAN

Fair Weather Favors First Parade Of Carnival Season

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Fair skies favored the first street parade of the carnival season today, the children's parade led by King Nor and his krewe, the small folks' forerunner of Tuesday's famed Mardi Gras festival.

Through crowd-jammed streets gaily decorated for the historic pre-Lenten pop-off of revelry Tuesday, the royal float bearing King Nor III and his krewe headed the long parade of the children's floats and the little maskets and mimes.

The parade theme was the Vieux Carre, the old French quarter of New Orleans, and the sixty-odd floats in the colorful procession depicted the historically famed buildings of the old quarter and re-created some of the scenes that made that section of the city famous.

The parade wound through the downtown streets to city hall, where King Nor exchanged official courtesies and received the keys of the city and a speech of homage from four-year-old Adele Collins, representing the king's subjects.

In the reviewing stand with Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans were a number of mayors of other cities here for a regional conference, including Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York City, president of the National Conference of Mayors of the United States.

In the crowds lining the streets downtown were thousands of visitors here for the Mardi Gras festival. Besides the children's parade, there were a number of other events on the carnival program including three balls tonight, the ball of the Mystic club, the ball of the Krewe of Melson and the ball of the Krewe of Orion, which will attract a gay and fashionable throng.

Tomorrow and Monday there will be more events on the carnival program, all leading up to the last mad fling that is Mardi Gras in New Orleans, once a year.

CALLS ON FOES TO MEET RECORD OF NEW DEALERS

ATTACK CENTERED UPON LIBERTY GROUP, HOOVER

Cabinet Member Makes No Mention Of Landon In Kansas Address

TOPEKA, Kans., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley, sounding the Democratic campaign battle cry in the farm belt, hailed President Roosevelt tonight as the saviour of America and challenged "any political party to meet us on that record."

Speaking over a national radio network on the same platform from which Gov. Alf M. Landon, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee, criticized Roosevelt policies January 29, Farley made no specific mention in his prepared address of the Kansas executive.

He centered fire against New Deal critics particularly upon former President Herbert Hoover and upon the American Liberty league.

However, referring apparently to Kansas Republican statements regarding state governmental economies—a point emphasized by Landon boosters—Farley said:

"I was sorry to learn that it was necessary here in Kansas to cut the salaries of school teachers and of professors in the colleges and universities. Perhaps it was necessary, but the policy of the Roosevelt administration has been to serve the schools of the nation wherever possible."

Reviewing three years of the New Deal, Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, asserted at the Washington day banquet of the Kansas Democratic club:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt did more than save America. He vindicated democracy at a time when all over the world its enemies were ready to declare the death of the finest system of government ever devised."

Saying "the Hoover panic was defeated because a courageous congress used the national credit to rescue the American people from starvation and want," Farley commented, "Kansas got its fair share."

"Almost with an air of resignation, the people patiently waited until the end of the Hoover regime, fearful that a terrible tornado of social forces was about to uproot the land.

"Well, my friends, the tornado never happened and you and I know why. While the rest faltered and fumed and fussed, a new leader took over the reins of office on March 4, 1933, and his accomplishments were soon echoing like a thunderclap throughout the length and breadth of the land.

"From the day Mr. Roosevelt seized the banner of American leadership from the faltering hands of Herbert Hoover, the United States has marched steadily forward towards the goal of economic security and social justice."

Under the New Deal, Farley said—Confidence has been restored in the banking structure; the buying power of agriculture has been increased by more than $2,000,000,000 in one year; industrial production is up; government projects "which will prove useful and lasting benefit to the nation" are giving a living to millions; the

6 STATES WATCH FLOOD DANGERS

Weather Bureau Officials Discount Menace But Precautions Are Taken

Although weather bureau officials in Washington have concluded from their study of national conditions that general floods will not necessarily follow the thawing of record snows, old timers on the banks of corn belt streams are inclined to take no chances.

Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa announced he would seek mobilization of CCC wirkers and various other agencies in the event floods expected in his state materialize. Several cities have requested WPA funds for levee and rip-rap work.

In Illinois, the mayors of 13 Fox river valley towns were invited to meet at Aurora Sunday to map a defense against the danger.

With ice on the Missouri river 30 inches thick, farmers in the Yankton, S. D., vicinity made preparations for flight from the bottomlands in the case the "break up" should come suddenly.

Dynamite has been stored at Blair, Neb., and other points where there are bridges for use in breaking up ice jams. But Captain H. B. Loper, army district engineer at Omaha, where the ice in the Missouri is two to three feet thick, said the explosive would be no help in big jams. They will have to break themselves up, Capt. Loper said.

PHILADELPHIA PAPER IS FOUND NOT GUILTY ON CHARGE OF LIBEL

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A jury acquitted the Philadelphia Inquirer tonight of a criminal libel charge brought by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti but placed the costs of the trial on the defendant.

The five housewives and seven men rendered their verdict 28 hours and 14 minutes after receiving the case.

The Inquirer in its article, published September 29 during a mayoralty campaign in Philadelphia, said Margiotti's law partners and associates were planning a "big tax fee grab."

Acquitted along with the Inquirer were the co-defendants, Editor John Trevor Custis, and General Manager Charles A. Tyler.

The maximum penalty for conviction would have been a $1,000 fine and a year's imprisonment.

The Inquirer's defense was the article was true, printed in the interest of "public welfare" and justified by the provision in the constitution guaranteeing "freedom of the press."

TOWNSEND URGES ENDING DUAL PARTY GOVERNMENT

GLENDALE, Calif., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend today urged elimination of the "American system of dual party government."

Dr. Townsend, originator of the old age pension plan bearing his name, said in an interview that regardless of whether his plan is adopted, the "more than 7,000 Townsend clubs in the United States" will be used in attack on the existing party organization.

In its place Dr. Townsend advocated a return to the "town meetings" of early American days, offering his clubs "as the basis of such a government."

4 SAILORS MISSING AFTER BLAST HITS OIL TANKER AT SEA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Four members of the crew of 32 men of the oil tanker Albert Hill were missing today after an explosion and fire swept the forward part of the vessel, at sea about 200 miles east of Charleston, S. C.

The tanker, owned by the Atlantic Refining company, was ripped open forward by the blast and the fire that followed raged for two hours as rescue craft raced to her aid.

Tonight the disabled ship awaited a tow into port, its bow down, its forward decks blasted apart and burned, its steel hull listing to starboard. A search was under way for the missing men—a boatswain and three able bodied seamen.

The Atlantic Refining company announced the four missing were Boatswain John Dybaa of Philadelphia and Seamen Hersell Norris and John Galiamos of Philadelphia and John Crabtree of Detroit.

WHISKY VOLUME OVER 1918 LEVEL

Stocks Of Bonded Liquor Exceed Those Of Pre-Prohibition Era

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The treasury reported today stocks of bonded whisky have been built up to a level exceeding the pre-prohibition average.

At the end of January a total of 221,601,628 tax gallons were in bonded warehouses throughout the country in contrast with a round figure average of 200,000,000 gallons before passage of the 18th amendment. The pre-prohibition peak of 278,000,000 gallons was established in June, 1914.

Bonded warehouse stocks are being added to at the rate of about 15,000,000 gallons a month. Withdrawals are running about 65,000,000 gallons a year, while production, on the basis of January figures, is being carried on at the rate of 243,000,000 gallons a year. There were 89 distilleries operating at the end of last March.

Treasury officials stimate that by 1938 the bonded warehouse stocks will be sufficient to meet domestic consumption.

Be Healthier, Happier—Live Longer

When you can get for 35 cents a supremely efficient and harmless stimulant and diuretic that will flush from your kidneys the waste matter, poisons and acid that are now doing you harm, why continue to break your restful sleep by getting up thru the night. Just ask your druggist for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—but be sure and get GOLD MEDAL—right from Haarlem in Holland. Other symptoms of weak kidneys and irritated bladder are backache, puffy eyes, leg cramps, moist palms, burning or scanty passage. (Adv.)

Big West Monroe Drainage Pump Is Almost Completed

A difficult engineering project planned to pump drainage water from West Monroe in times of high stages of the Ouachita river is nearing completion near the southern edge of the city, opposite Little Black bayou. Barring heavy rains and intensely cold weather, it is expected that the station will be completed in about 30 days.

The project is a part of the flood protection system of West Monroe. The city and its environs lie within a loop levee that now is nearly completed, and the pump station is to pump water over the levee and into the river when the water cannot flow by gravity into the stream.

In the words of C. A. Peerman, engineer who drew the plans and specifications for the station and who is supervising its construction and the installation of equipment, the station will pick up from its suction basin 110,000 gallons of water a minute, or three feet of water per second, will drive the water through discharge pipes at the rate of seven feet per second, and will release the water gently, at the rate of 1.9 feet per second.

Mr. Peerman, a man of wide engineering experience and who speaks with a flow of engineering terminology as easily as the average citizen speaks the English language, has the faculty of explaining technical principles so simply that any person can understand.

Before the operation of the plant is explained in further detail, it will be well to go back to the beginning of the movement. Citizens of Gravity and Drainage District No. 1 of Ouachita parish, in a bond issue election called by the board of commissioners of the district, empowered the commissioners to sell bonds to produce money for the construction. The bonds were sold to the Municipal Acceptance corporation and are now valued at a premium.

The complete cost of the station will be $54,677.

Members of the board of commissioners of the gravity and drainage district are: Dr. T. L. Hood, president; Sam Humphries, secretary; Dick Wheelis, Sam Norris and D. C. Metcalf. Three members of the body are appointed by the police jury and two are gubernatorial appointees.

With funds for the construction available, the board obtained the services of Mr. Peerman for the drawing of plans and specifications. Among the general principles which Mr. Peerman had to consider were construction and expansion, vibration, great weight of equipment and exposure to varying weather conditions. The plans and specifications when completed met the rigid requirements of army engineers, and requirements of state and PWA engineers. (The PWA has no part in financing the construction.)

It was calculated by Mr. Peerman that the station will operate a total of one year out of 30. Therefore, with great weight of the pumps and motors to be supported indefinitely, it was necessary to drive piling to support the structure. Forty-seven yellow pine piling, each from 25 to 30 feet in length, were driven at the south edge of the excavation where the station was to be erected. Driven lower than the "pool" stage of the river, the piling are expected to last indefinitely because oxygen and water will not reach them.

The outside piling will each support 25 tons and the inside piling will each support 32 tons, but their actual "loading" will average less than eight tons each, Mr. Peerman calculated.

A thick concrete floor, concrete retaining wall and concrete wall dividing the two suction bays were constructed above the piling. Tests of samples of the concrete, made by army engineers, revealed that it will withstand compression of over 4,000 pounds per square inch.

The superstructure of the station was constructed of heavy steel beams. At this time the station is in skeletal form, the sides and roof not having been attached to the framework. The steel frame will be covered with a type of corrugated asbestos which Mr. Peerman said will withstand fire, water, freezing conditions and other attacks of nature for many years. Doors and sash will be of metal. Ribbed wire glass and copper flashings will be used.

Auxiliary equipment of the station includes a transformer which will "step down" electricity from 13,000 volts to 2,300 and floodgates through which Little Black bayou flows. When the river is at a high stage, the gates will be closed so that water from the river will not "back up" through the bayou and into West Monroe.

Mr. Peerman, in accompanying a reporter on an inspection tour of the station, first led the newspaperman down into the excavation basin. The basin is to receive drainage water from the network of pipes over the city and outlying areas within the loop levee.

Leading the reporter into one of the two concrete suction bays beneath the skeletal structure, Mr. Peerman pointed upwards into the vitals of the pump located over that bay. Inside the 54-inch pumps are steel blades that will churn the water up through the pumps and into the discharge pipes.

Each suction bay is to be equipped with an iron grating, to prevent heavy timbers from floating into the bays. Smaller pieces of lumber entering the pump will be "chewed" into bits by the thick blades. In event a mass of vines or grass enters either pump, clogging the blades, a special cutting blade inside the pump can be placed in action by pulling a lever.

Each pump will have a suction bell extending down into its suction bay, and each pump will be operated by a 300-horsepower motor.

The suction bells, each 101 inches in diameter, provide the means for drawing water gently from the bays. Entering the bells at their greatest diameter, water will be checked in its flow into the pump as the diameter of the bell decreases to its minimum of 54 inches at its connection with the pump.

Weighing 30,000 pounds each, the pumps with their complete equipment and the pull of water against them will have a total duty of 70,000 pounds each, or an aggregate for both pumps of 140,000 pounds, Mr. Peerman said.

The site of the pump station is a low area where a new dirt levee has been made. Heavy rains falling upon the area made the fresh surface dirt soggy and across this area it was necessary to move the heavy pumps. The work was a slow process—moving the pumps across timbers with only soggy earth beneath the timbers. Across the mushy dirt in the bed of the excavation the big pumps were moved, and then they were hoisted into the skeleton of the station with a winch that had five lifting lines.

Water discharged from the pumps will be carried over the levee in two four-and-one-half foot pipes made of pure iron. Each of the pipes has a concrete base especially designed by Mr. Peerman to resist disintergration which otherwise would be caused by expansion and contraction.

Discharge cones, or big, flared sections of elliptical piping, will release the water gently into Little Black bayou about a quarter-mile from the river.

One of the many minute details calculated in connection with the station and its operation is that the soil at the end of the cones will withstand a flow of water at the rate of four feet per second, while water will leave the cones at the rate of 1.9 feet per second.

Vibration caused by the plant machinery will be prevented from reaching the discharge pipes by means of rubber connections to the pumps. Expansion joints in the pipes will prevent damage by contraction and expansion.

Altogether, the project in its entirety was designed and is nearing completion with the paramount idea of permanence. It is probable that no person now alive will live long enough to see its usefulness ended. Operating a total of only one year out of 30, the station equipment will have undergone only negligible wear at the end of three score years and ten, a century or longer.

The equipment is such that it can conveniently be kept in an excellent condition. A man with a paint spray gun can easily paint the inside of the big pumps and the discharge pipes. The electric motors also can be kept in excellent condition without difficulty.

Among the persons who have watched with interest the progress of the installation of the equipment is W. J. Veasey, representative of the Fairbanks-Morse company, makers of the equipment. Mr. Veasey makes his headquarters here.

FLAMES DAMAGE MERIDIAN HOTEL

Two Persons Are Slightly Burned In Fire On Eleventh Floor

MERIDIAN, Miss., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin early today damaged the eleventh floor of the Lamar hotel here and slightly burned two persons.

A negro bellboy smelled smoke and turned in the alarm. A dozen guests housed on the eleventh floor calmly left their rooms by the fire escape and went down into the lobby while firemen extinguished the blaze.

The guests were quickly notified of the fire by telephone and some of them entered the lobby scantily clad, later returning to their rooms and collecting their effects.

All contents of room 1115 were destroyed and the fire seared doors and carpets and wall papering as it travelled down the hallway.

The elevators were stopped for fear of damaging the cable lifts, but the firemen had little difficulty in extinguishing the blaze.

Bill Mobley, hotel manager, said there was no panic among the guests and that they returned to their rooms after the blaze had been extinguished.

MONTEREY CLUB WORKS ON SCHOOL PROJECT

JONESVILLE, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—The Monterey chapter of the Future Farmers of America is sponsoring a program of school ground improvement and beautification at the Monterey high school. For the past two years they have planted and cared for shrubbery on the grounds. This work is being continued and plans have been made for extensive plantings during this school session.

Arbor day will be celebrated by an appropriate program accompanied by tree planting. An improvement in the appearance and safety of the school has just been completed. The fence in front of the building has been set back 40 feet to permit the construction of a driveway and allow ample parking space. This will permit the transfer pupils to get in and out of the highway when alighting from the vans. Stiles have replaced the gate in front of the building eliminating the necessity of having to keep the gate closed in order to protest the grounds and the shrubbery.

If a Cold STRIKES . . Apply Vicks VapoRub At Bedtime . . .

Often by morning

The Worst of the Cold is Over

There's good reason why Vicks VapoRub helps to end colds quicker. Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts direct—two ways at once:

(1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster. (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to irritated air-passages.

During the night, this combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

VapoRub is effective—external—and safe! It avoids the risks of constant internal dosing so often upsetting to delicate digestions. Such upsets rob little folks of appetite and thus lower body strength when it is most needed to resist disease. VapoRub can be used freely, and as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

COMMON-SENSE ECONOMY

More people depend on Vicks VapoRub for the prompt relief of colds than on any other remedy in the world. That simple statement of fact should be doubly important to mothers—as guardians of the family health and the family pocket-book. For such outstanding leadership, continuing for two generations, can only be based on outstanding merit. And, in medicines especially, the one that gives you the most in results is also the most economical.

POLICE TO SEEK CONFIDENCE MAN

Bureau Of Investigation Orders Wide Search For William Mead

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The bureau of investigation asked police throughout the country today to seek William E. Mead, elderly international confidence man, wanted for questioning in the Bremer kidnap case.

Mead slipped away from Northampton, Miss., police last July, while they were checking his record because of suspicions aroused by his mutilated fingerprints. Arrested on a minor automobile law charge, Mead had been released on $200 bond. He failed to appear for trial.

At Washington, federal fingerprinting experts discovered that Mead was a notorious "confidence game" man, with a record of arrests by postoffice inspectors, the English Scotland Yard, and police in Los Angeles, Denver, Miami and other cities.

Alvin Karpis and his pal, Harry Campbell, are the only major members of the Karpis-Barker gang still at large. Kate "Ma" Barker and one of her sons were killed by "G-men," while most of the rest of the gang have been sent to Alcatraz or other federal prisons for long terms.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Corner St. John and Grammont Sts.
L. T. Hastings, Pastor

The pastor's subjects for Sunday morning and evening will cover two important "Passovers," as related in God's Word. They will be interesting to the membership and friends of the church. Sunday morning: "And All Passed Clean Over Jordan." Sunday evening: "When I See The Blood I Will Pass Over You." Mr. Stulce has returned from his revival meeting with the First Baptist church of Enid, Okla., and will be presented to direct the singing at both services. Sunday will mark the beginning of the seventh year's work of Mr. Stulce with this church. Special music by the choir will be rendered Sunday morning, with Mr. Stulce singing the solo. There will also be special music Sunday night. Visitors in the city are urged to attend any and all these services. Special announcement to adults: Mr. Eearle Rowell, representative of the American Anti-Narcotic league, will address the adult department Sunday morning. He is a most interesting speaker and our adults will be greatly interested in his message. Mr. Rowell is making several addresses throughout the city. Adults will please be on time Sunday morning. The opening program begins at 9:45 a.m.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
Cypress and Crosley Streets
West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

The attendance at Sunday school has been exceptionally good, considering the extreme cold weather the past two months. We are happy to see this interest; and as the cold weather breaks and warmer weather comes on, we hope to see a decided increase in attendance at both Sunday school and services. We invite you to meet with us Sunday in all services, which will begin with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., D. O. McDaniel, superintendent. Morning worship 11 o'clock. Sermon by the pastor, Christ Ambassador class 6:30 p.m., S. W. Hamilton, director. Evening service 7:30.

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edw. Farren Hayward, Rector

The days of bodily exercise are at hand; therefore, in the service for the day, we are reminded of the absolute nothingness both of faith and works, without that love which is the fulfilling of the Law. The Epistle for the day (1st Corinthians, 13th chapter beginning at verse 1) is the rich mine from which the Collect was brought out. If the Collect requires any proof, you have it in the Epistle; if the Epistle needs any comment, you have it in the Collect. The Holy Gospel is a foreshadowing of the Crucifixion; and is designed to affect us as it did the Apostles themselves, when, "Jesus took unto Him the Twelve, and said to them, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and all things that are written by the Prophets concerning the Son of Man shall be accomplished." Moreover, it warns us, that, "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by." The season of grace is coming and going. And Lent is that season of 40 days kept yearly by the church in memory of your Saviour's temptation, betrayal and death. Now is the time to cry, with the blind man, Jesus, Thou Son of David, have mercy on me." Services for Quinquagesima Sunday are as follows: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a. m., church school at 9:30 a. m., and morning prayer and sermon at 11 o'clock. Services on Ash Wednesday are as follows: The Holy Eucharist at 7 a. m., choral Eucharist and sermon at 10 a. m., evensong, penitential office and sermon at 7:30 p. m., and service and sermon at St. David's, Rayville, at 4:30 p. m. The church is open daily. Come in, rest and pray.

UNITY CENTER
Hotel Virginia

Our study of "Lessons in Truth" continues Sunday at 10:15 a.m., Devotional services at 11 a.m., subject, "Casting Out Error." Our lesson is taken from Luke 8:26-37. Prayer, as taught by leading teachers of the Unity movement, will be studied Thursday evening at 7:30. We welcome you to attend these services. Room number will be posted in the lobby for your convenience.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH
107 Jackson Street
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

Sunday school and Bible class at 9:45 a.m. Church service at 10:45 a.m. The sermon for this Sunday will be based on the words of the Savior as they ar recorded in the Gospel of St. Matthew, 25:19-25. Your attention is called to the Lutheran hour broadcast every Sunday from WLW and affiliated stations at 12:30 p.m.

M'CLENDON BAPTIST CHURCH
Natchitoches Road
W. E. James, Pastor

The pastor will continue the series of sermons on "God, His Character and Personality." The subject for the morning message will be "God is Light," and the message for the evening hour will be "God is Love." The messages have as a keynote the teaching of the absolute deity of Jesus as well as the fundamental knowledge of God. Each Christian, as well as those who have not accepted Christ, should study these messages. Prayer meeting and study of Revelation at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. The pastor hopes to be able to begin the use of his new chart on Revelation next Thursday at this hour, when he will review the first, second and third chapters. Sunday school and B. T. U. under the direction of O. E. Pettit at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., respectively.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Rev. George H. Dierlamm, Minister

DREW CHURCH—Church school at 10 a.m., Mr. H. Stansel, superintendent. Morning worship at 11 a.m.

UNION CHURCH—Church school at 10:15 a.m. Mr. L. D. Willis, superintendent. Christian Life conference at 6:30 p.m. Evening worship at 7 p.m.

PLEASANT HILL—Church school at 2:30 p.m., Mr. Charlie R. Beard, superintendent. Church conference and service at 3:30 p.m. Christian Life conference will meet after the afternoon service for reorganization.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
South Second at Apple Street

Sunday Bible study at 9:45 a. m Preaching at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Foy E. Wallace, Sr., of Longview, Texas, will be our minister. Mr. Wallace comes well recommended, having preached the gospel for more than 40 years, and having three sons that are splendid gospel preachers. All members of the church are urged to be present at each service. Bring a friend. The public is cordially invited to attend.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Ernest Holloway, Minister
Grammont at Catalpa

A congregational meeting will be held at the close of the morning worship to select two additional elders. As this vote will determine the elevation of two men to the highest office in the Presbyterian church, will you, the members, be much in prayer that God may direct? The men chosen should ' pious, lovers of the Bible, loyal to the congregational program and sympathetic. To make the election constitutional, there must be present and voting one-sixth of the resident members, which means not less than 90 folk. Since we are considering the method of Jesus, looking to the building of His church, we are thinking at the morning worship hour about the subject "Sacrificial Service." The evening topic is "The New Era," based upon the facts set out in Genesis 9. Will you worship with us today? A cordial greeting awaits you.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
Jackson at Wood Street
W. C. Scott, Pastor

"When God Forgets," will be the subject of the pastor's sermon on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour. You are invited to worship with us. Evening services are held each Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Church school begins promptly at 9:30 a.m. in the children's division and 9:45 a.m. in all other classes. Epworth league meets at 6:30 every Sunday evening in the church annex. The Woman's Missionary society will meet in circles on Tuesday at 3 p.m. This church will cooperate with other churches of the city in the religious census to be taken on Thursday, February 27. All workers who have volunteered their services for this work are notified to meet at the church on Thursday morning at 9:45 to receive materials and instructions for the work. Our workers are still trying to contact members who have not yet made a pledge to the support of the church for 1936. All who have not pledged are urged to notify the office at once as the officials are anxious to complete the records by March 1.

IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH
Fourth and Vernon Streets
West Monroe
Rev. A. H. Johnson, Pastor

"I will praise Thee with my whole heart: I will worship toward Thy holy temple, and praise Thy name for Thy loving kindness and for Thy truth: for Thou hast magnified Thy Word above Thy Name." Psa. 138:1-2. Sunday school 9:45 a.m. Morning worship 11 o'clock. The pastor's subject for the morning will be "The Wilderness Experience at Rephidim." An object lesson will be given to children in the morning service. B. T. U. 6:30 p.m., Mrs. McLeod, director. Evening evangelistic service 7:30 p.m. Subject, "The Folly of Sin." Monday 7 p.m., Bible doctrine class. Be sure to come to our prayer meeting and Bible study Thursday 7 p.m. There will be an exposition of chapters 19 and 20 of the Book of Revelation. Of the two suppers mentioned, which one will you attend? Come and find out Thursday night. Exposition of the Sunday school lesson by the pastor 6:30 Thursday evening. Friday at 4:30 p.m., the young people's organizations will meet at the church as usual. Friday evening choir practice. Mr. Tullos, director.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas and Richmond Streets
G. M. and Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

Mr. S. P. Quigley, superintendent, will convene the Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. The pastors will preach at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Good music and singing at each service. The northern zone rally, including several representatives from a number of young peoples' societies in this section of the state, will have an interesting session beginning at 3 p.m. Mr. E. L. Hoskins, local president, and Mr. C. F. Valintine of Shreveport will be in charge. Rev. H. T. Isgett of Converse will speak. There will be a number of interesting speakers on the program. The W. M. S. will meet Monday at 2 p. m. Mrs. G. M. Akin, the president, will be in charge. Mid-week prayer meeting each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
812 Mississippi Street
I. J. Brooks, Pastor

The pastor is very much improved in health and will fill the pulpit Sunday. All the services of the church will be at the usual time. The pastor greatly appreciates the loyalty of his people during the days that he has been unable to serve them. The Sunday school, B. T. U. and W. M. U. have put forth an unusual effort to keep the attendance up to the standard. Despite the bad weather and the fact that the pulpit has been vacant most of the time, their efforts have been rewarded with success. The seniors of our church deserve special recognition for the splendid part they have played in promoting the interest of the work. They have recently redecorated their class room and are asking for 100 per cent attendance Sunday. Visitors are invited. The pastor's morning subject will be "Christ's Challenge to Sacrifice" (Matt. 16:24. The evening subject: "The Eternal Seeker" (Luke 15:10).

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

Last Sunday was our banner day in church attendance for the year. Our aim is to enlist all prospects of our district in consistent Bible study and consecrated Christian service. The Sunday school opens at 9:45 a.m. Our motto is "Every One Bring One." We have a class for each age. Splendid fellowship prevails at all times. B. T. U. at 6:30 p.m. Excellent programs are presented at each meeting. The pastor's morning message will be based on "The Man Who Said He Would and Didn't." The evening service, at 7:30 o'clock, will be devoted to the young people. The sermon subject will be "The Challenge of Modern Youth." The Bible has a message of victory for youth and the pastor greatly desires to have all of the young people present.

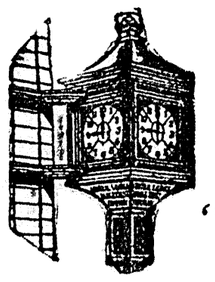
THE Palace



"As Time Goes On"

Set back the clock two hundred and four years and stand beside the bed of flaxen haired, thirty-two-year old Mary Ball Washington and a newly born babe named George.

Then move the clock slowly forward to the present . . . How much water has passed over the mill! How much history made—how many nations have risen and fallen!

And now, again, slowly move those hands forward another two hundred and four years into the future unknown. And what have you? How many other Washingtons—and Lincolns—and Wilsons? What nations are in the ascendency—and which are gone—and how—and why?

As for us—you and I will have long turned to dust.

Faulty Human Nature

The constructive instruction of human beings and the wholesome direction of human affairs calls for a degree of wisdom, knowledge, understanding and sympathy which we cannot possibly have except by calling on magnificent forces outside ourselves.

When you pit human nature against human nature, you match an inferior force with an inferior force. When you control human nature with human nature, you are employing a destructive power against a destructive power.

Human nature in one man can temporarily overcome human nature in another man; it can subdue him, but it cannot transform him.

You can meet anger in another person with anger in yourself, and though your anger may be sufficient to overwhelm the other man, you have accomplished nothing constructive. If you catch a man stealing from you and give him a drubbing or send him to jail, you have taught him a lesson; but the lesson you probably have taught him is to be so cautious next time that he will not get caught, or be prepared to kill whoever may catch him.

But if you were big enough and strong enough spiritually to overcome his human nature and could assist him to overcome his human nature, then you would actually have conquered. You would not have conquered the man—and that is something you would not wish to do—but you would be instrumental in conquering a certain phase of human nature within the man—a phase that should be conquered.

Whenever human nature clashes with human nature, mentally or physically, there is always a destructive conflict which actually accomplishes little or nothing; there may be a temporary relief from an undesirable situation. When the Allies overcame the forces of imperial Germany, a bad movement was halted; and that was necessary. But as subsequent events have proved, nothing permanently constructive was accomplished. If you should kill a man who is trying to kill you, you are justified. But you would do better if you could get him to change his mind.

True, the way we are fashioned, it seems necessary at times to meet human nature with human nature, to batter down material forces with material forces. But that is not the way the thing should be done, and not the way to get higher results. It is not the way to lift men up, and to improve the world.

If we could command spiritual power (and it is ours if we knew how to command it) so that we could regenerate men who are degenerate, or who are degenerating, then we should accomplish something really fine.

It seems necessary, the way things are now, to send men to the penitentiary, and even to execute them; to meet warring forces with warring forces. But these are not constructive accomplishments; they are deplorable. The ideal thing to do would be to get hold of men before they commit their crimes, to anticipate what they might do, and to educate and improve them spiritually that they would not do ignoble things.

The trouble with us is, we have not got what it takes. And the reason we do not have it is that we do not reach out with sincere persistency. Old human nature in ourselves so ham-strings and hog-ties us that we are incapable of doing anything about the old human nature in others.

Simply because men and women religiously go to church on Sunday is no proof that they are spiritually minded. They may go for a variety of reasons that have nothing to do with spirituality or genuine religion. The key to the world's spiritual problems is to be found in the doctrines of the churches, if these were heartily and loyally observed. But too often the church—the denomination, not the institution—does not demand of its members behavior which is sufficiently high spiritually. Today you cannot tell by a man's actions whether he belongs to a church or not.

OVERLOOKED WOMEN

History must be revised to include more women, according to Dr. Mary R. Beard, speaking in Washington before the American Association of University Women, and if necessary women should do the revising themselves. As publicist and author Dr. Beard might have included herself as among the names to be preserved, but she made no such claim.

Offhand, one might name Sappho, Cleopatra, Semiramis, Mary Queen of Scots, Elizabeth, Catharine of Russia, Queen Victoria and Florence Nightingale as many women history has not neglected. Any librarian could list a lot of others.

In America there are women who gave to the pages of history, beginning with Pocahontas and Martha Washington. No American history worthy the name could leave out mention for widely different reasons of, say Susan B. Anthony and Carrie Nation.

It is to be hoped that the World Center for Women's Archives that Mrs. Beard proposes will be established. But why pick on John Erskine, H. G. Wells and Will Durant as outstanding leavers-out of feminine landmarks of history. Didn't Erskine do a lot for Helen of Troy? And didn't she do a lot for herself, when all is said and done?

But if opportunity is equal, how come so much dough in the hands of people who couldn't earn it to save their necks?

More Truth Than Poetry

ROOTING FOR THE UMPIRE

(One of whom complains that he is gravely misunderstood.)

Never think that the umpire possesses
A heavy rhinoceros hide,
He perhaps may appear
To be stern and severe,
But his job is his joy and his pride.
He has to make lightning decisons
And to be a bit rude and self-willed,
But the fans, I believe,
Would probably grieve
If they learned that an "Umps" had been killed.

The "Umps" is quite fond of his children
If any he has in his home;
His heart, I am told,
Is composed of bright gold,
And he loves through the meadows to roam.
It would do little good to destroy him,
For another would just take his place,
And, beyond any doubt
He should not be bawled out
If the bleacher boys don't like his face.

Alas for this good honest fellow;
He never is hailed with acclaim.
Somebody has got
To be right on the dot,
Or there never could be any game.
I am told that he has many sorrows,
And often is down in the dumps,
So I think it's high time
To write a brief rhyme,
In behalf of the hard working "Umps."

Progress Is Hampered

By BRUCE CATTON

It is a funny thing that a nation which owes so much to up-to-date machinery as America does should be so mortally afraid of the stuff.

This fear appears in various ways.

Sometimes it takes the shape of an order from a relief commission to the effect that jobless men put to work fixing a highway must do so without the help of automatic road-scrapers, concrete-percolators, or brick-shufflers.

Sometimes it leads an economist to declare that unemployment is an incurable problem which forever will grow worse and worse because of our mechanical ingenuity, so that in the end three or four job-holders will push the buttons and pull the levers which do all the work of the nation.

The man in the street talks about machines which put men out of work. The highbrow speaks of technological unemployment. Both of them the same thing, and both of them are scared of it.

Yet when we look back we might have a hard time figuring out just how the country would have grown great and rich without these same labor-saving pieces of machinery.

The McCormick reaper rendered Civil war victory possible by making the wheat belt more productive than ever before in spite of the fact that most of the able-bodied young farmhands were in the army. The decline of child labor is due as much to development of semi-automatic factory machinery as to development of a social conscience.

We have the Panama Canal (to mention just one great engineering work) because someone discovered that a steam shovel could dig out the dirt faster than could a score of men with shovels and pickaxes. The automobile age came upon us, breaking down provincialism and freeing us from isolation, because of the mass production system of manufacturing.

• • •

Indeed, it is this whole scheme of increasing man's productivity by turning more and more of his job over to machines that has led us up to the threshold of the great Age of Plenty—which, before we get through with it, should be the brightest age in human annals.

The Machinery and Allied Products Institute of Chicago recently released a study of machines and jobs, pointing out that the age of technological advancement has, in point of fact, increased employment.

America's population increased 218 per cent between 1870 and 1930; the number of jobs, in the same period, increased 291 per cent. In the long run, machinery makes us better off, as a people, and not worse.

Why, then, should we be so afraid of it? Because our present list of unemployed persons declines less rapidly than our list of unemployed machines? That isn't the machines' fault. It's ours; we don't know how to handle them to the best advantage. There is no reason to think we shan't

New Deal In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON. — The National Emergency council was meeting a few days before the Monday when the supreme court was expected to hand down its TVA decision and Roosevelt was asking one of his administrators about a certain court case.

"We're clear on that one," he was told. "The supreme court decided it didn't have jurisdiction."

"Well, well!" exclaimed the president. "I thought that was irrelevant now."

"Hey!" he demanded, suddenly turning to Dr. Arthur Morgan of TVA, "any of your people going to be working after Monday?"

Tighten Guard Over F. R.

Wisecracks will be heard in the White House as long as Roosevelt occupies it, even though all hands are taking life more seriously than they were. The latter fact is grimly evidenced by the increased care taken by the secret service in guarding the president.

On practically all occasions when Roosevelt comes in contact with any segment of the world outside, the guard appears to be practically twice as large as it would have been a year ago. Increase in the volume of threatening crank letters is responsible.

The official explanation of the new censorship over White House news photographers, permitting only posed pictures, is the correct one. Roosevelt was faced with a dozen or 15 cameras on his birthday and at least 50 flash bulbs exploded in blinding sequences a few feet from his eyes.

"Boys, you're burning my eyes out," protested F. D. R., as he ducked to cover his eyes.

Steve Early, press secretary, said that was enough pictures. But meanwhile a photograph had been taken which on being developed seemed to show the president in the last stages of despair and mental fatigue.

No wonder the White House was sore. So are most of the photographers. They expect the picture will be turning up as "evidence" in whispering campaigns. Most picture agencies refused to distribute the picture, as being unfair.

Dog Food For Human Beings

If the NRA had gone on unmolested, one thing you'd know by this time would be the amount of canned dog food consumed by human beings in this country.

Some of the ex-NRA employes who had to do with the dog food code still wonder about it. An effort was made, chiefly by the Breeders' and Veterinarians' league, to clean up dog food standards. One of the arguments was that people ate a lot of the stuff, made up of things the packing houses don't know what else to do with and in many cases unfit even for dogs.

"Your attention is called," wrote the league, "to the large amounts of canned dog food sold in areas heavily populated by white people of southern European and Mexican extraction and also in the colored sections of large cities—areas where a dog would be a luxury."

NRA also heard of dog food salesmen who would open up cans in front of prospective buyers and eat therefrom, just to show how good the stuff was.

Why Repeal Was Asked

The reason the administration sought repeal of the cotton, tobacco, and potato control acts instead of waiting for the supreme court to invalidate them was much simpler than most commentators have been willing to make it appear.

As long as those acts of congress were on the statute books, Secretary Wallace was bound by law to proceed with their enforcement. In each case that would have meant beginning with a complicated and expensive program at which everyone would have hooted because of the certainty that the court would kill all three laws as soon as it got around to them.

MISS LUCY ROACH IN DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY

WISNER, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Miss Lucy Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Roach, Sr., a graduate of the 1935 class Wisner High school, who took a leading part in the glee club and dramatic clubs in the high school here, has achieved prominence as a member of the Junior Dramatics club at Louisiana State Normal college at Natchitoches.

She was a member of the cast in a play entitled "Tomboy," which was recently presented by the Junior Dramatics club at normal and other schools in the Natchitoches vicinity. She was mentioned in the normal paper as an outstanding member of the cast, and was referred to as "showing unusual ability as an actor and giving the best performance of the entire cast."

TERRACING WORK DONE IN CLAIBORNE PARISH

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE GRATIS TRAIN—Lauenburg, a town of 5,192 inhabitants according to the last census, was originally part of Denmark. In 1841, when a railroad from Hamburg to Berlin was being built, the Danish king contracted that this railroad was to touch the city of Lauenburg. The plans were changed and the line was built via Buechen, 10 miles away. To compensate the inhabitants for the detour, they were granted the perpetual right to travel free of charge on a branch line connecting their city with Buechen. After the Danish-Prussian war of 1864, Lauenburg came into possession of Prussia with the two provinces of Schleswig-Holstein. The privilege of a free train ride for all the inhabitants of Lauenburg has been maintained to this day.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

NEW YORK—My Palm Beach correspondent sends me an ironical note about Woolworth Donahue, who happens to be one of the richest young men in the world.

"Woolly," as he is called by his own set, wagered with a friend last week that it would rain. The elements were with him, and he placed all his profits from that bet on daily double at the Hialeah race track in an effort to rid himself of the lucre, as quickly as possible. His daily choice came in. So Donahue invited his pals to a hamburger stand and, in an idle moment, tossed a coin into the slot machine. He got the jackpot the second time. Three hours later, he won a raffle. Choose your own moral.

Tip About Tip

One lives and learns (to one's sorrow). Comes a learned worthy of the Waldorf to reveal how the word "Tip" (which America overdoes) began. According to my scholarly informant, all English inns during centuries gone by, were accustomed to placing near the exit of the dining room, a slotted box with a little sign that read, "To Insure Promptitude." Well, guests who sought quick service took the hint. And later on, some unknown genius took the initials of that three-word message and devised the word, TIP.

But its original purpose, it seems to me, is no longer observed in New York.

NEGRO MARDI GRAS PLANNED TUESDAY

A Mardi Gras ball will be sponsored by the X. Y. Z. club, negro, on Tuesday when King Zulu and his queen will reign supreme. A parade will start from the Liberty Night club, 14th and Adams streets, at noon. The king will arrive by boat up the Ouachita river at 1:30 p.m., a landing being made at the foot of Pine street.

A matinee dance will be held at the night club at 2 p.m. and again at 7 p.m. The night dance will start at 8:30 p.m. and will last until past midnight.

Everybody participating will be masked. A prize will be awarded for the best costume.

8 OUACHITA STUDENTS ENROLLED AT NORMAL

NATCHITOCHES, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Ouachita parish has a total of eight students enrolled for the winter session at the Louisiana State Normal college, it was announced when classification of students by parishes was completed in the registrar's office. More students from Ouachita parish are expected to enter the college at the opening of the spring quarter on March 7, authorities stated this week.

Ouachita parish ranks twentieth in number of students attending the college this term, records show. A total of 58 parishes are represented in the student body of 1,217 students, the largest winter term registration in the 51 years' history of the college.

Students from Ouachita parish are enrolled in several departments of the college and are following varied professional curricular offered by it. Some Ouachita parish students hold major positions in extra curricular activities, including athletics, dramatics, journalism, forensics, music and art.

MINISTER CONDEMNS SELLING OF BALLOTS

FERRIDAY, La., Feb. 21.—(Special)—Rev. R. A. Bozeman, pastor of the Ferriday Sevier Rosenwald Methodist church, in a recent sermon spoke on the question of government, in connection with the recent election. In part he said:

"We leave it to any fair-minded citizen that we are rapidly losing sight of the sacredness of our government. There are many Essaus in our country today who have sold their respectability for a sack of meal, a bottle of booze or a few measley dimes.

"Our ballot should be held as sacred as our oath. When we hold the ballot in our hand we hold the index to our character. All over this country men are selling their votes and other men are buying them for a trifle. Shame on both parties. If conditions continue we will some day see the last of respectable citizenship and decent society."

Little Comet Comes 'Near' Earth On Celestial Journey

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Earth has just had a celestial visitor—and snubbed it, Harvard astronomers said today.

It was a little comet or asteroid only a third of a mile in diameter—the tiniest object ever discovered by astronomers. And it came possibly within two or three million miles of earth, closer than any other such sky rover, with one or two possible exceptions.

It is called the delporte object, because Dr. E. Delporte of Belgium discovered it. That was 10 days ago. Word of the discovery did not reach American astronomers until a week later.

Now, astronomers are belatedly training great telescopes and cameras upon the fleeting object, which is little more than a point of light streaking across the field of stars, fading daily as it flies away from earth.

Astronomers have not yet worked out accurate estimates, but they think the little fellow came within 5,000,000 miles, perhaps as close as 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 miles. That is nearer than any other asteroid has come and closer than the approach of any, but one or two comets.

Asteroids are little planets—ranging from a few miles in diameter up to a maximum of 500. The one that has come nearest to earth previously was Eros, which apparently is a great irregularly shaped rock, a few miles wide and about 15 miles long. Eros approached within 16,000,000 miles of earth in 1931.

16 LIVES TAKEN BY ESCAPING GAS

Heavy Toll Exacted During Week By Explosion, Fire, Asphyxiation

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Escaping gas, an unexpected peril during the protracted cold, has taken a toll of at least 16 lives within one week.

It killed by explosion, by fire and by asphyxiation.

This form of winter danger, charged to the persistence of extreme cold in January and February, appeared in spectacular fashion in Utica, N. Y. After explosions in the business district last Tuesday and Wednesday, jets of flame shot through the pavements from underground fires. Manhole covers weighing 65 pounds were hurled high into the air, observers said.

Residents of East St. Louis and Belleville, Ill., faced the danger in another form. Odorless, invisible illuminating gas, seeping into homes along sewer mains, killed four persons and left 64 others ill.

A family of four was found dead Monday in Sycamore, Ill., asphyxiated by gas from a leaking main.

Eight died in Michigan during the week. Four were killed in a gas explosion which wrecked two homes in River Rouge Sunday night; a young husband and wife were asphyxiated Thursday night in Detroit, and a second couple died in Clio Friday.

The salt in the ocean would cover the entire United States with a layer a mile and a half thick.

DUPONT CHARGES TAX INTIMIDATION

Industrialist Asserts Manner Of Collection Is 'Extortion'

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Pierre S. duPont, denying the government's claim for $617,316 additional income taxes, charged that the allegations against him seek to force a compromise settlement "in a manner amounting to extortion."

In an answer filed with the United States board of tax appeals in Washington, the industrialist questions the faith of the internal revenue commissioner in refusing to allow as properly deductible almost a million dollars in charitable contributions in 1929, on which year the government claim is made.

A summary of the answer was made public here yesterday at the E. I. duPont de Nemours and company, of which duPont is chairman of the board.

With the summary, he issued a statement claiming that he not only does not owe the government $617,316, but it entitled to a refund of $120,000.

In the summary, duPont described as "wilfully and knowingly false," a statement of the commissioner that he and John J. Raskob, former Democratic national chairman, made fraudulent agreements to set up losses for tax purposes.

CURRENT AFFAIRS TESTS ARE GIVEN

Tests in an annual current affairs examination were given by the civics class at Neville high school the past week. American history tests also were given. Out of a possible 105, James Digby scored 77, followed by Sara Frances Hinkle, Arnold Ablon, Charles McComb, Noel Learned, Glendine Stewart and Guilford McCleery, in the order named.

The current affairs test covered the period from Sept. 1, 1935, to Jan. 1, 1936. It was compiled by Alvin C. Eurich and Elmo C. Wilson of the University of Minnesota. The tests included items on national affairs, foreign news, business and finance, transport, science, books, music and art. With so wide a range of subjects the students taking the tests were not expected to have knowledge of all of the items presented.

The purpose of the tests is to ascertain the extent to which high school and college students are informed concerning current events, to stimulate in high school and college students an impelling curisoty to know what is taking place in the world about them.

Similar tests have been given for several successive years with much success, it is stated.

Specialists have succeeded in crossing the Mexican lime with the lemon, producing a new fruit said to resist citrus disease.

WHO IS THE HEAD OF A FAMILY

A taxpayer, though single, who supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation, is the head of a family, and entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person—$2,500. Also he may claim a $400 credit for each dependent. For example, a widower who supports in one household an aged mother and a daughter 17 years old is entitled to an exemption of $2,500 as the head of a family plus a credit of $400 for each dependent, a total of $3,300. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

Several factors are involved in determining whether a person who files a return as the head of a famiy is to be thus classified. The element of either legal or financial dependency must exist. A taxpayer who supports in his home minor children over whom he exercises family control is classified as the head of a family, even though the children may have an income of their own sufficient for their maintenance. If he does not support them, by reason of their own income, but does exercise family control, he cannot be classified as the head of a family.

If an individual supported is an adult and there rests upon the taxpayer a moral or legal obligation to provide a home and care for such individual, the exemption as the head of a family is allowed, provided the individual is financially dependent. If the individual is not financially dependent, the exemption, even though the taxpayer maintains the common home and furnishes the chief support, does not apply.

For income-tax purposes there can be only one head of a family and the exemption cannot be divided. Not infrequently claims for the $2,500 exemption are received from two or more members of a family.

It should be remembered that a single person, whether or not the head of a family, is required to file a return if his or her net income for 1935 was $1,000 or more, regardless of whether the return is non-taxable by reason of the $2,500 exemption.

FALSE DECLARATION TO VETS' BUREAU CHARGED

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Ole Louis Robinson, alias Robert Robinson of Detroit, Mich., was arrested by federal authorities here today on a charge of making a false declaration to the United States veterans' bureau at Detroit concerning maintenance and support of himself, local officials said.

Gly-Cas Easily Gets To Source Of Her Health Troubles After All Else Tried Had Failed; Rheumatism, Nervousness, Bowel Troubles Gone, Now Like New.

Monroe men and women who have any doubt regarding the remarkable efficacy of this great herbal remedy, Gly-Cas, which is being introduced and explained every day at the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, this city, should talk with Mrs. Pearl

MRS. PEARL MARTIN

Martin, 213 Ouachita avenue, Monroe, well known and highly respected housewife whose husband is a prominent World war veteran of this city. Mrs. Martin had been in a miserable condition for so long before trying this new Gly-Cas and now read what she has to say:

"I want to say just one thing to all sufferers 'JUST TRY GLY-CAS' and notice how quickly your health troubles leave you," said Mrs. Pearl Martin. "I had been so badly with so many ailments for so long I was really in constant misery. Chronic constipation had allowed my system to become clogged with poisons and it was necessary for me to take the strongest medicines every night—but to no good effect. My head ached constantly, was nervous, had crying spells and it was hard to control myself. Rheumatism seemed to settle over my entire system and the pains were often unbearable until it was with a great effort I was able to do my housework or look after my family properly. A good night's sleep was almost impossible and the most stubborn headaches were almost a continual habit with me. Of course I put many medicines to the test in my case—but it was just wasted money and effort for all the good they gave me. One day, however, a relative knowing of Gly-Cas and of my suffering persuaded me to give it a trial which I did and have found it really remarkable."

"I am happy to say I am feeling entirely well and able to do as others do once more," continued Mrs. Martin. "I now eat and sleep well and have recovered from those awful headaches, severe nervousness, and rheumatic pains which were brought on through so much poison in my system. Now my bowels are regulated, my former strength and energy has been restored and I am an entirely different person. Gly-Cas has made such a remarkable change in my condition I now have a new interest in life itself. Too much cannot be said in praising this new vegetable medical discovery.

PRESIDENT SEES SON INITIATED

Disappears Inside Portals Of Fly Club; Honored By University

By Francis M. Stephenson
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 22.—President Roosevelt disappeared into the portals of the Fly club, Harvard's most exclusive club, tonight to celebrate its centennial and see the initiation of his youngest son, John.

What took place within the three story brick building on Holyoke street remained a secret, a tradition of the club.

The president came from Temple university in Philadelphia where he received the honorary degree of doctor of jurisprudence.

There, he said that "in his wise and kindly way George Washington deeply appreciated the importance of education in a republic and the responsibility of the government to promote it."

Mr. Roosevelt arrived at the Fly club at 7:05 in dinner clothes. He wore no overcoat and was bareheaded. As he entered the club he stopped twice to wave to a large crowd, which cheered, and then tried to break through police lines.

The president was welcomed to Massachusetts by Governor James M. Curley who boarded the presidential train at Worcester. James, the president's eldest son, greeted him at the station here.

On his trip to Philadelphia Mr. Roosevelt crossed the ice flaked Delaware river on a special train, unlike the boat trip of Washington with his troops, but he left Washington earlier than any other president to do it. The special drew out of Washington at 7:15 a.m., and at Philadelphia Mrs. Roosevelt met the president for the ceremony at Temple university.

After a rousing reception from the crowds on the Philadelphia streets, Mr. Roosevelt was applauded enthusiastically by the folks in the auditorium at Temple when President Charles E. Beury spoke of him as "one who, condemned by the vested interests," had led the nation to "permanent recovery."

closely, said it opened up today for the first time on a large scale since freezing over Cairo to Alton, Ill. There were no jams and Col. J. N. Hodges, army engineer in St. Louis, Mo., said there was no apparent need for especial precautions "right now."

Beardstown, on the Illinois river, scene of disastrous floods in years past, relayed word there was "nothing to do but sit and wait" in the hope its levees would protect it. They will take care of the flood waters as high as 30 feet.

FIRE DESTROYS HAY

Lighted cigarette stubs carelessly thrown on the floor of a barn at the rear of 411 South Second street reportedly caused a small fire Saturday night, resulting in the destruction of a quantity of hay. The barn was owned by A. R. Thatcher. Trucks 2, 4 and 6 made the call.

Colony Of Lepers Prepares To Hold Hearing On Murder

HONOLULU, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Molokai Island's leper colony excitedly prepared today for a murder hearing—as rare on that isolated island as they are common in continental United States.

Before Magistrate M. P. Correa, a leper who learned his law through a correspondence course, Mrs. Seferina Dayamas will be arraigned Monday for fatally shooting Eulogio Jarvies.

She admitted shooting him, Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley said here, because he beat her with his belt.

Word of the shooting might never have reached the outside had it not been for the zealousness of Correa, who is proud of his legal knowledge. Following prescribed procedure he asked the prosecutor to come to Kaukapapa colony for a hearing.

Mrs. Dayamas and Jarvies, both middle-aged Filipinos, had been friends since 1932, a year before they were sent to the colony.

Trouble started, Mrs. Dayamas said in a statement released by Kelley, when she refused to go to a show Saturday night with Jarvies.

"Monday morning," the statement said, "he came to my room where I was in bed and started calling me names. Then he took off his trouser belt and started to whip me.

"I reached under my pillow and got a .22 caliber revolver I smuggled into the colony in 1933 and shot him."

Kaukapapa colony, situated on a peninsula of Molokai Island about 50 miles from Honolulu, is the home of about 450 lepers. Aside from their dread disease they lead a relatively normal life. Not infrequently patients refused to leave the colony when pronounced cured.

RUSSIA BELIEVES CLASHES SERIOUS

Jap Ambassador Says Soviet Much Concerned Over Frequent Trouble

By John Lloyd
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Japanese Ambassador Tamekichi Ota was officially informed today that the Soviet government views the frequent clashes on the frontier between Outer Mongolia and Manchoukuo "with serious concern."

Coincidentally, reports from Outer Mongolia distributed by the Tass (official Soviet) news agency said additional Japanese troops were being moved to the Lake Buir region on the border, with the purpose of launching attacks against Mongolia.

The vice-commissar for foreign affairs, B. S. Stomoniakoff, told Ambassador Ota that in the opinion of the Soviet government the increasing frequency of the alleged "raids" on Mongolian border posts was endangering peace in the Far East.

Stomoniakoff pointed out that the Soviet government has maintained "unalterably friendly relations" with Outer Mongolia since 1921, and suggested the appointment of a mixed commission to study means of preventing incidents there.

Ota said he would wire Tokyo for further instructions. He advised the Russian official that the Japanese government was not able to accept the Soviet suggestion for inclusion of neutrals in a mixed commission which has been planned to probe a clash of January 30 on the Soviet-Manchoukuo border.

Agreeing to Ota's request that the Soviets should not insist on that point, Stomoniakoff said the Russians would participate in a commission made up only of Japanese, Russians and Manchoukuoans.

PROTESTS MADE OVER SOIL BILL

down by McNary. The house will appoint conferees Monday.

Some senators expressed belief the conferees would have difficulty composing the many differences. Delay, they added, would interfere with plans to get the subsidy program going before spring crops are planted.

(The bill, in a general way, would authorize payment up to $500,000,000 in federal subsidies to farmers for taking land out of crop production to promote sail fertility. For two years, the subsidies would be paid directly or to states. After 1938, the subsidies would be administered only by states).

Smith objected particularly to a house amendment permitting tenant farmers and share croppers to participate in "conditional" benefit payments in proportion to losses suffered through substitution of soil-building crops for food crops.

"Let us use a little common sense," Smith told reporters. "The tenant gets it all now. They are given their part of the crop with no strings on it. The landowner has to pay taxes and the cost of production, housing, implements and repairs.

"Its not fair that he should give away what he gets for good land practices which make more money for his workers.

In 1916 he went to Haiti with the marine occupation service, holding the office of colonel in the gendarmerie D'Haiti until 1917, when he was transferred to the base at Quantico, Va.

After leaving the service, Col. Roosevelt joined the Radio Corporation of America in 1923, serving as European manager from 1925 to 1930.

"That, my fellow Americans, is the three-year record of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and we are proud of it. We challenge any political party to meet us on that record."

Turning upon administration critics, Farley said it is "astonishing" that the "man who saved America is being criticized and denounced, reviled and condemned by certain noisy elements as though he were a common enemy of his country."

The people, he said, "want us to answer these attacks."

"First let us take the miscalled American Liberty league. An organization of multi-millionaires which is run as a subsidiary of the Republican national committee."

He asserted "70 per cent of contributions" to the league came from the "DuPont family or their allies."

BANQUET IS GIVEN BY SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

BERNICE, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—One of the most important social events of the season was the banquet sponsored by the ladies' "Win One" Sunday school class, for the men's Bible class at the Baptist church. The banquet climaxed a membership contest.

More than 50 guests attended and an interesting program was presented which preceded the banquet. Speeches and music featured the affair.

Mrs. C. Davis is president of the "Win One" class, with Mrs. W. F. Grafton, teacher. L. D. Carroll is president of the men's Bible class and G. C. Black is teacher. The two classes are the most active in Sunday school work here.

but it is a highly significant thing that on April 26, 1932, this man gave to two detectives, one of them from the state police, a statement that he never saw Hauptmann and in the Bronx county courthouse testified he had seen him on two occasions prior to the kidnaping."

The governor said a state trooper visited Whited several times, showing him pictures of Hauptmann, whom he refused to identify as the man he saw. The governor said Whited finally consented to go to the Bronx to testify if he was paid "for his time."

The police officer, the governor related, told Whited he would be paid and that he "was as much entitled to the reward as the rest."

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defense counsel, who with Hunterdon County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., sat in at the governor's meeting with Whited, asked the lumberjack if he had been promised one-third of the reward, and Whited said "yes."

Governor Hoffman said no arrangements were found today in Whited's statements during the conference. He did not disclose what they were.

Of Amandus Hochmuth, the second witness to testify Hauptmann had been near the Lindbergh estate, the governor had this to say:

"I have no present plans (for questioning him) but would think Hochmuth's testimony open to suspicion."

NEW DEAL WINS MAJOR DECISIONS

Judge Soper, Judge William C. Coleman of the district court at Baltimore was upheld in his ruling that the American States Public Service company, in the hands of trustees, need not register with the securities and exchange commission, but his reason for his decision—that the utility act itself was unconstitutional, was overruled.

Instead, the district court held that the company, in process of reorganization, was engaged only in intrastate commerce, and that the act as applied to it would be invalid. The questions of constitutionality was passed over merely with the notation that that portion of Judge Coleman's decree "should have been omitted."

The case was brought on an appeal from Burco, Inc., creditor of the insolvent concern, which had sought to force registration.

Government counsel, intervening, contended the constitutional question had no part in the case, and won their fight to prevent lower courts from passing judgment on the act pending disposition of a test case involving the Electric Bond and Share company, which was said to cover the entire field of the act.

Five hundred years before the birth of Christ, Greek doctors began to teach healthy living, and some of the wealthy people gave almost their entire time to diet, exercise, and other care of their bodies.

THE BIBLE SAYS: "In the beginning was the word." Goethe in "Faust" denies that, says; "Im anfang war die that," ("In the beginning was the deed.")

The Bible, of course, is right: "Logos, "The Word," meaning thought, must come before the deed, which is born of thought. Ambitious young men might read Sartor Resartus if only to add to the strength of their vocabularies. Words are the tools of the mind.

THIS COUNTRY wondered how Europe could support standing armies of 1,000,000 men. Some wonder now how Russia feeds her army of 1,300,000 men. The real marvel is, that this country, according to public records, now has on relief sixteen million five hundred thousand men. And it costs the United States government at least twice times as much to feed one of those on relief as it costs to feed, and pay the wages, of a European soldier.

WIFE OF WINTER SLEEPER EXPIRES

Husband Comes Out Of Hibernation To Arrange For Funeral Rites

WATERTOWN, Wis., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The wife of Arthur E. (Turkey) Gehrke died suddenly today and the "human groundhog," who went to bed for the winter when cold winds began to howl last fall, immediately came out of hibernation to arrange for her funeral.

Grace, the 40-year-old wife who cheerfully ministered to Gehrke and took over his bartending duties during the 22 winters he has kept abed to avoid a stomach misery caused by the cold, died of a heart ailment while sitting in a chair in the living quarters above their tavern. Apparently she had not been ill. Although she had to be carried home after falling on an icy pavement several years ago.

Gehrke, who had depended on his wife to wait on him while he slept away the winters, said he does not know what he will do now that she is gone. He added that he has made no plans other than to remain up and about until the funeral, which probably will be held Monday or Tuesday.

MAYORS DISCUSS RELIEF PROBLEM

relief program, Mayor La Guardia declared the WPA was "the American way of meeting the relief problem, the dole the European way."

Despite signs of economic recovery, the New York mayor declared recovery would not decrease the unemployment problem "for some time to come."

"Business is improving," he said, "but factories, mills and businesses will be able to meet increased business without increasing their employment rolls. Recovery will not dispense with relief and we might as well face the situation."

Reports on relief conditions in several southern and southwestern cities were received today. La Guardia, smoking a corncob pipe, listened attentively, interrupting now and then for a question.

BREATH OF SPRING

Sneer at those zero blasts; chuckle through frozen lips as you tackle mountainous snowdrifts! Let your thoughts dwell on bathing beauties and spring blooms! For it's almond bloom time on Santa Catalina Island and, as a sort of harbinger of spring for their chilled eastern cousins, these nymphs posed for this scene while reaping their share of blooms.

POLICE DISCOUNT STETTLER'S STORY

Chauffeur Tries To Shift Blame For Murder Of Aged Couple

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Police tonight discounted a new story by which Fred Stettler, stoical Swiss chauffeur, sought to shift blame in the "clock deaths" of an aged couple here.

Stettler's alleged confession "can't be repudiated because it checks on all counts," said Capt. of Detectives Bert Wallis.

Wallis quoted Stettler as saying last night he crushed the skulls of 66-year-old Carl Barbour and Mrs. Barbour, then set an intricately-devised watch mechanism attached to an electric heater to fire their home and destroy the bodies an hour after he left.

Wallis quoted Stettler as saying robbery was the motive.

Several hours later Stettler denied the statement.

"I made the machine for a used car dealer," detectives quoted the suspect. "I delivered it to the man near the Barbour house, and that is all I know about it."

Today police checked and rechecked the name and address of the "used car dealer" given by stettler.

"There's no such place, and so far we can't find any trace of any such man," Wallis said.

A waitress, Peggy White, 26, with whom the chauffeur assertedly was friendly, told police today Stettler had said "he had to get money one way or another, pretty quick."

Bloodstains on Stettler's clothing, copper wire and an empty watch case, and $59 in currency and silver were found by police in the chauffeur's apartment, they said.

The purpose of the convention was to discuss problems that arise and to thereby be able to give improved service to the public. Sessions were held in Hotel Evangeline and there will be a final session held there today.

FILLING STATION ROBBED OF CASH AND CIGARETTES

About $3 in pennies and $40 or $50 worth of cigarettes were taken in a burglary Friday night at Tidwell's filling station, 1619 South Grand street, according to a report to police headquarters.

The burglary was discovered about 12:30 o'clock Saturday morning by Police Officers C. W. Dent, L. S. Meek and Sergeant C. H. Sisson, who noticed that glass had been broken from a window.

In a report filed at police headquarters, Sergeant Sisson said the intruder broke the center pane of glass from the bottom section of a window on the north side, removed the fragments of glass, pushed aside several boxes and crawled inside the building. He then looted the cash register and took the cigarettes.

2 HOUSES ROBBED SATURDAY NIGHT

Two houses were burglarized Saturday night during the owners' absence and groceries, jewelry and clothes stolen, according to police reports last night.

The house of Mark Ringheim, 808 North Fourth street, was entered and a gold watch and chain stolen from a bedroom. Entrance was made through a cut screen in the rear.

J. M. East, 415 Reed street, reported to police that his house was broken into sometime during the day and groceries, dresses and one pair of shoes stolen. Mr. East said the intruders ransacked the house and apparently forced the lock on the front door.

O. H. Naylor, 503 Hart street, reported that a sack of groceries and a pair of men's shoes were stolen from his automobile while it was parked on DeSiard street last night.

POLAND REMOVES BAN ON CHURCH

Order Suppressing Methodist Organization Temporarily Lifted

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Polish government order suppressing a Methodist Episcopal church, south, organization in Poland has been lifted temporarily, Methodist headquarters here was advised today by its representative at Warsaw.

Winston Cram, Jr., director of the English language college in Warsaw and treasurer of the Methodist "society for education and culture" at which the order struck, cabled briefly, "liquidation order temporarily withdrawn."

He did not elaborate, nor give any explanation for the withdrawal.

Dr. Elmer T. Clark, assistant secretary of the board of missions of the church, said it was believed here that the respite does not alter the basic troubled situation of Methodists in Poland and that it will still be necessary to send a church representative there to direct litigation.

It is expected that Dr. Winston Cram, father of the director of the work in Poland, will be given this mission. D. Cram is secretary of the board of missions.

SPORTS CHATTER

By George V. Lofton

SHORT AND SNAPPY

Hats off to Mrs. Manhein and her Ouachita parish high school girls. They won the Central Louisiana basketball championship last night, and left no doubt as to their superiority. The score was 52 to 15, in case you haven't read the story yet. Here's hoping they fare as well in the state tourney. . . . Top Row's victory in the rich Santa Anita handicap yesterday wasn't such an upset. We wonder how these big favorites get that way. Discovery finished seventh yesterday, and Equipoise didn't do any better last year. . . . The American Legion junior baseball booklet just received informs that the enrollment has jumped from fifty-two thousand boys ten years ago to a half-million now. The booklet contains a sportsmanship code that every player should read. . . . The promise of a trip to the Olympic games has caused entry lists in various basketball tournaments to soar. The A. A. U. tourney at Denver next month will include more teams than has ever competed for the national crown. The reason: the winner and runner-up will compete in the final Olympic trials in New York.

Clarence Struss, Pirate rookie hurler, is being hailed as another Cy Blanton. In five seasons of minor league pitching, Struss piled up 809 strikeouts in 1,076 innings. . . . The Tigers could use another "farm" like Beaumont. The Exporters sent Schoolboy Rowe, Hank Greenberg, Pete Fox and Jo-Jo White to the Detroit club. . . . Coach Jim Malone's Northeast Center boxing team showed decided improvement against Louisiana Tech Wednesday night and Jim believes they've finally arrived. And here's a tip. Don't miss the Center-Centenary fights here next month. . . . Spring football work has started at Tech but there are so many gridders included on the boxing and basketball squads that you haven't heard much about football. When they all turn out, Eddie McLane will have a swell squad. Speaking of tough spots, consider Red Dawson's job at Tulane. Look up the Greenie schedule for 1936 and then let us know how you'd like to be in Red's shoes.

Al Simmons is said to be as nervous as a schoolboy about his debut as a Tiger. After all the build-up, it wouldn't do for Al to flop. Especially for his old buddy, Mickey Cochrane. . . . Dizzy Dean is asking $40,000 for doing his chores for the Cardinals this year but it's a fair bet that Branch Rickey won't even shell out as much as $25,000. . . . Now that the Class A schools have been divided into four districts, it's almost inevitable that Ouachita and Neville will meet on the football field this season. . . . And after all these years of passing up $4,000 gates. . . . Tallulah fight fans are booming Oscar Matthews, huge negro, as another Joe Louis. Not this year, maybe, but before long. No fooling, the boy looks good.

CENTER MITTMEN FIGHT THIS WEEK AT LAKE CHARLES

Indians In Good Shape For Return Match With L. L. S. 'B' Team

Lake Charles will play host to the Northeast Center of L. S. U. boxers Friday when the Indians fight their second engagement with the Louisiana State university "B" team. Lake Charles fans are anxious to see their three "sons" at Center, Frankie Bono, Sammy Bono and "Bumps" Gormley, in action, and promise to give the locals a big reception.

The Young Men's Business club of Lake Charles was instrumental in getting the match for that city, along with the assistanc from James L. Malone, Redskins' coach.

Gormley and the Bono brothers, all graduates of Lake Charles high school and well known there for their ring prowess, will provide the drawing card for the meet, and just before leaving here Coach Malone said he had been advised that the advance ticket sale was so great that a change of location for the fights had been made in order to provide more seating space.

The match between Gormley and Morris Bohrer, L. S. U. 118-pounder, will again feature the program. Gormley beat Bohrer here a week ago in a hard feught battle, and has kept in good shape since with the hope of polishing off the stellar Alexandria boy again.

The Bono boys didn't figure so well in the first meet with the Bengals, chiefly because Sammy's opponent refused for some reason or other to fight him, and Frankie had been in training less than a week and was not in shape. Sammy will have opposition this time, however, and Frankie, after a couple of weeks of hard work is now in fine shape and will hardly have an excuse to offer if he loses this time.

The previous meeting between the Tigers and Indians resulted in a 5 1-2 to 2 1-2 victory for L. S. U.

A lineup somewhat different from that which faced L. S. U. here will be sent against them Friday. Only four of the original eight that appeared in the Indian lineup here are practically sure of being included on the coming card.

"Red" Reynolds, 135; Gormley, 118, Frankie Bono, 145; and Sammy Bono, 175, are the regulars still holding their places. The shifts will come in the 126-pound division where Jack Beckett or Howard Honeycutt will get Lyle Garretson's place; in the 145-pound bout where James Williams, a hard fighting youngster, is gradually rounding into form as one of the Indians' best, the 165-pound class, where Jack Walker has already cinched Frank Mosely's old place on the card, and the heavyweight, which is an open race. Boyd Arnold had been doing the heavyweight chores lately, but has failed to show much, thus putting Coach Malone on the trail of another man for that place.

The Indians will contnue their drills this week and although they are already reported in good shape, they hope to be at their best when they meet the team from the senior school.

FLORIDA CLOSES IN WIN OVER AUBURN

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The University of Florida 'Gators closed a disastrous basketball season here tonight with a spectacular 20-13 win over Auburn to gain an even break in the final two-game series. The Plainsmen won last night 32-16.

The Gators battled fiercely throughout. Overcoming an early four-point lead taken by Auburn the Florida team was never headed again.

Joe Bob Mitchell's two field goals, his only scoring in the game came suddenly after the opening whistle, but a Gator rally in which Eppert, Christian, Beckwith and Rickett all participated tallied nine straight points, sending the Floridians into a lead which stood at 12-8 as the half ended.

The stubborn defense of the Gators again held the Tigers at bay in the final period.

Masters' Open Creates Interest In Jones' Play

By Francis Ouimet
(Former National Amateur and National Open Champion)

One hears little these days of Bobby Jones' golf. No doubt he is playing practically as well as ever for his swing has been so grooved by years of first-class competition that it is more or less second nature with him now. However, the fact that the Augusta National Open, Bobby Jones' own Masters' Tournament, is scheduled for April 2-5 raises a question in one's mind as to just how the former world's champion will fare this year.

There is little doubt that continuous competition is the best means possible of improving one's tournament brand of play. Without the numerous winter tournaments, so prevalent in this country, one is inclined to doubt that the American brand of professional golf would be on the high plane it now enjoys.

Competition Helps Golfer

These tournaments keep one geared physically and mentally to the game. The pressure is more or less continuous, of course, but, if anything, it makes the golfer more resourceful and determined. If he happens to lose out on the cash prize list there is always the hope that the next tournament, and there are numerous next tournaments, will be different.

In this respect the various winter shows shape up as a bit different than such tournaments as the American or British Opens. On these, the highest possible honors hinge and the strain of competition is much more intense because one whole year will have to elapse before one gains another shot at the crown.

Jones' Only Tournament

In some such manner Jones must now regard the Masters' Open tournament. It is the only one he participates in these years and consequently the pressure must be intense despite the experienced years he has already put behind him.

The first year this open was inaugurated Jones found that his main trouble was a faulty putting stroke which seemingly could never place the ball in the cup in few enough strokes to suit the Atlantan. This is not strange, for one of the first things that deserts the semi-inactive golfer is the delicate putting touch. Despite the numerous remedies offered by wholesale quantities Jones was unable to recapture anything like this old form in this regard until sometime later when Al Watrous pointed out the difficulty.

The fact that his putting touch was off form worked a double hardship on Jones throughout his tournament career he had possessed one of the truly great putting strokes.

This year is, of course, another year. Horton Smith captured the honors in the first Masters' Open and Gene Sarazen the second, with a masterful spoon shot that found the cup. This may be Bobby's year but he will have tougher competition than ever before.

COTTON STATES TO NAME PREXY TODAY

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Directors of the Cotton States baseball league meet here tomorrow with the election of a league president to succeed J. Alvin Gardner the principal business. Gardner has declined re-election as head of the circuit which played last year as the East Dixie league.

Pre-season indications were that the presidency would go to Walter Morris of Shreveport, La., or J. Lake Roberson of Clarksdale, Miss. J. S. Brooks, former president of the El Dorado, Ark., club, also has been nominated.

The Pine Bluff club is pledged to the candidacy of Morris, organizer for the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Roberson, Clarksdale attorney and alumni sports director of the University of Mississippi, has the backing of the Clarksdale, Greenwood, Greenville and Cleveland, Miss., clubs, Jimmie McCain, Clarksdale club secretary, said.

The fixing of opening dates and adoption of a schedule are on the program.

TOURNEY TEAMS DECIDED TODAY

L. S. U. Has Chance To Get In Southeastern Conference Meet

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb 22.—(AP)—The eight teams to compete in the annual Southeastern conference basketball tournament, starting at the University of Tennessee next Friday, will be named by the tournament committee here tomorrow.

Members of the committee are Col. Paul B. Parker, Tennessee athletic director; H. J. Stegeman, Georgia athletic director; and H. G. Crisp, Alabama basketball coach.

In addition to naming the eight teams, which will be selected on a combination percentage basis and ballot of conference coaches, the committee will make drawings. Pairings also will be announced Sunday.

Six teams appear certain to enter the tournament. They are Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Auburn and Tennessee. The other two places lie between Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Louisiana State university, with Alabama favored for one of the berths.

Semi-finals of the tournament are slated next Saturday night with the finals the following Monday night.

DEMONS CLOSE HOME SCHEDULE WITH WIN

NATCHITOCHES, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Playing before a packed gymnasium of 2,500 spectators, the Louisiana State Normal Demons, leaders of the fourth district in the S. I. A. A. conference, closed their schedule at home tonight with a 51 to 32 victory over Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks, of Nacogdoches, Texas, champions of the T. I. A. A. conference.

BRILLIANT PENN RUNNER DEFEATS KANSAN IN A.A.U.

Venzke Wins 1500-Meters Race By Two Yards; Torrance Loses

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Gene Venzke, brilliant University of Pennsylvania runner, continued his spectacular winning streak tonight by coming from behind in the stretch to whip Glenn Cunningham by two yards in the 1500-meters race, feature of the National A. A. U. indoor track and field championship. Venzke not only took away Cunninghams title but wiped out his world indoor record by breaking the tape in 3 minutes, 49.9 seconds.

A crowd of 15,000 spectators, nearly filling the garden, went wild as the popular Penn flier scored his third straight triumph of the indoor season over the holder of all world records for the mile. A shower of programs, newspapers and hats deluged the track as Venzke swept to his first record-smashing triumph on the boards since he ran his famous 4:10 mile in the Garden four years ago.

Following Cunningham's blazing pace for most of the ten-lap journey, Venzke not only refused to "crack" at any stage of the two-man battle but came on with a "garrison finish" in the stretch to outrun the barrel-chested Kansan in decisive fashion. In the last drive down a 50-meter straightaway, it was Cunningham who flatered and fell back. Venzke collared his rival about 20 meters from home and won going away.

Venzke's time eclipsed the world indoor record of 3:50.5 seconds which Cunningham set last year in winning the event for the second straight time. Glenn also was inside the old record as he was clocked tonight in 3:50.1. The world outdoor record, 3:48.8, was set two years ago at Miwaukee by Princeton's Bill Bonthorn.

Seldom in the history of American foot racing has there been so complete a reversal of form as that manifested this season by Venzke in thrice whipping a rival who had the "Indian sign" on him, at all distances, for more than three years.

There were seven starters, including Joe (Iron Man) McCluskey of the New York A. C., 3,000 meters steeplechase champion in the 1500 meters run but it was strictly a two-man affair after the first whirl around the Garden track. Cunningham blistered the boards wtih an early pace calculated to take the "sting" out of Venzke's finish. Instead it proved a boomerang for the champion. Cunningham reeled off the first quarter in 59.8 seconds and passed the half-mile mark in the amazing time of 2:00.7, with Venzke still at his heels and showing not the sghtest distress.

When they whirled past the three-quarters post in 3:04, with Gene still a stride behind, the handwriting was on the wall. Glenn slowed down the pace a bit on the turns but he simply was "run out" and had nothing left to match Venzke's closing rush as they came off the last turn shoulder to shoulder. The two yard margin at the tape wasn't much and Cunningham needed no alibi but there was no question of Venzke's superiority.

Cunningham was the seventh national indoor champion to meet defeat in the most sensational athletic show of the season, marked also by the return of Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette to sprint heights, as the 60-meter champion, and the third successive setback for "Baby Jack" Torrance, 300-pound Louisiana holder of all world shot putting records. Torrance lost to his indoor nemesis, "Dimmy Zaitz, of Boston.

Running the distance faster than any American citizen has ever done on the boards, Norman Bright of the Olympic club, San Francisco, romped off with the 5,000 meters flat, beating Tom Ottey of the Penn A. C., Philadelphia, by ten yards.

Continuing his winning streak, Eddie O'Brien of Syracuse, the national outdoor 400-meter champon, added the 600-meter championship to his rapidly growing list of laurels and at the same time notched a new world indoor record of 1 minute, 21 seconds flat.

The Monroe Skeet club will officially open on Sunday, March 1, with two shoots planned each week, it was announced yesterday.

One of the first big events on the year's program will be a merchandise shoot on March 8, it was said. Plans for the tournament will be made at a meeting next Wednesday night.

Recently elected officers of the club are:

John Yeldell, president; Allen Norris, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Neil Buie, Paul Cook, C. C. Whittlesey, M. H. Sager, Al Thoman, Dr. J. H. Pankey and John S. Fox, members of the board of directors.

The membership of the club has reached 76, it was announced, and it is expected that at least 100 members will be included on the roster within the next month. The regular shoots will be held on Wednesday and Sundays each week.

A number of improvements have been planned at the club grounds, located in Fairview addition, between Forsythe and Park avenues. A new Western Field delayed release trap will be installed and other equipment added.

A number of prizes will be offered in the merchandise shoot on March 8 and officers expect to make it one of the best tournaments ever held in this section of the state, they said.

BOXER UNDERGOES BRAIN OPERATION

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Fred Matthews, heavyweight boxer who was knocked out in a bout Wednesday night, underwent a delicate brain operation today to relieve pressure from a blood clot resulting from a hemorrhage.

The operation, fifth of its kind ever made here, was performed by Dr. David Pratt, assisted by Doctors W. Brennan, S. Robertson and R. M. Thompson.

Except for a brief rally yesterday, Matthews has been in a coma since he was taken to the hospital after the fight. Before he entered the ring Matthews complained of a pain in the jaw. He was knocked out in 50 seconds of the first round by Pat Flanagan.

TWO-WAY TIE AT ST. PETERSBURG

Cooper And Dodson Deadlocked At 283 For First Money In Open

PASADENA GOLF CLUB, ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A golfer comparatively unknown in open competition, Leonard Dodson, Pembine, Wis., blocked the veteran Harry Cooper's drive for the $2,500 St. Petersburg open championship today by tying the Chicago professional in the final round.

Cooper and Dodson, who finished combined rounds at Lakewood and Pasadena club courses with 72-hole cards of 283, three under par, will play off the tie in 18 holes tomorrow afternoon.

Needing pars on the last two holes to nose out Dodson, Cooper ran short with his tee shot at the 283-yard 17th, chipped 10 feet away beyond the cup and missed his putt for a regulation three.

At the 472 yard home hole, Cooper missed by an inch a 35-foot putt that would have given him a birdie four.

First money is $500, second $375.

Orville White, unattached St. Louis professional, took fourth money of $250 with a 72-hole aggregate of 288.

Grouped at 289 were Denny Shute, Maonoa, Pa.; Ray Mangrum, unattached, and Harold McSpaden, unattached, each of whom won $175.

JUNCTION CITY SIX NOSES OUT ATHENS

JUNCTION CITY, Feb. 22.—(Special)—The Junction City Lady Dragons defeated the Athens, La., team here Wednesday night, 19 to 17, in a hard-fought battle that saw the score tied six times, with neither team ever gaining more than a four-point advantage.

With the score tied and two minutes to play, Anglin and Wingfield sang a field goal each to give Junction City a four-point lead. Harril then scored a long field goal for Athens and the game ended, 19 to 17.

The Lady Dragons have won 14 of their 18 games this season, scoring 647 points against 338 for a game average of 36 to 19.

DISCOVERY RUNS SEVENTH IN RICH CALIFORNIA RACE

MILLION WAGERED

SANTA ANITA, LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A crowd with more than a million dollars to spend went to the races here today for the big handicap.

Through the 200 sellers at the pari-mutuel windows $1,246,351 passed in bets on the eight races. That brought the total handle at Santa Anita for the 52 days of racing this season to $21,001,145.

By Robert Myers
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

SANTA ANITA PARK, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Top Row ran to a smashing victory today in the Santa Anita handicap to win $104,600, the richest turf prize of the year. Cheered on by close to 60,000 wild-eyed fans, the "Little Napoleon" of Baroni's stable sneaked through and raced in to beat out Time Supply and Rosemont.

The winner's time was 2:04 1-5 for the mile and a quarter, considerably over the record of 2:02 1-5 set last year by Azucar.

Discovery, top-heavy favorite to win the classic, was bumped at the start, ran on the outside most of the way and was never a dangerous foe.

A total of $350,083 was bet on the handicap, and more than a million dollars was wagered on the eight-race program. It was the largest crowd and the biggest "handle" in the history of horse racing in California.

Pounding down the stretch, the riders tried to dodge a soggy spot in the track. Fouls were claimed—and disallowed—by Jockey Maurice Peters of Rosemont, and Tommy Luther on Time Supply.

Peters protested that Wayne Wright moved the fast-moving Top Row on him and Luther claimed Rosemont bumped Time Supply.

The finish of the colorful classic found every man, woman and child in the palatial Arcadia club yelling like Indians—they included the massed thousands in the $2.20 section, the notables, celebrities and the rich in the exclusive verandas of the Los Angeles turf club.

Others crossed the line in this order: Fifth, Whopper; sixth, Howard; seventh, Discovery; eighth, Pompey's Pillar; ninth, Thursday; tenth, Tick On; eleventh, Ariel Cross; twelfth, Singing Wood; thirteenth, Riskulus; fourteenth, He Did, and fifteenth, Preeminent.

Victory of the Baroni silks of blue and white meant more than $104,600 first prize. Baroni trains Top Row and received $7,500 money awarded the winning handler. The Reno, Nev., sportsman collected more than the $108,400 Fred M. Alger, Jr., made on Azucar, in 1935.

Azucar's fourth place was worth $2,500 today. The treasure chest of Mrs. F. A. Carreaud was enriched by $10,000 second money.

William DuPont, eastern capitalist, was here to see his Rosemont win $5,000. So was Alfred G. Vanderbilt present to see his mighty 1935 handicap king, Discovery, a 3 to 2 choice, get bumped at the start and fail to be a contender at any time. Discovery's performance matched the race of the great Equipoise in the 1935 inaugural Santa Anita. Equipoise, outstanding favorite, finished seventh.

Top Row's victory paid the wagering public $14.80 to win, $5.40 to place and $4.80 to show. Time Supply paid $4.20 and $4, and Rosemont $9.40.

L. S. U. CAGER SETS NEW SCORING MARK

ATLANTA, Feb. 22.—(AP)—When Arnold Bryan, Louisiana State university basketball player, scored eight points against Tulane last night, he set a new unofficial individual scoring record of 210 points in the Southeastern conference.

Another L. S. U. player, Malcolm (Sparky) Wade, now an assistant coach there, held the previous Southeastern mark of 197 points, scored in 16 conference games. Bryan's total is for 14 games and he has one more to play tonight.

Bryan's 201 points, however, is short of the unofficial mark established during the days of the old 23-member Southern conference by J. C. (Jelly) Akin, lanky Auburn star who accumulated 234 points in 14 conference games. Akin also holds the unofficial mark for all games, collecting 342 points in 22 games. His record was made in 1928.

JACKSON HIGH FIVE WINS BIG 8 CROWN

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A garrison finish gave Jackson a 27 to 23 victory over Meridian here tonight and the championship of the Big 8 high school conference in basketball.

The two teams met in the finals of the annual conference tournament tonight after Meridian had staged a surprise upset this afternoon in defeating Biloxi, 41 to 40. Jackson defeated Hattiesburg 26 to 19 to reach the finals.

Comeback Of Bushy Graham At 32 Has Amazed Ring Followers

By John J. Romano

Leo Rodak is a bewildered young man.

A product of the Chicago Catholic Youth Organization's school of boxing, young Leo covered himself with glory and medals as a simon pure and then turned professional to reap monetary rewards for his prowess with the padded mitts. Rodak was unbeaten until he went out of his class and took a boxing lesson at the hands of Champion Tony Canzoneri. The same dose was administered by Wesley Ramey with the result that Leo was not so sure of himself.

Seeking a way out of the dilemma he turned to Hymie Caplin, maker of champions, and his first start in New York City was crowned with success. Getting up off the floor at Madison Square Garden, he went on to win from Lou Lombardi and was accepted as a serious factor in the tournament designed to provide a suitable opponent for Tony Canzoneri.

Then he got another shock. Rodak felt quite badly when Indian Hurtado was warded a decision over him in a close bout. He set out again to prove the New York commission was wrong in not listing him among the eligibles with Lou Ambers, Wesley Ramey, Baby Arizmendi and Bobby Pacho.

Two weeks ago Rodak was given an opportunity to redeem himself. His opponent was the veteran Bushy Graham, with ten years of ring warfare to his credit and three years of idleness as a handicap. The fact that Graham had beaten Eddie Zivic and scored a knockout over Pete Nebo was laughed off derisively. Rodak would send Bushy packing to his dear old Utica in short order. That was when young Leo Rodak got the surprise of his life, and learned some of the reasons why Bushy was considered the uncrowned bantam and featherweight champion some years ago.

Possesses Old Tricks

Johnny Dundee's pet trick was to bounce off the ropes and rebound with the speed of a rubber ball. Mike Gibbons was noted for his body feinting. Jimmy Slattery is still talked about as the best who could move around with his hands at his sides and then get them up in time to ward off a blow or snap with a countering jab or hook. Roll the three together and you can picture what Leo Rodak had to contend with when he walked out confidently expecting to cross his right and watch the battle-worn Graham slump to the canvas.

But the veteran was in all his glory. Not a mark did he show for his long career against the best bantams and feathers the game has known. Here is a partial list of some Bushy fought: Tony Canzoneri, Bud Taylor, Freddie Miller, Charley Rosenberg, Kid Chocolate, and Battling Battalino.

Graham was newly fitted out—shoes, trunks, gloves, etc. It was a shame to spoil such satiny bright equipment. Pale of face and showing but two bright marks on his cheek bones to denote the high resolve bringing him back to the ring after being forgotten by the present day fight fan, Bushy proceeded to give a demonstration of the brilliant boxer who came down from an upstate city nearly fourteen years ago. He astounded fans with smart footwork, lightning fast ducking, slipping and counter punching.

Bending far over so that his face was within inches of Rodak's gloves he teased his youthful rival into leading and nonchalantly drew back just enough to make him miss. Not once or twice, but a dozen times in a row he goaded Rodak into leading and missing.

This became rather monotonous to the fans who failed to appreciate the artistry of his work. They laid it to the veteran's desire to save his legs so that he could last longer than expected. They were fooled, however, when Bushy cut loose.

Confident Rodak had nothing to bother him and having overcome the first exultant, half-scared feeling of being back in the Garden ring where eight years earlier he came close to winning the world's bantamweight crown from Charley Phil Rosenberg, Graham stabbed and slashed at Rodak's face and body with lancing jabs and overhand swings.

Bushy's Stamina Held Up

Round after round passed with the crowd sitting back enjoying the performance now and wondering how long Graham could keep up his bounding, slashing tactics. Every time Rodak swung it looked like the end. But Bushy's jaw was not where Leo aimed. A slight bob or a rolling weave and Leo's exasperation increased.

He tore in to pin Graham against the ropes. Instead Bushy would retreat hurriedly and with an uncanny judge of distance force himself against the ropes and rebound with both hands slashing out. Rodak did not know what to do under the circumstances other than to grab and try to think the thing out in close quarters.

Came the seventh round and young Leo Rodak met up with the same sort of surprise Kid Chocolate did when the Cuban Bon-Bon at the pinnacle of his career met up with one of Bushy's looping blows to the jaw and was dropped for the first time in his life. In a heated mixup Rodak was confidently swapping punches with the veteran when a right nailed him high on the cheek and sent him spinning into the ropes. Leo dropped the rope and hung on desperately as Bushy swarmed all over him. The Chicagoan thought a hive of bees had descended on him. The feeling was the same when he went to his corner on wobbling limbs.

The decision! Rodak had no complaint. It was called a draw. It was the best thing that ever happened to Bushy Graham. Had he won, his exhibition would have been dismissed with a few lines. Instead it served to brace him and brought to him the fact that the play-boy tactics which resulted in his retirement must be foregone if he expects to make any headway in his comeback.

Making a comeback at 32 causes one to question the wisdom of Graham's judgment. Judging from the effort he displayed against Rodak, the Utica veteran will whip many more lightweights than will defeat him, provided, however, he sticks to his last and leaves the bright lights to those less experienced in the ways of the world. The able guidance of Joe Netro and the stimulus of Joe Falcone should aid Graham considerably in beating back.

CROSLEY 'SOLD' ON NIGHT GAME

However, Cincinnati President Won't Seek More Than 7 Tilts

CINCINNATI, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Powel Crosley Crosley, Jr., who brought night baseball to the major leagues, asserted today his Cincinnati Reds were perfectly content with a rule limiting their nocturnal pastiming to seven games a season.

"We have no intention or desire to play more than seven games a season," he said.

"We feel it might involve some serious questions if we were to open the major leagues to an unlimited number of night games."

He predicted, however, that other major league baseball clubs would take advantage of the 7-game night baseball rule sooner or later, and said that he "imagined the season attendance would be better if all games were played at night."

"As far as I know, though," Crosley added, "no one intends to put the effect of all-night season to a test."

Crosley termed the Reds the "uncertain quantity" of the 1936 National league season, basing the statement on the predominance of young players on the roster. The Reds, youngest team in the majors, average slightly more than 26 years old.

"The outlook is very good," Crosley said, "but it all depends on how our young players go."

OUACHITA GIRLS WIN CENTRAL RALLY TITLE

LOCAL SEXTETTE BEATS DRY PRONG FOR CROWN, 52-15

Athens Girls And Collinston Boys Win At Ruston Tourney

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Methvin boys and Ouachita (Monroe) girls won the championship in the 15th annual Central Louisiana high school basketball tournament at Louisiana college tonight.

Methvin defeated Jena's Giants, 1935 winners, 16 to 12, in a hard battle to climax the meet. Ouachita ran wild in the girls' final to smother Dry Prong, 1935 titleholders, 52 to 15, with Wall, Ouachita forward, accounting for 25 points.

This was the first time either Methvin or Ouachita has won the meet.

Bolton boys of Alexandria, eliminated by Methvin this afternoon, 38 to 20, came back to trounce Tioga, 35 to 22, to take third place. Tioga had lost to Jena in the semi-finals, 39 to 20.

Poland won from Forest Hill, 27 to 7, to capture third place in the girls' meet after Dry Prong had beaten Poland, 27 to 23, and Ouachita trimmed Forrest Hill, 30 to 10.

Coach S. D. Hunter of Methvin said this was his team's fourth try for the Central cage honors. The little Red River parish school has reached the semi-finals every year. Methvin has an enrollment of only 30 boys in the high school and on account of measles on the squad the quintet did not participate in tournament play last year. Methvin is 15 miles northeast of Coushatta, one time winner of the Central championship.

ATHENS, COLLINSTON WIN AT RUSTON

RUSTON, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Rising to the top in a masterful and decisive fashion, the Athens high school girls and the Collinston high school boys became the cream of the crop of north Louisiana's basketball stars by winning the championship finals of the thirteenth annual rally held at Louisiana Tech Saturday night.

The Athens girls, winners last year of the Ruston rally as well as the state meet at Baton Rouge, retained their cage distinction by trimming Bastrop, 29-15.

Unable to penetrate Athens' defense and also being inaccurate at basket-shooting, the Bastrop girls failed to tally a single field goal in the first two quarters. The Morehouse cagers made only two field goals during the second half, with a total of 11 free throws going to their credit.

Miss Harrell, Athens' exceptional center, annexed 15 points before being removed on personal fouls early in the third quarter. She made more than half of her team's points and was the high scorer of the girls' match. Athens led at the half, 26-6, but added only three points in the second half.

Following the game, Coach R. W. Atkins of Athens expressed a desire to play the girls of O. P. H. S. either in Monroe or in Athens sometime in the future. He wants a game with the Monroe girls, he said, "because Ouachita parish is considered to have one of the best girls' teams in this part of the country."

During the rally, Athens defeated Rayville's girls, 19-10, and Spearsville, 26-14. Bastrop whipped Weston, 13-3, and won on a forfeit over Summerfield before advancing to the finals.

Johnson Tosses Dollar Across Rappahannock River

JOHNSON HURLS THAT DOLLAR

Walter Johnson tossed a silver dollar across the Rappahannock river yesterday and thus became the second man in history to turn the trick. The first was George Washington, and Johnson did it to prove that the First President really accomplished the stunt, despite those who claimed he didn't. Johnson is shown above in his "dollar windup."

FORMER PITCHER CONVERTS LEGEND INTO ACTUALITY

'Big Train' Takes Easy Wind-up And Sends Dollar 317 Feet

By Eddie Gilmore
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Feb. 22.—Regardless of what George Washington may have done, Walter Johnson converted legend into actuality today and threw a dollar across the Rappahannock.

With a motion easier than that with which he used to send his old speed ball steaming down the groove to batters, the former strikeout champion sailed two coins across the river.

The official toss cleared the ice-chunked river by 30 feet. Chief Judge Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, a Virginia historian, estimated the distance of the throw at 317 feet.

Although he cleared the Rappahannock, Johnson's pitch was 1,100 feet short of what Representative Bloom of New York said the Washington toss would have been if he ever did it.

Bloom congratulated Johnson after the throw, however, and invited him to spend the evening in Washington to celebrate the throw.

The New York representative claimed the river was 1,420 feet wide at Ferry farm when Washington lived here. City surveyors measured the present stream at 272 feet, and added 45 feet from the exact spot where the coin left Johnson's hand to where it landed.

Unable to reconcile their calculations, the representative and the Chamber of Commerce called off a bet, by which Bloom would have lost $100,000, with his 20 to 1 offered odds.

As the polished coin sailed over the river the citizenry on the opposite bank began a mad scramble.

Peter Yon, 31, a Fredericksburg stone mason finally clutched the coin and held it.

This was the official toss. One of two preliminary tries also cleared the Rappahannock. Another fell into the water.

Word spread through the city that the Chamber of Commerce had, in civic interest, added 100 feet to the surveyors' calculations.

Another story that reached the bettors was that Ray Mann, a high school pitcher, had been throwing rocks across the river all morning.

The difference between a rock and a dollar did not offset the comparison between a high school pitcher and a former king of big league hurlers.

"Shucks," he said, "I want to keep that thing, I hear it is valuable."

A local banker did not change his offer of $100 for the coin used, and Yon said he was going to sell it.

"I'm glad I could prove George did it, especially after Sol Bloom made a campaign issue of it."

BLOOM 'GLAD'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, New York, said, "I'm glad he did it" when told today of Walter Johnson's success in hurling a silver dollar across the Rappahannock river.

Bloom had donated a 1796 silver dollar for the toss although insisting the river was 1,300 feet broad in Washington's time compared with today's 372. The New Yorker sent Johnson this telegram:

"Congratulations Walter. Stop over in Washington on your trip home and let's celebrate. I sincerely hope that my dollar is the dollar that did the trick."

WHITE, ROGERS REACH FINALS IN HOUSTON TOURNEY

Intercollegiate Champion Eliminated Freddie Haas In 20 Holes

By Felix R. McKnight
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 22.—Youthful Ed White, the National Intercollegiate champion, and Lieut. Ken Rogers, handsome young army aviator who took up golf five years ago, shot their way into the finals of the Houston Country club invitation golf tournament today.

It took every shot White could muster to eliminate Freddie Haas of New Orleans, La., state champion and former Southern titleholder, one up in 20 holes.

Rogers, of San Antonio, one of the deadliest putters in southwest golf, relied on that department of his sound game to brush Jack Munger of Dallas from the tourney, 2 and 1.

White and Rogers meet tomorrow in a 36-hole final battle for the championship of the twenty-second annual tournament, now established as one of the southland's links classics.

Both semi-final matches were thrillers for the galleries of close to 1,500 spectators.

White, senior student at the University of Texas, won the first hole from Haas but saw his lead vanish when the lanky Louisianian copped the third and fourth holes with birdie fours. He quickly recovered, however, grabbing the fifth, sixth and seventh holes in succession to go two up. A missed three foot putt on the ninth green cut his lead to one hole.

White increased his lead to two up again with a brilliant birdie at the twelfth hole but Haas doggedly fought back to square the match by winning the fifteenth hole with a birdie three and the seventeenth with a birdie four. Haas missed a two-foot putt on the home green for victory and shot himself out of the tournament on the second extra hole by blasting his tee shot into a trap. He recovered beautifully but failed to hole a six-footer.

White had entered the semi-finals by beating Reuben Albaugh of Dallas, conqueror of Johnny Dawson, 6 and 5, while Haas beat out Harry Todd of Dallas on the eighteenth hole, one up. He pitched dead to the pin on that green while Todd, ahead all the way until the last hole, overshot the green and landed in a trap.

Lieut. Rogers continued to play the most consistent golf of the tournament in his dazzling triumph over Munger, former National Interscholastic champion. After the first five holes, where he was two down, Rogers banged in nine pars and three birdies. He started on the sixth with a fine birdie two, squared the match at seven with a par, birdied the 394-yard par fourth hole to go one up and was never headed thereafter.

Munger made a great bid on the fifteenth hole. Rogers missed his tee shot badly but slammed a great brassie shot within 20 feet of the hole. Munger, after a good drive, pushed his second par to the right of the green but holed his next shot for a birdie three with a 30-yard niblic shot.

Rogers refused to crack, however, and played par perfectly on the next two holes to close out his opponent.

The dashing young flier, who took time out a couple of times this week to fly to his San Antonio home, is two under par for the tournament. He qualified with a par 71, slipped two under par in his first match and equalled par in the next three.

WEST MONROE SKEET CLUB OPENS TODAY

The West Monroe Skeet club will open today, it was announced yesterday, and a large crowd is expected to attend the first shoot.

The club grounds recently were moved to the rear of McGuire Park Golf club, and several improvements have been made, it was said.

Grimm, 'Harbinger Of Spring,' Says Cubs Will Win Flag Again

Bruin Pilot Confident His Club Will Appear In 1936 Series

By Robert Walton

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Charlie Grimm, stepping neatly into the role of prophet, flatly predicts his Cubs will win the National league pennant again this year.

Usually that's as far as he cares to commit himself in the baseball season, but every now and then the Cubs' skipper says he can envision his club as world champion next October.

Back in town to lead his players on their annual jaunt to Catalina Island, Grimm is the only harbinger of spring Chicago has seen between zero waves and bizzards.

'Purring Days' Over

He's fairly bubbling over with enthusiasm for the Cubs as they now stand—and he avows he's not downhearted that they didn't figure in any of the big trades.

As Grimm figures it, the Cubs are grown up now and their purring days are over. When the season opens, he says, they'll have the same fighting frame of mind that they had last year when they grabbed the lead from St. Louis and rode into the world series on a 21-game winning streak.

"I'm more than satisfied to go along with the same gang we had last year," he says. "It's dumb baseball to break up a winning club."

His freshmen of last season are going to be full-fledged sophomores this year, and Charlie says they won't be making the mistakes usually charged to apprentices.

Pilot-Player Again

Grimm, one of the greatest first-basemen in baseball annals, has put himself back on the active player list, planning to lend a hand to 19-year-old Phil Cavarretta in the pinches.

"However, Cavarretta's in there to stay," the manager says. "But he needs a little more experience. Even so, he's a natural big-leaguer and the fans are going to see a big improvement in him."

All Grimm knows about the rookie crop coming up from the minors "is the recommendations they are bringing with them."

But he lets it be known that he's expecting Gene Lillard, who played infield with Los Angeles last season, to make good. "He has a lot of power and he's faster than he used to be," Grimm deposes. "And don't forget one thing—Lillard can hit."

Among the other promising youngsters Grimm lists Joseph Vitter, another infielder from New Orleans, and John Gill, slugging outfielder, who batted .361 for Minneapolis in the American association last year.

Satisfied With Hurlers

The old Grimm smile lights up when he talks of his mound corps. "Of course," he hastens to add, "no manager is ever satisfied with his pitching staff. It's the pitcher who wins the games and there's always room for improvement."

This year will provide Fablan Kowalik a big chance to make good as a starting hurler—and Grimm thinks he will.

Some of the others—in addition to such old reliables as Lee, Warneke, Root and French—Grimm is counting on are Clyde Shoun and Roy Henshaw. Clay Bryant is a likely looking rookie—if temperament doesn't whip him, Grimm says.

Grimm admits all the other National league clubs will be good, but he plans to do his special fearing over St. Louis, New York and Brooklyn, all plenty tough, in his opinion.

Augie Galan provided Grimm his only "holdout trouble."

DIZZY DEAN STILL SEEKS THAT RAISE

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Jerome Herman Dean (they don't call him "Dizzy" when contract signing time comes around), beamed with love and devotion for the St. Louis Cardinals today—but he still wants that raise.

And until he gets it he will remain a holdout. Jerome Herman is a man who won't let personal feelings interfere with business, particularly the business of pay checks.

Li'l brother Paul feels the same way about it. So, where the Dean family is concerned, the Cardinals will have to worry along without pitchers until the ante goes up.

"I dont know of a better ball club anywhere than the Cards," said the benevolent Jerome Herman as he joined forces here with Paul in the annual contract war.

"And Mr. Branch Rickey is one of the finest men I ever knew."

Rickey, Cardinal general manager is the man who doesn't see exactly eye-to-eye with the Deans on the question of pay.

"He's a square shooter and I like him," added Dean.

"Naturally the Cardinals can't pay as much as the Giants or Cubs. So we don't expect as much." The pitcher didn't go into the particular of just how much he does expect, but he insists it will be that or nothing.

"Now I don't know how that stuff got out that I wouldn't pitch because of a feud with Catcher Virgil Davis. Mr. Rickey must have misinterpreted my letter.

"Shucks, I dont care who I pitch to. A good pitcher can work with any catcher."

Jerome Herman summed up the case for brother Paul briefly:

"All I know about Paul," he said, "is that he's a holdout too."

WHITE HOPE MITT TOURNEY STARTS

Many Louisiana Boys Entered In Jack Dempsey's Eliminations

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Jack Dempsey's international white hope tournament to discover a young white giant who can be groomed to meet and defeat Joe Louis early in 1937 got off to a flying start at Mobile, Ala., when sixteen members of the Jack Dempsey white hope society thrilled 1,500 fight fans by their wild and free swinging which resulted in seven knockout victories in eight scheduled contests.

Marty Burke and Broadway Johnny Cox, southern division managers of the Jack Dempsey white hope tournament, have been granted the exclusive rights to stage the tournament in eight southern states. Burke and Cox will offer the shows in Alabama, Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi, Texas, Florida, Georgia and Oklahoma.

Over 100 young Louisiana boys have entered. Youngsters over 17 years of age and weighing from 165 to 250 pounds are eligible. Amateurs and preliminary professional heavyweights who have not fought over six ring battles are also eligible to compete in the novice white hope tourney.

Burke served as Dempsey's chief sparring partner for ten years while Cox has been a prominent promoter and manager of leading fighters for the past 20 years. Burke twice fought Gene Tunney for the light heavyweight crown losing a ten and fifteen round decision to Gene.

The Dempsey white hope tourney is the best tonic professional boxing has encountered in over two decades, according to Burke and Cox. They are confident that out of the Dixie white hope tourney will come a heavy capable of halting Joe Louis. The eight state champions will meet in the finals in June. Dempsey will personally come south to handle the finals.

CHOUDRANT RINGMEN DEFEAT PROVIDENCE

CHOUDRANT, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Boxers of the Choudrant High school defeated Lake Providence 7 to 3 in one of the most interesting ring programs here this season.

The match opened with a battle royal between five local boys, with two exhibition bouts next on the program.

The officials were: Buck Pipes, referee; judges, Mulam, Deas and Adkins of La. Tech; Hal Willis and C. F. Madden, timekeepers.

SCHOOLBOY STARS BREAK 11 RECORDS

Two Great Milers Pace Track Luminaries In A. A. U. Events

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Paced by two great milers, the leading schoolboy athletes of the east set up eleven new records and equalled another this afternoon in the National A. A. U. indoor high and prep school track and field championships at Madison Square Garden.

Racing over the same boards where the country's greatest milers have settled their arguments, Vincent Braun of St. Benedict's, Newark, and Ray Trail from Mont Pleasant high of Schenectady, turned in two of the fastest miles ever credited to a school boy over an indoor track.

Braun's performance was by far the most remarkable, however. He stepped off the distance in 4:25.7 to clip six and one-half seconds off the record of 4:32.2 he established in winning the prep school title last year.

Trail, National interscholastic cross-country champion, was clocked in 4:31.6 to capture the high school championship, which was run in three heats with the fastest times determining the final placings. His time better by nearly five seconds the record of 4:36.4 made by Bill Murch of Manchester, Conn., last year.

Six other records were shattered and one equalled by the prep school athletes as a well balanced team from St. John's of Danvers, Mass., won the team title with 19 points. The other three new marks were credited to the high school boys with Evander Childs scoring 18 points to lead the field.

Cagers Play 'Dirty' Lest Clean Suits Break Luck

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Soiled uniforms tell a story of a coach's superstition and the rise of Vanderbilt university's basketball team in the Southeastern conference.

One of his faiths in supernatural powers is that once a run of victories is started uniforms should not be laundered until a game is lost.

Among other things, Cody opens every contest with the same line-up, if possible; he wears the same tie to every game; he places the Commodore line-up on the same side of the score-board; and he personally wraps the players ankles, following a definite order in that procedure. The squad eats exactly at 5 o'clock before all games.

But When Losing—

When his team is not doing so well, he forgets these superstitions. There are other things, he says, to worry about then.

But at this stage of the Southeastern basketball race, Cody is alert to see that no player flouts his superstitions—and the Commodore uniforms have been soiled aplenty this season.

For the first nine games of the season—all intersectional tilts on a holiday swing through the midwest—the Commodores had spotless uniforms every night.

Returning to heir own bailiwick, the gold and black-clad court performers toppled their first seven Southeastern foes to become the favorite for the 1936 title, which will be decided in the annual tournament starting late in February.

Off To Late Start

"We learned a lot on that trip through the midwest," says Cody. "Our boys were not in shape and had little accuracy in shooting. Naturally we were beaten by teams like Creighton, Loyola of Chicago, Iowa State and Indiana.

"We got into condition on non-conference competition, with the result that the players were ready when the circuit rivals came up."

Lads Are Versatile

Just in passing it might be mentioned that Josh, before departing from Vanderbilt in 1927 for Clemson college, piloted the Commodores to the Southern conference basketball championship.

Is that a good sign that he'll repeat in the Southeastern conference before leaving for the warmer climate of Florida?

This season's Vanderbilt team is constructed around three football players. Dick Plasman, center, and Willie Geny, captain and guard, were the gridiron team's regular ends. Geny, selected on the all-Southeastern eleven, was captain of the Commodores gridders. Pete Curly, a guard, was a valued halfback on the Vandy eleven.

Rounding out the team are Dave Coleman and Kayo Overly, accurate shooting forwards with the fast-breaking offensive style employed by Cody's clan.

ALL-STAR MAT CARD BOOKED FOR TUESDAY

SARPOLIS MEETS JUAN HUMBERTO IN MAIN MATCH

Popular Ernest Kelly Tangles With Westenberg In Semi-Final

An all-star card has been booked for Tuesday night to celebrate the return of heavyweights to Roosevelt stadium, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced last night. Dr. Karl Sarpolis, of Chicago, has been signed to wrestle Juan Humberto, Mexican claimant of the heavyweight wrestling title, in the main event, and Ernest Kelly, popular Tennessean, will meet Marvin Westenberg, 220-pound former Washington State football star, in the semi-final. All matches will be held on Tuesday night in the future, Bruscato has announced.

Bruscato terms Tuesday night's card his most attractive wrestling program in several years. "It's the most expensive card I've signed since the days of Wild Red Berry," Bruscato said.

Humberto, Kelly and Westenberg are youngsters and as a result, there should be plenty of fast action. Sarpolis, the Chicago veteran, is no lead-off performer himself. He has appeared at the stadium several times in the past year and always gave the fans more than their money's worth. Sarpolis was among the first 10 ranking heavyweights in 1934 and the fact that he dropped down the ladder a few pegs last season was because he campaigned almost exclusively in the southwest and thus escaped notice of the "big shots" who annually rank the various title claimants. The Medico is pointing toward a big year for 1936 so he can regain his lost prestige.

Humberto was a boxer some five or six years ago and didn't attract a great deal of attention in the ring but when he turned to wrestling for a living his rise was rapid. He now is considered one of the best heavyweights in the game and only recently laid sent word to O'Mahoney that the Humberto was scheduled to wrestle O'Mahoney at Galveston a couple of weeks ago but the champ took a "run out" and subsequently was suspended by the National Wrestling association. It was rumored that Humberto had sent word to O'Hahoney that the champ had better do his best, and Danno didn't think his best was good enough to beat the Mexican.

The Kelly Westenberg match is as attractive as the main event. Both lads are clever wrestlers and each built up a large following here when the heavyweights were in vogue before. Kelly is the most popular grappler ever to appear at the stadium. He's a former Tennessee U. football star and knows plenty of holds despite the fact that he hasn't been in the game as long as some of the stadium performers. His favorite is a hook scissors.

Bruscato announced last week that he had former connections with the leading wrestlers of the southwest and middlewest and only high class cards would be presented for the Tuesday night shows. He has had to post a guarantee for his wrestlers and thus his shows will cost more than those of the past, but the local promoter believes the added patronage will more than make up for the extra expense, once the public has become convinced that the shows are really the best obtainable.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls Tuesday night, with the main event limited to two hours and the semi-final having a one-hour time limit. "Butch" Martin will referee the matches, J. B. Swanson will make the announcements and Mike Tarver will keep time.

More than 5,000 words have been added to the newest dictionary of medical terms, which contains 1,573 pages, as a result of the progress of science in the last few years.

There are about 310,000,000 cubic miles of water in the oceans of the world.

RETURNS TO STADIUM TUESDAY

Ernest Kelly, above, probably the most popular wrestler ever to perform at Roosevelt stadium, will meet Marvin Westenberg in the semi-final match of the all-star card Tuesday night when heavyweights return to the local arena. Juan Humberto, claimant of the heavyweight championship, will meet Dr. Karl Sarpolis, Chicago veteran, in the main event.

At the far turn it was the great three-year-old He Did, last week's $26,000 Santa Anita derby winner, burning up the track, Singing Wood and Hal P. Headley's giant of the track, Whopper. Top Row was seventh, by a head over Time Supply.

Thundering down the stretch, Jockey Wright worked his way up, just as he has done many times before, and came through on the outside. Crossing in front of Time Supply, Whopper and Rosemont, Top Row began a hard drive that swept him under the wire a winner by half a length.

Time Supply was half a length to the good over Rosemont, and the Du-Pont colors of blue and gold were four lengths over Alger's brave Azucar.

Top Row's victory was not an upset, nor was Time Supply's second place performance—both ranked with Discovery in predictions and were short-priced favorites to win.

SANTA ANITA PARK, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Hollywood stars discovered today they did not have horse sense.

So did the majority of nearly 60,000 guessers gathered to witness one of the richest purse races in American turf history.

They thought Discovery, the 1935 champion, was the unbeatable headliner. They placed more than $150,000 on the famous Vanderbilt horse to win. He rewarded them by coming in seventh.

As Bing Crosby has already found out in racing, more money is to be made by the film folk in buying and selling horses than racing them or picking them for winners.

One of the shrewdest men on the American turf, Albert A. Baroni, from Reno, showed them how to handle horses. The son of Peanuts, five-year-old Top Row, stayed back in the field and then "Stop Watch" Wayne Wright, one of the best jockeys in the game, galloped him on the outside to take the $104,600 purse. Baroni made it a $112,100 victory, for he also took $7,500 offered by the Los Angeles Turf club to the trainer of the winning horse. He bought Top Row for $3,500.

Discovery never threatened in the race, although John Beljshak did move him up from tenth to seventh place in the stretch.

As Top Row moved up from seventh place to lead in the stretch, those million dollar movie necks in the clubhouse craned to see where Discovery was.

The race was a great combination of horses and men.

The track was good, in the official rating of handicappers. But it was tricky, fast in some places, slow in others and there were some wet spots.

MAROONS AGAIN WIN FROM OLE MISS FIVE

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Mississippi State college's cagers made it three out of four this season against the University of Mississippi by winning the second of the series here tonight, 40-30.

Ole Miss trailed closely through the first period, and State had a 19-17 margin at the half. Bonnie Graham on two free shots made it 19-all to start the second half, but from then on State took command with Stone and Armstrong both hitting twice and Walters once while the University scored but a single point.

Ole Miss crept within six points of their rivals at 35-29, but Fred Walters went on another of his scoring sprees at the end to put the game on ice.

Orville Stone was high scorer, while Walters and Armstrong also did standout work for State. Bonnie Graham, still suffering with flu, topped his team with 11 points.

WISNER 'W' CLUB TO STAGE BENEFIT SHOW

WISNER, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—The "W" club of Wisner high school will present "The Dancing Moonbeam Minstrel" in the school auditorium next Wednesday.

The program will consist of a number of black-faced comedian acts including numerous jokes and wisecracks by the endmen and interlocutor. There will also be several singing and dancing numbers by the chorus.

Miss Turk, Monroe dancing instructor who comes here weekly to instruct a dancing class, will also present her pupils in connection with the minstrel.

The chorus which will perform between acts of the minstrel will be composed of members of the Wisner high glee club.

NATS' MANAGER THINKS TEAM MAY SPRING SURPRISE

If Rookie Pitchers Come Through, Buckey Thinks He's Fixed

By Dillon Graham
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Stanley (Bucky) Harris put away his overcoat, slipped a pair of spring suits in his knap-sack and pushed off tonight for the sunny south to open the Senators' training camp at Orlando, Fla., Monday.

The Washington baseball manager is not notoriously superstitious but, as he corraled a half dozen rookies from the station platform and shoved them aboard a pullman, he cautiously reminded fans this was his 13th season as a big league pilot.

"Who knows though," he smiled, "it may bring us luck."

With an uncertain infield and pitching corps, Harris has been unusually chary of pre-season statements in recent months.

"I will say I'm more optimistic than I was at this time last year," he ventured. "I think we're stronger, we have youth on our side and we may surprise everyone if a couple of these young pitchers come through."

His chief experiment at Orlando will be in trying to fit Cecil Travis at short and Buddy Lewis, the Chattanooga rookie, at third base in his infield.

"We'll be well fixed if our plans for Travis and Lewis materialize," he said, "but we are not overlooking the value of Ossie Bluege, Ralph Kress and Roberto Estallella."

Estallella is the Cuban rookie. Roberto is a heavy hitter and has one of the strongest arms in the league but some of his critics have contended that Man Mountain Deal would be just about as effective as a fielding third sacker.

"For speed, take a look at our probable first four in the batting order—Hill, Dee Miles, Buddy Myer and Jake Powell. No slow pokes in that gang."

Either Carl Reynolds or John Stone may replace Miles, he conceded, but added that both are fast.

Pitching, Buckey added, is the real problem.

Whitehill, Newsom and Linke are the regular starters among the holdovers. The group of youngsters, who likely will make or break the team, includes Pete Appleton, Henry Coppola, Richard Lanahan, Joe Bokina and Kendal Chase. Monte Weaver, seeking a comeback, may be of help.

All told, four world records were knocked off and championship marks set in two other events on the title program. Besides the standards lowered by Venzke and O'Brien, world marks were set by Irving Folwartshny of Rhode Island State, with a toss of 58 feet, 1-2 inch, in the 35-pounds weight throw, and by New York university's quartet in winning the 1,000 meter sprint relay in 2:00.4.

Norman Bright, the 5,000 meters winner, and Manhattan college's 1,600 meters relay team, clocked in 3:19.7, accounted for the additional new meet records.

Joe McCluskey, New York A. C. "iron man," was the only champion to repeat in the track events. He scored in his specialty, the 3,000 meters steeplechase, and got additional exercise by following the record-breaking trail blazed by Venzke and Cunningham in the 1,500.

Two negroes cleared the world record height of 6 feet, 8 15-16 inches in the high jump, closing event of the meet, on successive leaps. A surprise sensation, Sam Burke of Marquette university negotiated the height on his second attempt and Cornelius Johnson of Los Angeles, the defending champion, then duplicated the feat on his third and last try. The bar had been set for 6 feet 9 inches but was found a trifle short on re-measurement. It was high enough, however, to eclipse the former world mark of 6 feet 8 1-4 inches, made by George Spitz of New York in 1933.

AMATEUR WRESTLERS MEET AT BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Amateur wrestlers from seven southeastern states will seek to qualify for the finals of the Olympic wrestling tryouts in a tournament here March 13 and 14.

Winners in the various divisions will enter the final competition at Bethlehem, Pa., April 17 and 18.

Tigers Meet Baton Rouge Thursday Night And Istrouma Friday

With high hopes of finishing their regular schedule of dual meets undefeated, the Tiger mittmen of Neville high school will get down to hard work again this week, Coach Percy Brown announced last night, in preparation for two week-end engagements with Baton Rouge's defending state champions and Istrouma high school.

Fighting two dual meets a week, on Tuesdays and Fridays, for the past three weeks has kept the Bengals from being put to the task of any hard drills in preparation for the fights. But since they have no meet scheduled for the early part of this week they will be put through their paces again tomorrow and Tuesday.

The Tigers will be in Baton Rouge for their return engagement with the Bulldogs on Thursday night and the following night they will move on down to Istrouma. The locals are the favorites to win both engagements, having stopped Baton Rouge here, 8 to 4, and having walloped the Istrouma Indians, 12 to 1, here Friday night.

Even though the two meets will wind up the present schedule of dual encounters for Neville, Coach Percy Brown said last night that there was a possibility that two or three more meets might be held in the early part of March.

The reason for this possible addition of more fights to the Tiger schedule was brought out by the fact that the district tournament, which will be held March 20 and 21, would leave the Bengals with no opposition for fully three weeks, and even though Coach Brown could keep his charges busy in gymnasium work he doesn't want them to go stale for lack of opposition.

The state tournament at Baton Rouge will be fought on April 3 and 4. Neville, with one of the best teams as a whole in the state, hopes to be able to regain the state championship crown lost last spring, but they will no doubt have more trouble winning the title than they have had winning the dual meets.

Leading the Tigers in the number of victories so far is Ernest Pierce, 120, who has won eight bouts and hasn't been beaten this season. Lavelle "Shorty" Green, 132, who has acquired the habit of stopping his opponents before the three rounds is up, has lost only one bout, his first of the season. He came back to win six others and get one draw. Tom King, 115, has won six bouts also and has only one blot on his record.

Other good records have been made by Pat Cole, 98; Howard "Shorty" Earl, 130; Walter Brady, 145; and Marvin Spaugh, 111. Cole has won several times and lost two decisions. Earl, after some early season difficulties in which he lost two bouts, has stepped out with six victories. Brady has won five matches and lost one, while Spaugh, who hasn't been billed on every card, has won four engagements handily and hasn't lost a fight.

Aside from Pierce and Spaugh, three other Bengals still have clean slates. They are Harry Snyder, Marvin Gleason and Perry Snyder. However, neither of these youngsters have had much experience. Harry Snyder, Neville's heavyweight, has won two bouts, while Gleason and Perry Snyder have been sent into the ring only once apiece and they came out victorious.

Little Guy Miller, a 90-pounder, has borne the brunt of the Tigers' punishment. Miller has gone into the ring eight times for Neville, and although a game little fighter who has stayed the full three rounds, he has lost five times in comparison with three victories. His last two battles were in his favor, and it is thought that the added experience has helped him considerably.

The Tigers' 165-pound state champion, Darius Crews, was beaten in his first battle of the season, but since that time he has gotten back into his old form and won four bouts, including one over the boxer who gave him his only trimming of the year, Milo Mattinson, 117, also has a good record of four victories against only one defeat.

Brubaker Hailed As Next Heavy Champ

Former Theological Student Is Seen As Leading White Hope

By Phil Sinnott
(NEA Service Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Phil Brubaker was born to fight to beat the devil.

In boyhood and early youth, the 21-year-old heavyweight, who looms as a leading white hope after his knockout of Fred Lenhart and victory over Kingfish Levinsky, figured his fight was along theological lines. He planned to study for the ministry.

A few months ago, he turned his thoughts seriously to boxing—and from being just "one of the hicks from the sticks" he has risen to where San Francisco ring fans see a world champion in the dominie-turned-boxer.

With four world champions from California, all developed in San Francisco rings, fans hereabouts know something about spotting a lad with what it takes.

Steadily and coolly, Brubaker has come along in his various starts. He wasn't kept on a "pushover" diet. Fred Lenhart, Tacoma veteran who rates with Charley Retzlaff, was brought in to see what Brubaker could do against cagey competition. Four punches sent Lenhart out by the count for the first time in his career, just 68 seconds after the opening bell.

His latest opponent was King Levinsky, certainly not a dish to set before a peagreen—unless the peagreen has what it takes. His 10-round decision over the Kingfish, with Levinsky on the floor twice, and both fighting all the way, has moved Brubaker to the top flight, and definitely to be considered an opponent for Braddock and Joe Louis, though he's so new in the game that his name doesn't appear in the record book.

Fighting is just a means toward an end with Brubaker—to make money, win a title, then devote himself to Y. M. C. A. work, or assist in religious work while being a business man.

He Won Scholarship!

Born on a Dinuba, Calif., ranch, Phil's ambition was to follow two older brothers as football stars at Dinuba high school. An injury blocked this, so, for an outlet, the lad turned to track and basketball. He did a little amateur boxing, but his basketball prowess, plus his interest in theology, won him a tuition scholarship in College of the Pacific at Stockton.

No matter how much he may hunger for knowledge, the stomach hunger of a growing boy of 18 is something demanding—and it was up to Brubaker to fend for his fodder. He decided that his fists could help. Turning professional, he would lose out in college athletics, but would be furthering his ambition to become a Methodist minister. He took to fighting.

Under the guidance of Manager Billy Hunnefield, Brubaker battled in the smaller rings, developing a kayo punch and ability to handle himself. Broken hands bothered him, but surgical skill seems to have cleared up this one weak point in his equipment. The class of boys he met was getting better; it required more training. So study for the ministry was suspended while the fight game was taken more seriously.

Larger arenas called. Brubaker broke into San Francisco with a kayo of a tough local battler. He's been appearing regularly, improving with each fight. In his 18 professional battles he has lost one decision, has stopped 11 opponents, and fought two draws. The other four fights were decision victories.

Still Needs Weight

Six feet 1 1-2 inches tall, he weighs 192 pounds—and probably will hit 215 in a couple of years. He's rather rangy in appearance, more like a football end than a heavy-muscled, broad-shouldered heavyweight. He possesses freedom of movement as a result, with amazing speed of arms and legs, and ability to hit out, cobra-like.

Both fists are effective weapons, his short right being lethal. And the lad has gotten off the canvas after taking a hard wallop, to fight his way to a triumph.

His coolness is remarkable in an inexperienced fighter. His defense will carry him a long way, but he's a coming-in battler, rather than a dance-away. The Brubaker brain is completely equipped with all the appurtenances for swift, lucid thinking, and his heart is a fighter's type, too.

Brubaker's ring code doesn't include turning the other cheek when someone smites him. His coordination indicates his left and right hands aren't keeping their doings secret from each other.

But in planning his future, he looks to a conclusion of his ring wars according to Timothy (good fighting name, too) 4:7, which says: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

STUDENTS PROPOSE SUBSIDIZATION CODE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 22.—The Pennsylvania Association of College Students said today that there should be no subsidization of athletes, but where payment of players is permitted there should be a code guaranteeing every one equal compensation and consideration.

The association, holding its fourth annual convention, recommended these regulations:

"That those players who need financial assistance to enter or remain in college should be given an opportunity for deferred tuition, that is, sign notes agreeing to repay the institution after graduation or otherwise leaving the college for full amount of the tuition deferred.

"That deferred tuition be given only those athletes in need of financial assistance who have attained a specific scholastic standing determined by competent administrative authorities.

"That if further assistance is needed, it should be given only in return for such work as the institution has to offer the student body as a whole."

YOUNGER COACHES MAY GET JOBS AT TWO BIG COLLEGES

Wisconsin And Cornell To Entrust Football Duties To Youths

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The football destinies at two of our better known institutions of learning, Cornell and Wisconsin, seem likely to be entrusted to youthful head coaches for 1936, following upheavals at both places.

As a consequence of the resignation of Gil Dobie at Ithaca, N. Y., under pressure, and the subsequent dismissal of Dr. Clarence (Fats) Spears at Madison, Wis., sentiment has developed at each seat of learning for "a younger man, not unknown by any means but one whose reputation is on the make."

The quotation is from a Milwaukee sports editor, sensing the popular trend among Wisconsin adherents, but it applies equally to the present feeling among many Cornellians. Wisconsin may find the man it wants already in the Badger ranks but Cornell plans a fresh start with a head coach selected from the best available "outside" talent.

Cornell's athletic director, James Lynah, so far has given no indication as to who Dobie's successor will be. It is understood more than 85 coaches from all parts of the country have filed applications. Of these at least two dozen still are under more or less serious consideration.

Prominent among the younger coaches reliably reported to have been suggested for the Cornell job are Harold (Red) Grange, the former Illinois all-America back who has rounded out ten seasons as a player and coach with the Chicago Bears; Dan Jessee, a product of Pacific university (Oregon) who has had marked success as head coach at Trinity (Conn.); Don Peden, former Illinois athlete who has developed successful teams at Ohio university; Ray Nusspeck, another former all-around Illinois athlete, now head coach at Illinois college; Herb Kopf, one-time Washington and Jefferson star who is Lou Little's first assistant at Columbia; and Earl Martineau, backfield aide at Princeton.

It is noteworthy that three of these six, all with exceptional background, are ex-pupils of Prof. Bob Zuppke, the well-known landscape artist at the University of Illinois. Martineau is a former Minnesota all-America back.

Pending any indication as to how seriously these prospects ar being considered, the list of nominations has grown. It is understood to include Carl Snavely of North Carolina, Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian, George (Potsy) Clark, coach of the Detroit Lions, national professional champion; Ossie Solem of Iowa, Gus Dorais of Detroit and Dick Hanley, former Northwestern head coach.

Exports of iron and steel products from the United States in 1935 were the largest recorded since the World war. Japan was the largest importer of American iron and steel in 1935.

WOMAN PLACED IN JAIL ON COW THEFT CHARGE

WEST POINT, Miss., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A woman booked as Mrs. Lula Stone of Bugh, Miss., is being held in the Clay county jail here on a charge of stealing cattle.

She was arrested yesterday by Sheriff J. S. Richey, of Oktibbeha county and brought here because there were not facilities to accommodate a white woman in the jail at Starkville.

Sheriff Richey said that her husband was also arrested on a charge of stealing five cows from the farm of G. Odie Daniels, near Bugh, and is being held in the Oktibbeha county jail pending a hearing.

RUSTON, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Fifty-three persons from Louisiana Tech plan to go to Shreveport Monday on an engineering inspection trip and to attend the monthly dinner meeting of the Shreveport Electric League, it was announced here Saturday.

The engineering students planning to make the trip are as folows: J. C. Crawford, W. M. Gill, E. T. Watson, R. S. Baker, Jac Thigpen, W. B. Jordan, J. P. Ford, Burt Lomax, H. O. White, Max Watson, Gerald McCallum, R. C. Duchesne, C. S. Johnson, H. W. McCormick, M. G. Ricks, D. K. Dillon, J. S. Robbins, W. C. Montgomery, W. D. Tindo, H. T. Poulan, C. D. Carter, E. L. Atkins, G. R. Frasier, Gus Dickson, A. J. McCallum, H. O. Cooley, O. C. Tubbs, D. M. Barnes, J. D. Hilburn, E. H. Holstead, R. P. James, James Shaw, J. T. Cox, Paul Hughen, W. G. Pratt, C. C. Clark, R. Hart, E. Nobles, J. W. Hammons, W. Weirner, O. W. Hogan, B. E. Reeves, E. T. Watts, ince Tazio, Al Lyons, Carl Jordan and Leslie Orr.

Accompanying the party will be the following faculty members of the school of engineering: Dean Frank Bogard, W. L. Mitchell, Robert S. Wynn, J. T. Folk and R. A. McFarland.

They plan to go to Shreveport in several automobiles, leaving Ruston about 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Twenty-seven of the students, led by Mr. Folk, will inspect the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company plant in Jewella. Dean Bogard will accompany others through the Southwestern Gas and Electric power plant at Augurs. The entire party will be conducted through Barksdale field.

The monthly dinner of the Shreveport Electric League will be held at the Jefferson hotel at 6:30 p. m. Monday. Following the banquet, the engineers will assemble at the city hall for the showing of motion pictures of the progress of the construction of the Boulder dam on the Colorado river.

The Electric League is composed of several Shreveport engineers and other persons interested in electrical activities.

C. S. Johnson of Shreveport, a Tech engineering student, is assisting in making local arrangements for the trip.

CRANE WORKER WITH ARM AMPUTATED IS IMPROVING

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Surgeons noted slight improvement again today in the condition of John McCoy, 47-year-old crane operator, whose right arm was amputated while he hung 50 feet above the ground, pinned to a steel girder.

Dr. H. Gillmor Long said the amputation, which he performed in zero weather Wednesday from the tip of an extension ladder, would allow McCoy to wear an artificial arm.

LOUISIANA TECH GIRLS IN MARDI GRAS BALL

Here are the queen and attendants who officiated in the annual Mardi Gras ball at Louisiana Tech Saturday. The queen was Julia McDonald of Shreveport. Attendants included Nan Morgan, Ruston; Elizabeth Rainwater Ruston; Oma Watson, Ringgold; Doris Davenport, Monroe; Sara Ellen Cooper, Mansfield, and Hortense Callahan, Ruston.

GIRL, 14, POISONS FAMILY OF EIGHT

Retaliating For Chastisement, Child Places Potion In Flour

HAMLIN, W. Va., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A family of eight lay critically ill of poisoning today in a hill country home, their illness brought on by what Prosecutor W. S. Damron said was a 14-year-old daughter's retaliation for a chastisement.

Damron said Gladys Dillon admitted mixing poison with the flour her mother used in baking bread. He said she told him she intended only to poison the mother.

The prosecutor said Edgar Dillon, 40, probably will not recover. Mrs. Dillon, 36, and six children ranging in age from 3 to 12, are in a serious condition.

They were found in their mountain cabin three miles from the hill village of Hubbal and brought to a home there. A doctor said it would be impossible to move the stricken family to a hospital.

Damron said Gladys was arrested because she was the only one who did not partake of the poisoned bread. He added:

"It seems the girl had left home without permission, and her mother punished her by confining her to the home. She said in her confession she was angry with her mother and fully intended to kill her.

"Gladys broke down and cried when I told her how sick her father was. "She said, 'I didn't mean to hurt him, just mama.'"

NAME LAWYERS TO PROBE ALLEGED TAX EVASIONS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Three Nashville attorneys were appointed by Governor McAlister today to direct an investigation into the alleged tax evasion scheme disclosed by the state department of finance and taxation recently.

The governor named Norman Farrell, Jack Norman and Buchanan Loser as "counsel and investigators" in the case. The appointments were made upon recommendation of Attorney-General Roy H. Beeler.

The three will have charge of all phases of the investigation, the governor's office said. Gasoline tax losses to the state are estimated to have amounted to more than $150,000 the last few years.

Should any charges grow out of the investigation they would be prosecuted by the office of the Davidson county district attorney-general.

LASALLE PARISH AGENT ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

JENA, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—L. O. Sumrall, county agent for LaSalle parish, has resigned his position and has been succeeded by J. V. Hinton, a native of Union parish.

Mr. Sumrall, who came to LaSalle in 1922, and has served continuously since that time, has accepted a position with the rural resettlement administration as district supervisor for northeast Louisiana with headquarters at Tallulah.

Mr. Hinton served as Mr. Sumrall's assistant four and one-half months during the early part of 1935, but since that time has been assistant county agent in Morehouse parish.

WILL ATTEND MEET

FERRIDAY, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Miss Sarah I. Jones, parish librarian, plans to attend the state library association meeting which will be held this year in New Orleans on March 26, 27 and 28. She is one of the officers of the state association.

RIVER IS DREDGED

JONESVILLE, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—United States government dredging boats are engaged in operations at Glassrock cut-off below Vidalia on the Mississippi river, and a navigation notice has been sent out by Lieutenant Colonel John H. Carruth, district engineer of the war department.

Helping Mothers to Cut Down on Family's Colds

Unique Formula For Nose And Throat Helps To Prevent Many Colds, And To Throw Off Head Colds At The Start—It Quickly Clears "Stuffy Head"

Mothers are so often worried about their families' colds that they find special comfort in this unique aid for preventing colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol.

Especially designed for nose and upper throat, where most colds start, Va-tro-nol stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Used in time—at the first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol spreads through the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

A Practical Guide For Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds, shorter colds and milder colds by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use throughout the country. Full details of the Plan come in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol.

DUBACH MEN TO WORK ON CONSERVATION PLAN

DUBACH, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—At a recent meeting presided over by the parish agricultural agent, J. A. Shealy, parish and ward cotton committeemen were instructed to assist in working out a comprehensive long-time farm and soil conservation program in cooperation with the federal government, which is designed to replace the temporary soil conservation adjustment plan now being enacted by congress for this year.

Farmers will be canvassed by the committeemen on the following points: What acreage will be planted to various crops in 1936 if there is no government adjustment program. What acreage should be planted to various crops in 1936 if the federal government adopts an adjustment program which will pay for (a) control erosion, (b) maintain the fertility of the soil, (c) produce food and feed needed for the farm.

COOLIDGE HOME AUCTION SLATED

Furniture Of Late President Scheduled To Be Sold In Spring

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Furniture with which the late President Calvin Coolidge set up housekeeping 30 years ago will go under a Northampton auctioneer's hammer this spring.

Auctioneer George Bean, a justice of peace and court probation officer, listed the pieces, now in storage today. No date has been set for the sale, but it is expected it will be completed before Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, the president's widow, returns from a trip to England.

Coolidge, who rose from mayor of this city to become the 30th president of the United States, left his imprint even in the auction list. The articles for sale include two small zinc-lined chests in which cigars were shipped here from Washington and which the late president carefully saved with his customary frugality.

Other historical pieces included practically all the oak furnishings of the modest Massasoit street duplex house to which Coolidge took his bride after their wedding in October, 1905. These furnishings include a complete oak bedroom set, believed to be the first purchased by the couple after their marriage, an oak dining room set and numerous chairs.

MAE WEST NOT TO TAKE PART IN BROADWAY SHOW

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Mae West stepped from a train today, picked up a retinue of police and detectives and motored to a hotel where she emphatically denied her intention of accepting an offered part in "Jubilee," current Broadway hit production.

"I am not interested in playing in any New York shows," she said, "and I'll make no stage appearances there."

The movie star explained she would be in New York "probably a couple of weeks" to renew old acquaintances and do some shopping. Within a month, she said, she must be back in Hollywood to start work on a new picture.

Her explanation for the bodyguard that met her at the depot was that she "just didn't want to take a chance with the crowd." Her manager, James Timony, said several hundred persons boarded the train at Kansas City last night, and that the escort here was a precaution against a similar experience.

Miss West and Timony will leave for New York tomorrow.

AIR FORCE COMMANDER PAYS MITCHELL TRIBUTE

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commanding general of the army's GHQ air force, paid tribute here today to Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, "stormy petrel" of the air force for whom last rites were to be held today in Milwaukee.

"The death of General Mitchell was a stunning blow to U. S. aviation," Gen. Andrews said.

He expressed regret he was unable to reach Milwaukee in time to attend the services.

Gen. Andrews planned to depart during the afternoon for Washington, returning from the west where he attended air force and navy maneuvers on the coast.

SAFEGUARDING RAILROAD JOB MAY BE REQUESTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Railroad labor may ask congress for legislation to safeguard jobs in terminal mergers.

After assailing the 11-city terminal consolidation plan proposed by Joseph B. Eastman, railroad coordinator, the railroad labor executive committee voted to ask for protective legislation unless it can obtain a protective agreement from the carriers.

J. A. Phillips, vice-chairman of the committee and president of the order of railway conductors, said today "amazing facts" were disclosed by a labor investigation of the Eastman plan.

Each project would mean the loss of jobs, he said, and the whole plan would throw not less than 1,000 men out of work.

ILL HEALTH LED WARDEN TO QUIT

Prison Directors Make Statement Of Resignation Of Holohan

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Feb. 22.—(AP)—State prison directors declared today the announced resignation of Warden James B. Holoman was in no way linked with their investigation of a counterfeit ring inside San Quentin prison.

Both the prison board and Holohan said his resignation was due to ill health that followed a severe beating he received from escaping convicts in January, 1935.

The resignation is effective March 31. By then the board hopes its investigation will have been completed.

Nine paroled and imprisoned convicts have been named in the bogus money plot, which had its base of operations in the prison photo engraving plant. The nine men are in custody.

Secret service agents said at least $10,000 in spurious money had been made inside prison walls.

Warden Holohan, appointed in 1927, was critically beaten a year ago last month by four convicts who invaded his home during a parole board meeting. One man was killed and the other three captured.

The latter included Alexander MacKay, whose death sentence brought an appeal for a reprieve from the British consul in San Francisco. MacKay, a British subject, last week asked King Edward VIII to intercede.

China and India together have as great a population now as the entire world had a little more than a hundred years ago.

HOUSES AT LOW PRICE FHA PLAN

Developing Arrangements For Homes Costing As Low As $1,800

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The federal housing administration disclosed today it is developing plans for homes costing as little as $1,800.

Housing Administrator Etewart McDonald said that at this price, persons earning between $800 and $2,000 a year could acquire homes, making monthly payments on long term mortgages. The payments, he said, would be cheaper than rent.

The homes would be of frame construction and would have two bedrooms, a living room, kitchen and bathroom.

Dependent upon real estate prices in various sections, he declared, it would be possible for a person with between $300 and $600 in cash to make the down payments for a home and lot.

The homes would be built by private enterprise, but it is believed the government might insure the mortgages. McDonald emphasized FHA is not trying to force its ideas on builders.

BOX CAR IS DAMAGED BY FIRE ON SATURDAY

A box car on a siding near the old Swayze packing house on the Millhaven road was partially destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. Truck number 5 from the central station answered the call and reported the fire had apparently been caused by tramps who had dropped lighted cigarettes. The box car was empty at the time.

...TERRAPLANE

JUST COMPARE

THIS with THIS

Terraplane alone among all popular low priced cars gives you this:

- Full 115-inch wheelbase.
- 195 inches over-all length.
- Most power—88 or 100 horsepower—with freedom from vibration at all speeds.
- Body all of steel, with seamless roof of solid steel.
- Most inside room—145 cubic feet—more leg and shoulder room, and widest rear seat.
- Completely new style—best insurance of the investment value of your car.
- The only rear opening baggage and tire compartment on 5 and 6-passenger models that can be had in any low priced car without extra cost. Spare tire lies flat inside.
- Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for), two braking systems operating automatically from one brake pedal. And a third braking system from the easiest operating parking brake in the world.
- Extra deep "V-type" windshield—for added beauty and wider vision.

- 2 to 6 inches less wheelbase.
- 5 to 12½ inches less over-all length.
- 3 to 18 less horsepower than Terraplane's 88—and not nearly as smooth.
- Body only partly of steel—or steel body with "soft-top."
- Less inside room—less shoulder and leg room—narrower rear seats.
- 1935 styling, changed only in details. Far more likely to be out of date by 1937.
- No rear opening baggage and tire compartment, except in cars where trunk models are available—at considerable extra cost. Spare tire mounted outside on all other models.
- Single main braking system—either hydraulic or mechanical—without complete reserve braking system and without Terraplane's type of easy acting parking brakes.
- Nothing like Terraplane's deep "V-type" windshield in any other low priced car.

The list of Terraplane advantages doesn't stop with those listed here. There's greater ruggedness, proved by owner mileages of 125,000, 150,000 and more. Greater economy, too, certified by thousands of sworn owner statements ... emphasized again just the other day in the Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run when a Terraplane averaged 23.95 officially certified miles per gallon over a tough 352 mile stretch on mountain roads.

And dozens of other features ... all at a price down with the lowest for the model you want. Come in and see and drive a Terraplane.

Rumors Of Betrothals And Plans Of Spring Weddings Heard

Jean Dryburgh To Wed University Professor

After Marriage In May, Monroe Girl Will Go To Tuscaloosa To Establish Home On Alabama Campus

By Eve Bradford

The gentle little rustling sound you hear at this time is spring awakening from her long winter slumber. Any day now we can expect to see the forsythia bursting into bloom and red-bud flaunt scarlet banners. When the golden forsythia radiates sunshine into the soul we know that winter is really on the run.

Everywhere we go we hear about bright new spring prints and we see our lovely young moderns in trim gray tailleurs with coral blouses and blue gloves, in spring green evening gowns with flowers in their hair. While all this conversation about new spring clothes goes on at tea and bridge parties, we hear rumors of bethrothals and plans for springtime weddings. Spring is most certainly the time for brides. Despite the gentle showers which threaten new spring gowns and chapeaux, bridal processions continue to occupy an important position in the social scheme of things. Lovely Jean Dryburgh, home from a visit with friends at the University of Alabama, her alma mater, has just announced her engagement and, after her wedding in May, will go back to live among the intelligentsia on faculty row. Her fiance is a professor of political science at the university. Plans are already taking shape for this event, which will reflect all the breath-taking beauty of May.

Georgine Cole and John Holmes are deep in plans for their wedding on the fourth of March. It will be a quiet affair at the Cole plantation home, yet Georgine is as busy as the proverbial bee assembling her trousseau and viewing the changes made in the home of John's parents, where he will take his bride.

Last week was rather splendorous, if one reckons by large, colorful events, concourses of people, receptions and luncheons. It seemed quite like the good old days to those old friends who met in Mrs. W. F. Cummings' home for luncheon, the like of which can be found in no other abode. Dolly Matteson, back home for her annual visit, was radiating happiness in the midst of friends dating back to the days of pigtails and short skirts. Seven league boots could have been used advantageously by Mrs. Matteson last week, when she was whisked from one affair to another. Satchie Snellings' charming little talk fest and afternoon of feasting on specialties of the house and sipping sparkling vino of the Snellings' favorite brand was a perfect gem of an entertainment.

Mamie Sparks' luncheon in that well ordered, beautiful home of hers was a close rival and set the pace for other events crowding each moment of last week. Janet Powell, who likes to express her individuality, went to the other extreme and dined with Mrs. Matteson at the cafeteria, where they toyed with their food to the accompaniment of their own laughter, as some happy incident of their childhood was recalled. Far from the formality of the luncheon table and quite oblivious to the whole world, they spent a care free, unforgetable hour.

The reception at Lakeside Country club, permitting friends to pay their respects to the first lady of Louisiana, Anna Gray Noe, was the chef d'oeuvre of the entire season. The lounge, with cheerful firelight glow, exotic flowers everywhere, perky little straw hats with beaming faces underneath and the hum of conversation quite drowning out the orchestra, possessed an atmosphere indescribable. Perhaps it was the harmony of thought that prevailed and the general air of good cheer and happiness that made one linger, quite reluctant to make one's adieu.

Anna Gray might have stepped down from the frame of one of Watteau's paintings, so regal, gracious and feminine was she in the Paris gown designed for her by Lucille. Her sister, Gladys Parrish, who has always shared her joys and sorrows, was close at hand. She is a lovely looking person, with sufficient personal magnetism to be singled out in any crowd. Carrie McKenzie, hostess on this occasion, certainly had an eye for beauty when she selected those certain few from among her many friends to stand in the decorative receiving line.

Traditional gayety of Mardi Gras will blend with the warmth of hospitality extended by the Robert Laytons on Shrove Tuesday, when they will be hosts to the younger dancing set at a typical Mardi Gras ball. With the season of gayety at hand, it is interesting to note that the first Mardi Gras parade float held in New Orleans dates back to 1839. It was a fighting cock six feet tall drawn in a carriage by two horses. It flapped its wings and crowed and was wildly cheered.

Varnell-Fitzgerald

The interest of many friends in this section of the state is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Fitzgerald of this city, and Mr. Charles C. Varnell of Shreveport.

The double ring ceremony was performed Sunday morning, February 16, at 8 o'clock, at the bride's home, 402 Louisville avenue, with Rev. E. B. Huntsberry, pastor of the First Baptist church of West Monroe, officiating in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends.

The reception suite was banked with beautiful flowers and an improvised altar flanked with tall cathedral tapers in wrought iron floor candelabra in the background. Urns of jonquils, daisies, primroses and ferns formed an aisle leading to the altar.

The bride wore a beautiful model of exquisite blue triple sheer with accessories of dark blue. Her corsage was of rosebuds an freesias. Miss Louise Fitzgerald wore a navy blue triple sheer model and a corsage of pink jaquinicas and single white hyacinths. Miss Key wore a smart gray model and corsage of orchids; Miss Blackmon, a lovely blue model and a corsage of orchids; Mrs. Mattie Fitzgerald, mother of the bride, and Mrs. M. S. Swingley, grandmother of the bride, were attired very becomingly in late spring models of crepe.

The handsome wedding gifts were on display. Conspicuous among them was the set of Wedgwood china and a complete set of silver.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Varnell left for New Orleans to spend their honeymoon. They will return to Shreveport and make their home at 1958 Louisiana avenue. Mrs. Varnell was for a number of years connected with Gregg-McKenzie Insurance company of Monroe, but before coming to Monroe was a resident of Shreveport, where she will now be welcomed by a large number of friends. Mr. Varnell, previously associated with Weeks Supply company of Monroe, is now with the Interstate Electric company of Shreveport.

Engagement Announced

The affectionate interest of society is centered today in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Dryburgh of the engagement of their daughter, Martha Jean, to Mr. E. Bascom Wright of Tupelo, Miss., the wedding to take place the latter part of May.

Miss Dryburgh, a direct descendant of Scottish nobility is a lovely young woman with great charm of personality.

Her grandfather was born near Dryburgh Abbey, one of the show places of Edinburgh, Scotland, and the resting place of Sir Walter Scott. The Dryburgh family is perhaps one of the most interesting and is of one of the most ancient lineages in Scotland. Miss Dryburgh has inherited the lovely blue eyes, the dark hair and the intelligence of her forbears.

Miss Dryburgh is a graduate of the University of Alabama and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Mr. Wright, a professor of political science at the University of Alabama, is a graduate of this university and a member of Lambda Chi Omega Alpha fraternity.

Bride-Elect Honored

Mrs. R. L. Frantom's compliment to Miss Caroline Butler, beautiful bride-elect, whose marriage to Mr. Guy Frantom will take place in the early part of March, was a miscellaneous shower in her home at 2707 Lee avenue. We predict with Mrs. M. J. Holmes and Mrs. W. A. Bennett co-hostesses.

As a result of an interesting game, [illegible] bride and bridegroom, Mrs. Tom Thomas received a prize.

Delicious [illegible] sandwiches, cake and [illegible] were served to Mrs. J. M. Tyson, Mrs. Drew Anderson, Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. D. B. Frantom [illegible] Mrs. B. A. MRS. B. H. BIGGERS

Of interest to friends in Louisiana and Mississippi is the marriage of Mr. Boyce Henderson Biggers and Miss Melba Delores Spain of Jackson, Mississippi, on the fifteenth of February in Jackson.

Mrs. Biggers attended Belhaven college, where she has been prominently connected with art activities. She was recently selected historian of the Mississippi Art association and at the time of her marriage was teaching art at Belhaven college.

Mr. Biggers received his degree in engineering from Mississippi State college and is now employed by the Louisiana Highway commission as engineer on the Ouachita river bridge now under construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Biggers are at home temporarily at 600 Riverside, this city.

Spring Prints

PARIS.—(AP)—Abyssinian and Chinese designs, birds, bees, snails and trees splash the new 1936 prints which will make the coming spring fashion collections.

Silhouette prints and aquarelles (water color drawing designs) are other new effects which appear in the season's prints.

Fabric designers seem to have used "everything under the sun" as a design motif on the new silks to provide a change from the overworked flower patterns. One designer sometimes puts a dozen different figures in one print.

A four-leaf clover, coral branch, bow and arrow, needle and thread, star, anchor, flag, heart and strawberry, all appear in white, chartreuse, rose, blue and beige silhouettes on one brown crepe. Singing yellow and white ducks with a scale of musical notes flying out of their bills, gay red and gray dancing harlequins and multicolored puzzle maps appear on the dark grounds of others.

An Abyssinian print splashed with caravans, bushes and lions and Chinese prints embroidered and printed in Chinese figures are other novelties, while prints patterned with colored parrots and bees printed behind a dark barred weave representing the cage or the honeycomb are among the most intriguing of the new designs. Leaf prints so realistic they even have colored worm holes patterned over a white background are also shown.

Aquarelles have been launched as something new in prints. In soft shaded tintings which look as though they had been handpainted on the crepe instead of stamped, and outlined with what looks like fine black ink tracery, they make striking effects. Aquarelle morning glories, roses and other old-fashioned flowers are splashed sparingly over crepes, leaving wide spaces between.

Blanchinni has launched new flower prints which vary in design from a tiny sprig of lily of the valley appearing about once every foot to huge morning glories or bouquets of roses. Some of the biggest flower prints Paris has used in years appear in the collection.

Citizenship Pilgrimage

Louisiana chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution are taking an active interest in the coming Good Citizenship Pilgrimage to be held in Washington, D. C., beginning April 17.

Various high school girls of the state will vie with each other for the post of Louisiana delegate. The contest has for its purpose the developing of citizenship responsibility among the girlhood of the nation and the winner will be selected on the basis of leadership and character.

The pilgrims from the various states will assemble in Washington on Friday, April 17. Following their arrival a "get-together" will be held in their honor. Saturday's program will include registration, sightseeing and a round of entertainment. On Sunday, the visiting delegates will be guests at a luncheon tendered them by Mrs. William A. Becker, president-general of the National Society of D. A. R.

Sunday afternoon they will visit Mount Vernon and Sunday night they will inspect the Library of Congress. On Monday they will visit the national Senate and House of Representatives and will be photographed in Constitutional Hall.

Tuesday morning they will be awarded good citizenship medals and Tuesday afternoon the convention will close and the delegates will leave for their respective homes. Mrs. Charles J. Bullock of Cambridge, Mass., will be the official chaperon for the party.

The pilgrimage will be financed jointly by the national society from its general funds and by the state organizations through a voluntary assessment of five cents per capita upon its membership.

Throughout the state, delegates are being chosen for the annual D. A. R. state convention to be held in the middle of March. During this convention Mrs. William A. Becker, president-general of the national society, will visit Louisiana.

Eddy To Sing

Mrs. Louis Hullum, president of the Louisiana Federated Music clubs, suggests that you tune in tonight on the General Motors concert an hear Nelson Eddy sing Wolff's tender love song, "Dubist so jung," and the great baritone solo from Meyerbeer's opera, "L'Africaine," "Adamastor, roi des vagues profondes." You will hear not only Nelson Eddy but the General Motors symphony concert in such beautiful numbers as the symphonic poem by Sibelius, "Finlandia," and the Bacchanale from "Samson and Delilah," by Saint-Saens.

To open the latter half of the concert Erno Rapee will conduct the orchestra in Wagner's "Albumblatt," during which Mishel Piastre, concert master of the General Motors Symphony orchestra, will play the violin solo passage. Piastro is also concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic orchestra. A second number will be "Triana," by Albeniz.

Two numbers will be sung by Eddy in his second appearance. These will be George Chadwick Stock's "Route Marchin'," a musical setting of one of the late Rudyard Kipling's most thrilling poems; and John Alden Carpenter's "Serenade," considered by many astute critics the finest song ever written by an American. The march from Respighi's "Pines of Rome" will be played by the orchestra to conclude the concert.

The nation-wide hook-up of 66 stations of the NBC-WEAF network will broadcast the program between 10 and 11 p.m., E. S. T.

International Program

Throughout the world during February an international program was being presented by Business and Professional Women's clubs in the hope that they may set a new pace in developing unity of purpose, oneness of viewpoint, tolerance and understanding, which are the ultimate keys to the brotherhood of nations.

The national federation, through its president, Miss Charl O. Williams, has accepted membership on the advisory committee of the bureau of the United States department of labor, to help the bureau bring about a better understanding of the working women's problems of today.

The bureau is asking certain national organizations to be represented on the committee. The bureau believes that rapidly shifting economic conditions make necessary a more general understanding of the part women have played and must play in the economic development of the nation.

"Of all women's organizations in the United States, the national federation should be particularly successful in work of this sort," Miss Williams said. "We have a 'Ten Year Objective' aimed at making our 60,000 members fit to assume leadership in thinking on economic problems."

Herbert Levy Honored

Mr. Herbert Levy, a young Monroe artist who is forging ahead and carving a name for himself in southern art circles, has just been admitted to the Southern Art league and will be privileged to show some of his paintings in the annual exhibit in Houston next month.

Mr. Levy, an outstanding member of the Monroe Sketch club, recently won first place in the contest sponsored by the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs. Many other honors have been conferred upon him. His work reveals exceptional freedom of form, color and composition and classic dignity. Several excellent character studies from Mr. Levy's brush show a flair for the picturesque. His still life paintings are most decorative, with rich color combinations emphasizing his artistic ability.

Monroe now boasts of two artists who have been accepted for membership in the Southern Art league and whose works have aroused much favorable comment in art circles of this state. Mrs. H. M. James, for a number of years president of the Sketch club, has also forged ahead and has several months of work in the art centers of Mexico to her credit.

SHOPPING FLASHES
Picked Up Around Town
By Irene

GOOD Morning Everybody! Want to get a kick out of life? . . . Crave a real honest to goodness wallop? . . . Then cast off the caracul and crawl out of the mittens. Come out of the clinches with old man winter and go on a spring shopping tour with me. It's springtime, time to feel new again, time for a fresh slant, a new permanent and some brand new clothes.

• • •

I ALWAYS shop for the best bargains in town, taking into consideration "quality" of course, so Jitney Jungle was on my list for groceries. Believe me, when I say that this grocery store is up to the minute for assortment, quality, and prices! . . . The personnel of these stores are exceptionally courteous and appreciative of your patronage.

• • •

THERE is one way to tell that spring has arrived in Monroe and that is a visit to the W. T. Grant store. Every counter, aisle and corner is filled to the brim with spring merchandise. New curtains for the windows, new electric lights, paint for the odd pieces, new clothes, new kitchen utensils, rugs, dress materials, apparel for baby, brother and big sister. Father comes in for his share also because they tell me no men's store in Monroe has been able to compete with Grant's on the price of a certain shirt that the men in "our family" have gone "agog" about.

• • •

SPRINGTIME is party time. So many ideas at this season of the year for parties . . . Bet you had a Washington birthday party didn't you? . . . St. Patrick's day will offer a fine idea also. Levi Stationery company has so many appropriate gifts and decorations, and many helpful hints that you'll surely want. Shopping at Levi's is so facinating especially since they have the new home gifts as well as gifts for your friends. I was delighted with the novelties in mirrors. Waste paper baskets fashioned in mirrors, cigarette cases of mirrors, powder jars, etc. Chromium liquor sets, blown silver glass novelties. The new books were being unpacked while I was there.

• • •

IN SPITE of the horrid winter we have just experienced, the little green shoots from small flowers are bound to grow. They'll need attractive company . . . or background I should say, so I took the advice of the Lane Wilson Seed company and bought just the proper flowers. Oh! Yes, they'll lend you a "planning hand" and before you leave this interesting store, where not only seed from every walk of the earth are gathered but where canary birds sing songs and little gold fish flirt around in attractive aquariums, your garden is on its way to beauty. Stop by the Lane Wilson Seed company on your next shopping tour . . . I'll guarantee real enjoyment.

• • •

OOEE-GEE! Gee! . . . What will that March wind which is just around the corner do to your rosy cheeks? . . . That very frank friend of yours, "the looking glass," will inform you at a glance the dryness of your skin . . . the need for a real skin food. I know the answer! . . . Thompson's Pharmacy has just received their spring line of the newest cosmetics and a visit there will prove a "beauty hint" for you. The man in your life notices "small details" . . . so rely on Thompson's Pharmacy cosmetics to put your skin in apple pie order.

• • •

YOU'VE heard it a thousand times . . . "All women are just alike" . . . but, all electric refrigerators are not alike . . . because the new 1936 Frigidaire is reputed to be the most "human" on the market. The new Frigidaire is backed by proof, guaranteed five years. Its most proven feature being the "Meter-Miser." This little gadget cuts the current cost one half and it's such a small little contraption . . . fits in your two hands . . . and is hidden away inside the mechanism of your Frigidaire . . . I found that the salesman has very little to do in selling the new 1936 Frigidaire, because the "proof" alone is doing the job in a big way. The Standard Office Supply has every size of the new models on display in their show rooms now at 125 St. John street. No obligation to see them, it's really instructive to note the improvements in electrical refrigeration. And,—Frigidaire has them all.

MY OLD car was hardly worth the worry it takes to start it so I accepted the invitation to ride in the new 1936 Oldsmobile. You know, every year, one great car always flashes to the front. Without a doubt, the Oldsmobile has come to the front to stay. The new Oldsmobile eight has everything that other cars have that cost from $300.00 to $1,200.00 more. Its "speed line beauty" . . . the body, breaks, engine, chassis are built for comfort, durability, beauty and economy. When I arrived uptown I simply had to ask questions. Every feature has its appeal. Its perfect equipment reminds you of a completely equipped kitchen . . . and what woman wouldn't like such conveniences. You can't find any fault . . . from the wheels to the price . . . it just suits we Americans. Twin City Motor company will gladly tell you all about it.

SO MANY of my friends had marveled at the "Third Floor" bargains in furniture at the Monroe Hardware company, on St. John street, so I dropped in . . . They have opened the doors to a complete bargain carnival. Why, if you need furniture, you couldn't conscientiously stay away from this store. Go down there tomorrow and see for yourself what furniture buys are yours . . . You'll agree with me that this large company means what they say when they announced a Third Floor Furniture Sale.

• • •

WELL, naturally, being Saturday I had to get a shampoo and set. The Pilcher Beauty Shop seemed to be foremost in the minds of every woman who has any need for beauty treatment (and that's every woman) . . . Feels grand to get into new clothes . . . gay clothes, doesn't it? But these things that feel so grand are deceptive togs. You've simply got to be as SMART as they are, yourself to get along with them. That means more and better care of your hands, your hair and your skin. It's easy to do at Pilcher's. The new beauty aids for spring are in order at their shop and their expertly trained staff assures you of perfect satisfaction. The whole world's athirst for loveliness! Make yourself a part of the picture by patronizing the Pilcher Beauty Shop, located in Ruths Dress Shop. "Their's is a trade that beauty service made."

• • •

FLATTERY is one thing that a woman can't resist and the new spring shoes at Holloway's & Thompson Shoe Store, 203 DeSiard street, is flattery of the subtlist and most effective kind. The hidden beauty and lines of your feet are brought out for the first time . . . The spring shoes have decidedly gone "two-tone" . . . almost every kind of leather imaginable in colors never attempted in shoes before. If its quality combined with beauty you want . . . this shoe store is the place to buy them. The new show windows at this store would win a prize for smartness . . . Strictly English in design, so new and different, that you'll linger on the outside longer, just drinking in its smart beauty . . . See if you don't agree with me.

• • •

OH! I won't have the space here to tell you of all the many beautiful things I saw uptown shopping yesterday . . . but, I'll be back next week with a "flash" . . . about Monroe's leading merchants.

Sincerely,
Irene.

Reception For Mrs. Noe Highlight Of Winter Social Season

Mrs. McKenzie Honors First Lady Of State

Beautifully-Gowned Women Throng Lakeside Country Club As Wife Of Governor Is Entertained

A gleaming event that proved to be the high moment of Monroe's winter social season was the reception at Lakeside Country club on Wednesday, with Mrs. James A. Noe, wife of Louisiana's new governor, the distinctive central figure, and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie the charming hostess.

A pageant of beautifully gowned women moved down the receiving line, where Mrs. Noe, graceful and distinguished and radiating the charm of her magnetic personality, stood with her hostess and other members of the receiving party. Mrs. Noe wore the superb imported gown by Lucille that was first worn when she attended the ball of Osiris in New Orleans, over which Governor Noe reigned as king. It is fashioned of ivory Duchess satin heavily encrusted with pearls and rhinestones. The drop shoulders, the tight fitting basque and the wide skirt ending in a long court train are most becoming to Mrs. Noe's distinctive type. White orchids splashed with purpe were worn at the waistline.

Mrs. McKenzie was a lovely figure in Adriatic blue lace with corsage of orchids. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. Thomas P. Bradley of Louisville, Ky., in black lace with corsage of pink sweet peas, pink roses and valley lilies; Mrs. Jack Parrish, in an engaging frock of blue flowered chiffon; Mrs. Harold Mouk, in smart black crepe model with a flattering neckline of lace and a corsage of roses; Mrs. Joseph Isaacman, in black chiffon model with flowers of vivid hue at her throat; Mrs. Edward Seymour, in a Madonna blue lace frock with corsage of pink Duchess roses; Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, in smart black taffeta model embroidered with soutache.

Others who assisted in receiving were Mrs. Carl McHenry, in black velvet afternoon model; Mrs. Elmer Slagle, in black and flesh colored chiffon model; Mrs. James R. Wooten, in black and white lace; Mrs. W. B Winterry, in floor length black taffeta model; Mrs. Robert Layton, in black velvet with crimson rose corsage; Mrs. Joseph Dawkins, in scarlet satin model with rhinestone trimming; Mrs. S. E. Huey in black starched lace; Mrs. William Quiggles, in flowered chiffon model; Mrs. S. A. Collins, in black floor length chiffon frock.

Throughout the club house, banked with gorgeous flowers and hung with graceful, sinuous lengths of southern smilax, all was mouvemente and delightful. Everyone crowded around the little group near the fireside, with Mrs. J. M. Noe, mother of the governor, sitting in the midst of a little gathering of intimates, where conversation was de rigueur. Mrs. Noe wore a black lace model with handsome antique brooch and an equisite corsage of old fashioned flowers. Seated in this charmed circle were Mrs. T. F. Causey, Mrs. John Bostick, Mrs. George Snellings, Mrs. T. L. Morris, Mrs. S. L. Wright, Mrs. O. G. Dawkins and Miss Sadie Foster.

The dining room was a maze of guests surging around the tea table, covered with handsome renaissance lace and banked high with pink roses, pink camelias, orchil tulips, blue forget-me-nots and yellow daisies. These flowers were the very quintessence of springtime and radiated their beauty to every section of the dining room.

Mrs. John L. Keenan, who poured tea, wore a distnctive model of pink crepe, beautifully embroidered in pink crystals. Mrs. L. P. Milner, presiding over the coffee service, wore a black chiffon model with corsage fashioned of gayly colored spring blossoms.

Delicious confections were served, with Mrs. F. B. Holt, Mrs. Nathan Gaston, Mrs. Ned Wilson, Hrs. M. M. Underwood, Mrs. M. E. Perry and Miss Rupert Perry, beautifully frocked, moving among the guests.

Four lovely members of the younger set, Miss Gay Noe, in Nile green taffeta, floor length frock; Miss Nibbie McKenzie, a vibrant flame in crimson floor length model; Miss Barbara McKenzie, in pink taffeta, and Miss Jane McKenzie, in white crepe model, assisted in the serving.

Noted among the guests who paid their respects to the hostess and her guest of honor, Mrs. Noe, were:

Mrs. Jean McRoberts, Mrs. George Lester, Mrs. L. C. Chambers, Mrs. Neighbors, Mrs. Wiliam Bendel, Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. T. J. Sandridge, Mrs. B. Card Club Meets

Charming hospitality was extended in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Trousdale Friday night, when they welcomed members of the Married People's Card club in the spacious drawing room of their lovely old home on Hudson lane.

Card tables appointed with linens and silver were arranged for the delicious three-course supper served the guests upon arrival.

The gifts for high scores presented by the hostess at the conclusion of the interesting games of cards were handsome linens. They were claimed by Mrs. J R. Gilhula, Mrs. Victor Barringer, Mr. B. D. Hodges and Mr. George Weaks. Mrs. T. C. Rowland and Mrs. E. Simon of Baton Rouge, guests of the club, were favored with lovely gifts for remembrance.

This delightful evening was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. George Weaks, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Frizzell, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horuff, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gilhula, Mrs. Minnie Ruffin, Mrs. Janet Powell, Mrs. Victor Barringer, Mrs. Percy Sandel, Mrs. F. P Stubbs, Mrs. J. W. McWilliams, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Stubbs, Mrs. T. C. Rowland and Mrs. E. Simon.

Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Magill of Hillsboro, Ohio, were privileged to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary February the eleventh in the home of their daughter, Mrs. O. C. Johnson, in this city.

The day was exceedingly happy, with friends offering their sincere felicitations and gifts presented to the happy celebrants from old friends and relatives residing in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Magill claim the distinction of being the fifth members of the family to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Magill's parents observed their golden wedding anniversary in 1902.

Mr. and Mrs. Magill were both born in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they resided until Mr. Magill's retirement in 1930 as a valued employe of the Railway Exchange agency. They are both active and interested in life as it is being lived today.

The family comprises two daughters, Mrs. Wallace Wiseman of Chillicothe, Ohio, and Mrs. Oscar C. Johnson of Monroe, and a son, Mr. A. C. Magill of Indianapolis, Ind. The five grandchildren are Robert Wiseman, senior at Miami university; Martha Jane Wiseman, Henrietta and Martha Catherine Magill and Harry T. Magill the third, of Oxford, Ohii.

Choir To Appear Here

Considerable interest is being manifested in musical circles over the initial appearance in this city of the State Teachers' college Vesper choir of Hattiesburg, Miss., on the 26th of March under the auspices of the Senior Federated Music clubs of Monroe. This concert will be an important feature of the program now being arranged for the Louisiana Federation of Music clubs convention in this city.

The Vesper choir was organized in the fall of 1930 at the Mississippi State Teachers' college for the purpose of gaining experience in professional concertizing and also to acquaint the musical public in various sections of the country with the caliber of vocal ensemble composed of youthful southern singers. The personnel of this talented group consists of sixty students from the State Teachers' college.

Last April the Vesper choir journeyed to Philadelphia, Penn., and sang with great success at the National Federation of Music clubs biennial convention. It was one of three visiting choruses to receive encores during the week of music at Philadelphia, the other two choruses being professional choruses from the northwestern part of the United States. Next October the choir will go to Dallas, Texas, to represent Mississippi on Mississippi day at the Central Centennial exposition on invitation of the Texas Federation of Music clubs.

The choir will be conducted by Frank Earl Marsh, Jr., one of the outstanding American interpreters of choral music in the south. Bernice Spratler, dramatic soprano, Vivian M. Kuhl, violincellist, and William Morgan Keller, violinist, will be presented as soloists with the choir in its concert here. All three of these young American artists rank with the most capable young soloists on the concert stage today.

It is the ideal of National Federation of Music clubs to present music by American composers and performers.

To Visit Alexandria

Mrs. Wayne Huckaby, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Jason Johnson, Mrs. C. L. Mengis, Mrs. Francis Blazier and Miss May Faulk will motor to Alexandria next Friday to meet Mrs. Melville Mucklestone, national president of the American Legion auxiliary, who will visit the government hospital and deliver a talk at the Red Cross hut at ten o'clock Friday morning.

As national president of the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Mucklestone of Chicago, Ill., is leading the largest women's patriotic organization in the world. Under her leadership, the auxiliary's 400,000 members are carrying out a broad program of civic and patriotic activities in support of the work of the American Legion.

Mrs. Mucklestone was elected national president at the national convention in St. Louis in September and will serve for one year. Her election came as a result of ten years of continuous service in the auxiliary in local, county, state and national offices, during which she demonstrated her brilliant ability as an organizer and leader of auxiliary activities.

Mrs. Mucklestone's ability as an orator is widely known and she has been in constant demand as a speaker, not only for legion and auxiliary events, but for clubs and public gatherings. Thorough business and college training have given her the background for dealing with large organization problems. She was secretary to the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester company for five years, and for one year assistant advertising manager of the National Safety council. In 1929 she organized the women's division of "Know Your Chicago" department of the Outing and Recreation bureau, a service operated by the public utility companies of Chicago.

During the World war, Mrs. Mucklestone served in the Red Cross and aided in the sale of Liberty bonds. She is eligible to the auxiliary through the service of her husband, Melville Mucklestone, a Chicago attorney, who served as a flying lieutenant during the World war.

Style Notes

By Adelaide Kerr

"Red" hair is stealing the spotlight from blondes. Less rouge and a smooth "mat" make-up is in the 1936 decree. Lipstick is vivid and painted on with a brush.

Spanish hats are the latest news in spring headgear. They are black straw toques with a ridge rising across the top like a Spanish comb. Two carnations tucked in front of the ridge and a chenille dotted veil hanging down the back complete the Carmen effect.

All the new bags have handles Bags for street and shopping are deep calf pouches swung from big leather rings or straps. Afternoon bags of black faille or taffeta are smaller pouches all narrowing at the top. Many of them are shirred or pleated.

White lingerie blouses are coming in with spring fashions. Some are made of sheer white washable cottons as tailored as the old-fashioned shirtwaist; others are lace trimmed. Their designer says they are intended to give women "a clean fresh look reminiscent of the nineties."

Collar scarves are another smart spring lingerie note. They are white pique collars with two triangles rising on either side of the chin and long ends which tie back or front.

Spring Folderols

By Adelaide Kerr

Necklaces, earrings and belts designed by Reine Bailly show a touch of the picturesque period of "perfume, poets and lacy frills." Both glamorous and rustic designs reflect the days when the Austrian consort of Louis XVI "queened it" at Versailles.

Besides these there are "star belts" of dark blue leather cut out with tiny stars which have pale blue leather underneath. Two silver stars fasten the belt. Rows of velvet ribbon worked in loops and fastened with a gold bow knot make other striking accents for spring cocktail frocks.

Bracelets are designed in the same way and clamped close to the wrist like a cuff by means of a silver bar. Necklaces of big dull gold links studded with seed pearls alternating with large crystal links are other striking accessories for spring.

Among the new neck touches is a little collar of pale blue linen to which a circular frivol of crocheted blue net is attached to cascade just over the collarbones. It adds a spring-like touch to a black frock.

Besides the accessories inspired by the romantic period there are others which are distinctly modern. Clips and buckles which are simple coils and knots of rope lacquered with a silver paint and silver rings in the form of a hollow square topped with the wearer's monogram are among the smartest.

Mrs C. L. Couch Addresses Crosley P.-T. A On Founders' Day

Fifth District Leader Stresses Child Welfare

Benefit Performance To Be Given February 28 By Twin City Council At Auditorium Of Parish High School

An address by Mrs. C. L. Couch, fifth district director of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and teachers, featured the Founders' day program at the meeting of the Crosley school P.-T. A., held at the school in West Monroe.

Mrs. Couch used as her theme "Why We Observe Founders' Day," and urged that the primary ideals of child welfare, as outlined by the pioneer Parent-Teachers organizations, be carried on with the same faithfulness that figured in the lives of the founders of the association 39 years ago.

"The Founders day birthday celebration is held during the month of February to commemorate the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers on February 17, 1897. This year we celebrate the 39th anniversary of the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"We do well to honor these far-seeing founders and their ideals. We hold firm the hope that we shall reach their ideals of service in promoting the well being of every child. It is well for us to check our worthiness to carry the torch and to pause and ask: 'How much is an ideal worth to me? Is it worth a sacrifice of ease of mind and heart? Is it worth days and months of continuous work? Is it worth the time which might have been spent in other satisfactions?' Ask as we will: we may be sure that these same questions were in the minds of our founders and pioneer workers. It was not easy for them nor is it easy for us to hold the torch for others. Many difficulties arose, many obstacles had to be overcome, yet the ideals of the founders were so powerful, inspiring and compelling as to out weight the cost of personal effort. The results are as we know them—an organization of which we may well be proud and one which we must strive to maintain by testing the strength of our own ideals.

"As we honor our founders, Mrs. Theo, Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and other pioneers of Parent-Teacher work whose interest in child welfare has been outstanding, let us be inspired not only to pay tribute to our pioneers but to take stock of ourselves and our organization and to ascertain how nearly the challenge of this day and age is being wisely met. This we shall indeed have paid the perfect tribute.

"We observe Founders day that we may become acquainted with the contributions made by our pioneers and to set new goals for our attainment. The backward look clarifies the reason for our existance, the forward look emphasizes the need for continued support of the movement and makes clear the place we must take if a progressive program for child welfare is to be continued."

Twin City Council

Members of the Twin City P.-T. A. council met at the Central Grammar school to complete plans for the Major Doodad's Amateur Hour, to be held at the Ouachita parish high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. February 28.

A varied program, consisting of songs, dances, readings, accordian solos, pianologues, magician acts, negro dialogues, orchestra music and other features, was planned. Members of the council will participate.

The council was assured that bridge toll for residents of West Monroe having tickets to the performance would be lifted on the night of presentation.

The judges have already been chosen to select the winners. Two cash prizes will be awarded.

The proceeds from the performance will be used to defray the expenses of the council president at the state P.-T. A. convention in Lafayette and to meet other obligations of the organization.

Persons interested in participating in the program are requested to telephone Mrs. E. P. Cudd. Her telephone number is 3492.

The Founders' day program of the Central Grammar school P.-T. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Homer Chilton, 417 St. John street, Monday afternoon, February 17.

A handsome orange and blue birthday cake was surmounted by four orange-colored candles. Mrs. Chilton lighted the first candle with these words: "We light this candle in affectionate remembrance of Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, the founder of this Nation Congress of Parents and Teachers, who lighted the way for us in our work for the welfare of the children of the nation."

The second candle was lighted by Mrs. H. S. Wilkie, who said, "Irrespective of creed or condition, we stand for all parenthood, childhood, home hood. In the child and in the treatment of him rests the solution of the problems which confront the state and society today."

Mrs. W. B. Mangham, in lighting the third candle, said: "To cure was the voice of the past; to prevent, the divine whisper of today. May the whisper grow into a mighty shout throughout the land until all mankind takes it up as the battle cry."

The final candle was lighted by Mrs. W. R. Mosley, who said: "Let mothers, fathers, nurses, educators, ministers, legislators and, mightiest of all for its swift, far-reaching influence, the press, make the child the watchword and ward of the day and hour; let all else be secondary, and coming generations will behold a new world and a new people."

The cake was cut by Mrs. Chilton, vice-president of the group. It was served with punch to the teachers and parents in attendance.

Sherrouse P.-T. A.

Despite the inclement weather the Founders' day celebration of the Sherrouse school P.-T. A. was thoroughly enjoyed Wednesday night.

During the short business session, Mrs. C. F. Horton was appointed summer-round-up chairman and asked to register at once with the state chairman, Mrs. J. E. Rooks of Shreveport.

Mrs. W. M. Mitchell read the national president's message, citing the heroism and bravery of our pioneer ancestors, "founders," all of them. Her closing paragraph was: "Never must we be content with old customs and ideas; always must we go forward with eyes on the horizon, our minds eagerly receptive and our energies ready to cope with new situations. These will lead us into unhappy and painful experiences but in this wise only shall we justify the courage and the heartbreaking toil of our founders."

The state president this month suggested that friendliness which characterize the "spirit of the P.-T. A." be expressed especially by the officers and leaders of each local.

Sterlington P.-T. A.

STERLINGTON, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—A Founders' day program, including a play entitled "Reminiscence," was presented at the February meeting of the A. L. Smith school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The play portrayed the founding of the national congress. The cast was composed of Mrs. Gilfard Wright, Mrs. Paul Purser, Mrs. Mack Naff, Mrs. Merline Veatch and two school children. The play ended with a candle-lighting ceremony.

A short business session was held, during which reports from the various committee chairmen were heard.

The second and seventh grades tied for having the greatest number of parents present. Each was given an award.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

To Visit State

The Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, through Mrs. Albert L. Smith, its president, has announced the forthcoming visit to the state of Miss Alice Sowers, specialist in parent education.

Parent education conferences will be held in Shreveport Wednesday, March 4, and Baton Rouge Friday, March 6. In Baton Rouge, the conference will be held at the capitol building and will be in the charge of Miss Clyde Mobley, state chairman of parent education. Mrs. C. R. McKnight, parent education chairman of the fourth district, will preside in Shreveport. At each conference, to begin at 9:30 a.m., outstanding educators will discuss adult education in the public school program. These conferences will be attended by parent education leaders, potential leaders and interested members of Parent-Teacher associations.

Through training and experience, Miss Alice Sowers is well equipped for her work as a parent education specialist. A native of Ohio, she received her bachelor of science degree in home economics at Miami university, her master of arts in education at the University of Cincinnati and, as Spelman fellow at Cornell university, she did work toward the degree of doctor of philosophy on a joint research in the department of family life, education and social and economic problems of the family. In carrying the parent education program of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers to the various states, Miss Sowers gives addresses before conventions and other public gatherings to interpret parent education to the community and to stimulate the organization of study groups; holds conferences with educators to develop parent education leadership; and conducts conferences and schools for parents with parents and teachers to plan programs for study groups and methods of carrying on the work. Miss Sowers conducts the "In Our Neighborhood" department in the National Parent-Teacher magazine. She is also co-author of the feature called "It's Up To Us," appearing in the same magazine. During the past three years, her duties have taken her to all sections of the United States. Her headquarters, when not in the field, is the national office of National Congress of Parents and Teachers in Washington, D. C. She attended, as a delegate, the meeting of the World Federation of Education associations and the International Federation of Home, which were held in Dublin, Ireland, July 29 to August 4, 1933.

Parent education has been one of the major projects of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers since its organization in 1897. The present parent education program of the national congress seeks to furnish ship guidance to parents in their everyday experiences with their children; to train study group leaders; to bring about better understanding and closer cooperation between parents and teachers; and to make the community a better place for children.

Joint Program

JONESBORO, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—A Founders' day program was presented at the Jonesboro-Hodge High school, with the P.-T. A.'s of the high school and the Jonesboro and Hodge Grammer schools participating.

Mrs. W. E. Walker called the meeting to order and presented Mrs. E. E. Ramsey, the high school P.-T. A. president, who gave the address of welcome. Mrs. David Bell, president of the Hodge P.-T. A. was presented. The response to the welcoming address was spoken by Morelle Emmons.

The program was in the charge of Mrs. Dave Miller. The feature number was a play entitled "Reminiscense." The cast was as follows: "Young Mrs. Morgan," Miss Lorenza Hayes; "Mother Morgan," Mrs. Tom Carlin; "The Leader," Mrs. A. G. McKenzie; "President of P.-T. A.," Mrs. Jerry Frazier.

Other items on the program consisted of a piano solo by Mrs. McKenzie and a reading of the national P.-T. A. president's message by Mrs. Frank Stewart.

Following the presentation of the program, the assemblage was invited to the home economics department of the school, where refreshments were served.

Ostrich Plume Tops New Spring Chapeau

A flaring curled feather tops this saucy little black straw hat. The headpiece is worn slanted low above the eyes, and the plume, slotted through the brim, cascades over the crown.

Choudrant

After the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. M. Bagwell, and the minutes read and business introduced by the secretary, Mrs. Fred Taylor, Miss Sophie Stone, Lincoln parish home demonstration agent, took charge. Miss Stone discussed the planting and transplanting of roses and evergreens and the economy and advisability of saving various seeds from season to season. She also demonstrated the pruning of shrubbery, methods and equipment. At the conclusion of the meeting Miss Stone presented all the members with a large redbud plant.

Mrs. C. L. Mondart and Mrs. Grady Kelley entertained on Wednesday afternoon with a shower honoring Mrs. P. F. Roberts, a newcomer to Choudrant, and the wife of the new Methodist minister. The shower came as a surprise to the honoree and at the end of the afternoon she very ably thanked the hostesses and friends for the collections of nice gifts received.

During the afternoon a number of contests were indulged in by the guests at the conclusion of which it was found that Mrs. M. E. Kidd and Mrs. N. Adrian Clinton had won the prizes.

At the conclusion of the festivities a delightful refreshment course, including chicken salad, cookies and coffee were served to Mrs. W. L. Harris, Mrs. O. H. Futrell, Mrs. P. F. Roberts, Mrs. C. L. Madden, Mrs. J. A. O'Neal, Mrs. M. E. Kidd, Mrs. J. H. Elmiston, Mrs. N. Adrian Clinton, Mrs. H. R. Ford, Mrs. H. L. Willis, Mrs. John E. Ford, Mrs. Rebecca Parnell, Mrs. D. E. Ford, Mrs. Myra B. Holstead and the two hostesses.

Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Missionary society of Choudrant Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. H. M. Bagley. After the devotional by the leader, Mrs. M. E. Kidd, there was a general discussion on the book of Genesis. A collection of leading questions on this book having been furnished by the general assembly, the discussion took the form of a class. Mrs. Kidd asking the questions, which were answered and references discussed by the other members. Mrs. Bagley furnished an interesting addition and help to the meeting in the form of a Biblical sampler depicting the book of Genesis, the Garden of Eden, Noah and the Ark, the trees of Life and Knowledge, the murder of Abel by Cain and Cain's subsequent banishment. This sampler has been a valued possession of Mrs. Bagley's family for generations, having been made in 1815 by 11-year-old Ellen Stubbs of Kansas.

At the conclusion of the meeting the circle adjourned to meet next with Mrs. F. E. Lindahl for a royal service program.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. O. W. Hogan, Mrs. M. E. Kidd, Mrs. N. Adrian Clinton and Mrs. H. M. Bagley.

Circle No. 2 of this society met Monday afternoon with Mrs. L. T. Kirkland. In charge of the program was Mrs. C. F. Brewster, who conducted a royal service program.

Lake Providence

Mrs. H. L. Harkey is back home again, to the delight of her family and many friends, and brought with her her new litte daughter, Allien, who has been named for her mother.

The birthday of Mrs. A. W. Johnson was the inspiration for a charming little party in her honor, with Mrs. J. B. Wade and Mrs. Z. L. Buffington as co-hostesses. Plans were carried out for Mrs. Johnson to be the noon dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Allbritton. When she returned home in the early afternoon, she was surprised by the guests awaiting her arrival in the living room of her home. Lovely handkerchiefs, home canned fruits, and toilet articles were among the many gifts presented the honoree. Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Buffington served individual cakes and coffee to the following present: Mrs. Charlie Moore of Monroe, Mrs. T. E. Skirvin, Mrs. John Summers, Mrs. Alex Busch, Mrs. S. H. Allbritton, Mrs. Rudy Gerlach, Mrs. C. T. Woods, Mrs. W. W. Beasley, Mrs. W. E. Megison, Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, Mrs Vernon E. Lewis and Mrs. A. W. Johnson.

The Baptist Women's Missionary union met at the Baptist church for their Bible study. The Rev. Paul Jones, pastor, who is teaching the class, gave a most interesting lesson from John, first chapter. The monthly business meeting was held following the lesson.

A group of intimate friends were entertained at a delightfully planned surprise birthday party complimentary to Mrs. R. D. White and Mrs. Evans Reitzell at the home of Mrs. M. D. Ballard, with Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. E. T. Hobson hostesses. The Valentine theme featured the games and contests offered as the afternoon's pleasures. In a word making contest, Mrs. Clyde Bradford was awarded the prize. Mrs. S. H. Allbritton was presented the prize as winner in the heart game. Mrs. C. L. Wilson won the award in a Bible contest. In the late afternoon the large birthday cake, frosted in white and decorated with motto hearts, was cut and served with coffee and heart-shaped mints. The Valentine motif was portrayed in the presentation of the lovely gifts to Mrs. White and to Mrs. Reitzell. The packages were fashioned into a heart shape and tied with ribbons and hearts. Those present were: Mrs. Paul Jones, Mrs. S. H. Allbritton, Mrs. W. W. Beasley, Mrs. C. W. Wilson, Patricia Beasley, Mrs. Clyde Bradford, Mrs. John Dawes, Johnnie Ray Dawes, Mrs. N. A. Kees, Mrs. Charles Riser, Mrs. M. G. White, Mrs. W. E. Megison, Mrs. W. B. Perkins, Mrs. Z. L. Buffington, Mrs U. N. Bradford, Mrs. J. W. McDonald, Mrs. Evans Reitzell, Billy Ray Reitzell, Virginia Reitzell, Mrs. R. D. White, Johnnie Claire White, Mrs. E. T. Hobson, Murphy David Ballard, Jr., Raymond Ballard, Billy Ruth Ballard, Wanda Ballard and Mrs. M. D. Ballard.

The senior girls' and boys' class and their teacher, Mrs. S. H. Allbritton of the Baptist Sunday school, enjoyed a Valentine party at the home of Miss Ada Woods, with the boys of the class, winners in a recent membership drive, as honor guests, and the girls of the class as hostesses. Valentine games were played and Valentine contests conducted. The heart hunt was a most interesting feature of the entertainment, and resulted in the presentation of Valentine candies to a winning group. A delicious chicken-spaghetti supper was served. Those present included: Miss Helen Chapman, Damon Bradford, Miss Bertrice Corbin, Morris Andrews, Herman Megison, Mathew Basil, Wilbur Kraft, Purcel Craft, Miss Evelyn Blair, R. C. Craft, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kirk, the Misses Fleta and Ada Woods, Mrs. C. T. Woods and Mrs. S. H. Allbritton.

The program on "Home Missions" was in the charge of Miss Bertrease Corbin. Feature numbers were: the devotional by Miss Ethel Riser; a talk on "Home Missions, Part One," Mrs. S. H. Allbritton; a talk on "Home Missions, Part Two," by Mrs. Dolby Johnson; and a talk on "Y. W. A. in Other Lands," by Mrs. Margaret Kirk.

A Valentine atmosphere characterized the social hour. The love theme was accentuated by each member telling of the many thoughtful ways they had been remembered by their rainbow. Gifts of appreciation were presented each rainbow by members. Names were then drawn for another rainbow service to be extended over the next three months.

The Valentine motif was also carried out in the refreshment course served to the following: Miss Ethel Riser, Mrs. Margaret Kirk, Mrs. S. H. Allbritton, Miss Odessa Streetman, Miss Bertrease Corbin, Miss Helen Chapman, Mrs. Dolby Johnson, Mrs. Aline Stovall, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Miss Evelyn Blair.

Mrs. John D. Stuart was a guest of relatives and friends in Prescott, Ark., and in Shreveport.

Mrs. Alex Busch, who had been ill at her home, was moved to a Monroe hospital, where she uoderwent an operation.

Sterlington

M. C. Still, Jr., of Bernice, was a guest of Jimmie Gimber at the club over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilford Wright entertained the members of the Methodist league with a backu and tacky party at the Munce club house Friday night. Games and contests were enjoyed and prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Miss Trudy King and Mr. Willie Black. Refreshments were served to the following members: Miss Ruby Robison, Louise Wilhite, Helen Wilhite, Sydney Alexander, Marguerite Alexander, Virginia Philips, Marguerite Barwick, Maurice Hart, Trudy King, Burnell King and Cleo Chambers, and Willie Black, Frank Horton, Britton Horton, J. C. Black, Pascal Redding, Mack McInnis, Billie Pate, W. B. Stewart, James Hamilton, Wadell Hamilton, Frank Smith and Aubrey McEcharn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall Hammons were called to Alexandria because of the serious illness of his cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Poole are enjoying a visit from Mrs. J. W. Harmon and little son, James, from Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Philips were called to Monticello, Ark., this week because of the death of their uncle. They were accompanied by their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sanders are enjoying a visit from Mrs. Sander's sister, Mrs. Lewis Wilson, from Monticello, Ark., and little son, Lewis Spencer, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Hundley were delighted by a visit from her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Will Harvey, and children from Jackson, Miss.

Georgetown

Miss Etta Thompson of Lake Charles visited her sister, Mrs. D. H. McNeil, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Barrett and children have moved to Sulphur.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Garland of Shreveport were recent guests of Mrs. L. C. Swope.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Puckett of Pineville recently visited Mr. Puckett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Puckett.

Bastrop

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross were hosts at an enjoyable affair, when they entertained at their home. Informality was the keynote of this delightful occasion, which was prompted by the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Fannie Taylor.

A dinner was served buffet style from the beautifully appointed table in the dining room, and clever Valentines marked the places for guests at small tables, laid in exquisite linen and silver and grouped in the living room.

Following the serving of the dinner, the hours were pleasantly passed in conversation.

Those permitted to share the evening and extend felicitations to Mrs. Taylor were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Leland Howard, Mr. and Mrs. George Ludlum, Mrs. W. C. Hobbs, Misses Edith and Fannie Hobbs, Mrs. F. H. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Winberry of Monroe, Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Gaston of Monroe and Mr. P. J. Sievert of Camden, Ark.

Miss Allyne Bacon, whose marriage on the 28th of this month is of interest to her wide circle of friends, was the honor guest at a beautifully arranged party given by Miss Oma Shaw Jones at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. V. Jones, Jr.

Garlands of crimson hearts festooned the windows and were in evidence in the scheme of decorations throughout the reception suite. The occasion was a bridal shower; and upon arrival, guests were given heart shaped cards with instructions to write, in verse, "Hints for a Happy Life" for the bride-elect. These were later read, much to the amusement and entertainment of the guests. Miss Jones then presented Miss Bacon with a large basket, decorated with hearts and filled with innumerable attractively wrapped packages.

Delicious refreshments were served to Miss Bacon, her grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Turpin, her mother, Mrs. C. I. Bacon, and Mesdames John Jarvis, Evans Turpin, William Loftin, William Montgomery, Charlie Hines, M. F. Hill, Roy Grantham, Frank Harrison, Emmett Hull, Alex Pettiss, George Cox, M. M. Crowe, D. M. Quinn, Lee Williamson, Joe Tinney, J. V. Jones, Sr., Luther Freeland, Misses Susie Turpin, Josephine Jones, Mildred McLeod and Miss Elaine Hotze of Mer Rouge.

The Pot Pourri Book club met with Mrs. H. F. Madison as the hostess. Members were asked to respond to the roll call with a short sketch of the life of any famous woman of their own choosing, in keeping with the program of the afternoon, "The Influence of Women Throughout the Ages." Famous women such as George Washington's mother, Carrie Chapman Catt, Florence Nightengale and Helen Keller provided a discussion of interest.

The program was turned over to Mrs. J. B. Tisdale, who discussed the hardships of the women of the world from the period of 1833 to 1933, the handicaps that had to be overcome and the manner in which the outstanding characters of their day and time took upon themselves to assert their abilities, not only to be capable mothers and wives, but to join in the activities that were the keynote of their time.

Mrs. Tisdale called upon Mrs. H. Webb Madison, who read a cleverly written paper on "A Day With a Lady of Leisure;" Mrs. James Madison told the club about the life of Abigail Adams, the wife and mother of two of our presidents; Mrs. Jake Kern related the life and hardships of the founder of Mount Holyoke, a girls' seminary, Mary Lyons; Mrs. H. I. Seligman told of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, famous in her efforts for woman suffrage; Mrs. W. T. Smith, as a double treat, gave the history of Madame Schumann-Heink and sang one of the songs that this famous singer enjoys singing. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. M. V. Orr.

At the end of this most enjoyable entertainment, Mrs. H. F. Madison served a delicious salad course to the following members and guests: Mesdames F. L. Billington, A. H. Brook, Isaac Chapman, R. E. Fullenwider, W. H. Giles, Estelle B. Harris, Jake Kern, James Madison, H. I. Seligman, W. T. Smith, M. H. Spier, J. B. Tisdale, McVea Young, M. V. Orr, W. A. Rodgers, H. Webb Madison and J. P. Madison.

Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. I. A. Funderburk for a "Stewardship" program, with 11 members and two visitors present. Two new members were admitted to the organization, Mrs. A. P. Brown and Mrs. C. T. Stinson. Mrs. Funderburk led the discussion of "Our Stewardship Alphabet," while Mrs. W. T. Godfrey and Mrs. C. McLauren taught the lesson from the mission study book, "Who Is Our Neighbor?" Mrs. P. H. Key dismissed the group with prayer.

The Ever Ready and Ruth Brown circles of the Methodist church held a joint session at the parsonage for the purpose of completing the mission study course, with Mrs. G. A. Morgan presiding and conducting the opening exercises. Members of the Ruth Brown circle led the discussion on the chapter on "Home Missions and Soul Welfare," and the Ever Ready took the chapter on "The Means of Evangelization."

Those taking part were Mrs. Fred Callaway, Mrs. A. A. Meredith, Mrs. J. A. Thurman, Mrs. J. A. Gaar, Mrs. V. L. Brumfield, Mrs. Henry Scroggin, Mrs. W. S. McDonald.

Another joint session of the Ruth Brown and Ever Ready circles was held later finally to complete the course of study adopted in the early part of the year.

Mrs. W. S. McDonald conducted the opening devotional exercises, and Mrs. A. A. Meredith led the discussion on the chapter on "The Ministry of Service," emphasizing the three topics of services rendered by home missions, educational, medical and community. Mrs. Meredith used posters, maps and clippings to show the locations of the missing stations, the types of service rendered and the field of work yet to be done. Mrs. J. A. Gaar, Mrs. Fred Callaway and Mrs. T. L. Walker discussed the chapter on "Can Christians Cooperate?" while Mrs. G. A. Morgan, Mrs. W. S. McDonald and Mrs. J. J. Briehm finished the chapter on "The Promise and its Fulfillment." The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. A. A. Meredith.

BUTTER-KRUST
Breads
and
Are Properly Baked

Almost any baker will tell you that there are at least one hundred separate and distinct steps in the making of bread alone, and that to take ninety-nine of these steps and miss the hundredth would mean failure. Because hardly any two brands of flour are the same, the baker needs to call upon all his knowledge in the correct mixing of materials. Then he must think about such local atmospheric conditions as temperature, humidity and barometric pressure, which influence fermentation. Finally he must even know about the water with which he mixes his dough, for the best drinking water is often the poorest type for breadmaking.

The Ouachita Baking Company know of these facts and our bakers are educated to bread making. That is why you never have nor ever will see or taste a loaf of BUTTER-KRUST Bread that isn't just perfect.

This delicious bread is for sale in all grocery stores, restaurants and sandwich shops, and practically every pantry in Monroe and West Monroe homes have a plentiful supply of fresh "BUTTER-KRUST" at any time bread is wanted.

Ronald Colman Scores Triumph In 'Tale Of Two Cities'

Big Cast In Classic At Paramount

Dickens Drama Takes Place With Screen's Finest Photoplays

SWEEPING across the screen with a power seldom equalled and perhaps never surpassed, "A Tale of Two Cities," starring Ronald Colman, closes its engagement today at the Paramount theater to take its place among the truly magnificent photoplays of all time.

It presents Ronald Coleman as Sydney Carton in a role that eclipses any of his previous achievements—a role which appears to have been tailored to his measure, giving him full range for his dramatic talents. Sardonically humorous, carelessly brilliant, utterly at ease and finally rising to almost deific heights of sacrifice for a love that never could be realized, Colman may well count "A Tale of Two Cities" the peak of his artistic career.

The story is familiar to every reader of the works of Charles Dickens. It comes to the screen without major alterations. It tells of the joys and tragedies of a little group of people, English and French, who became embroiled in the sinister workings of the French Revolution of 1789. On the printed page it was a masterpiece of literature; on the screen it becomes a moving, vivid reality in which every element of entertainment is deftly blended.

The love of Sydney Carton for Lucie Manette, played by Elizabeth Allan, is a glorious thing. Although it never is consummated, could never be consummated, and although Lucie gives her hand to Charles Darnay, played by Donald Woods, the romance between Lucie and Carton transcends the limitations of life, defies the gates of death and becomes a thing of beauty to be remembered forever by film fans.

For spectacular values, it is doubtful whether any picture since the advent of sound can be compared with "A Tale of Two Cities." Swinging the focal point of interest between London and Paris, it depicts the slow fomenting of revolt among the masses of the French peasantry, shows the intimate events that touch the flame to the powder, and then crowds the screen with such stirring scenes of tumult that words are empty to describe them. Scenes of the storming of La Force prison and the Bastille, scenes of the Revolutionary tribunal, scenes of the famous old Bailey trial in London—these are spectacular highlights that cannot be forgotten.

Of the distinguished cast—there are 112 speaking parts in the picture, more than half created by famous players—it is difficult to select outstanding performances, for every characterization is a gem. Elizabeth Allan, who first attracted attention in "David Copperfield," gives a magnificent performance as Lucie, and Donald Woods is perfect Charles Darnay.

Edna May Oliver as the fiery Miss Pross rises to totally unexpected dramatic heights and becomes a new personality, a powerful emotional actress. Blanche Yurka, the distinguished stage star, making her screen debut as Mme. DeFarge, leader of the wild forces of revolution, is a sensational hit. Reginald Owen is everything Mr. Stryver might be expected to be, and Basil Rathbone contributes an excellent performance as the cruel Marquis St. Evremonde.

Henry B. Walthall as the tragic Dr. Manette is a character that will go down in screen history as one of the finest accomplishments of the films. Walter Catlett, known all his professional life as a comedian, does a complete about-face and becomes the villainous Barsad, and a consummate hit. Fritz Leiber, the famous Shapespearean star, makes his first appearance on the screen as Gaspard, and will be seen again and frequently for his work is outstanding.

Mitchell Lewis as Ernest DeFarge; Claude Gillingwater as Jarvis Lorry; Billy Bevan as Jerry Cruncher; Lucille Laverne as La Vengeance; Tully Marshall as the Woodcutter—these are roles that deserve especial mention for their intelligent portrayal.

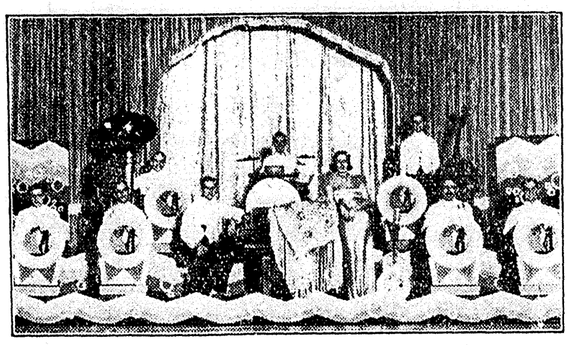
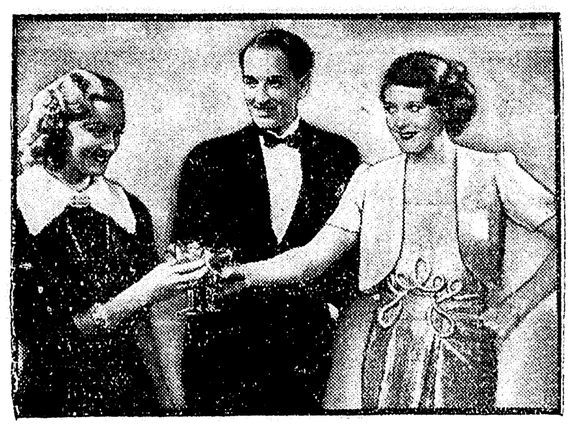
Stars Who Are Featured In Film Attractions Here This Week

Donald Woods, Elizabeth Allan, and Edna May Oliver in a scene from Charles Dickens' greatest love story "A Tale of Two Cities," which is playing at the Paramount theater for the last times today. Ronald Colman is starred in this million dollar production that has proven the outstanding hit of 1936 so far. Monroe audiences have praised it highly both for entertainment value and production.





The above photograph is that of the Club Royale orchestra, who with the sextette of Satinettes are featured in the twenty people musical revue "Sirens in Satin" the stage show coming to the Paramount theater for one day only Monday. It is a sophisticated revue of smiles, styles, and syncopation; and, includes seven outstanding acts. (Lower) Marian Marsh, Otto Kruger, and Ruth Chatterton in a scene from Katherine Brush's successful novel "Lady of Secrets" which will be the screen attraction with the "Sirens in Satin."

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, the vagabond Gypsy lovers as they appear in their latest full length feature comedy riot, "The Bohemian Girl," which comes to the Paramount theater Tuesday and Wednesday. Antonio Moreno, Jacqueline Wells, and Mae Busch head the big supporting cast in this merry, mad, musical. On the same program one will see the 1936 Rose Bowl football game, a full three reel length subject of this great classic with the outstanding plays in slow motion.

The romance and glory of the Mississippi in the early 1880's are brought to the screen in Fox Film's "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." America's champion of comedy, Will Rogers, is starred but the lovely Ann Shirley, jovial Irvin S. Cobb and Stepin Fetchit, the slow motion comedian, are featured in this exciting romance of Ol' Man River, coming to the Capitol theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Glorious romance checkers stark terror in the new Paramount dramatic thriller, "Woman Trap," coming to the Capitol theater Monday and Tuesday, with Gertrude Michael and George Murphy heading a cast that includes Dean Jagger, Roscoe Karns, and Sidney Blackmer. This film is guaranteed to please all lovers of the exciting, the romantic, and the unusual as it tells of a front page crime reporter in quest of a big scoop.

Strike up the band for this bevy of beauties. They appear in RKO-Radio's new musical drama "To Beat the Band," with Hugh Herbert and Helen Broderick, Hollywood's latest combination of comedians. Joy Hodges, center, leads the girl musicians in the above scene. Roger Pryor and Phyllis Brooks are shown inset. Youth, novelty, song, dance, music and drama are the factors of this intriguing entertainment playing at the Capitol theater today only.

America and England join hands to form the screen's most amusing comedy team, introduced in the new Metro Goldwyn Mayer laugh riot "The Perfect Gentleman," playing at the Capitol theater Friday only. Frank Morgan represents the American end of the comedy union, while Cicely Courtneidge, London's favorite star, represents the other side. Together they appear in a story of a bluffing major and a rollicking music hall star that will make the very rafters shake with the audience laughter.

Bela Lugosi and Karloff delve into strange new fields of mystery in their latest thriller and weirdest drama, "The Invisible Ray," which comes to the Paramount theater Thursday and Friday. Frances Drake, Frank Lawton, Walter Kingsford and Buelah Bondi head the supporting cast in this entertainment such as you have never gasped at, a story whose scientific wonders stagger human imagination, and the most unusual romance ever filmed.

Tuneful Hit Now Playing At Capitol

Song, Dance, Romance Make 'To Beat The Band' Lively Film

FUNNYMAN Hugh Herbert teams with Helen Broderick, beloved Broadway comedienne, in the smash musical comedy "To Beat the Band," RKO Radio Picture, playing today only at the Capitol theater. Herbert's twittery brand of comedy proves a perfect foil for the Broderick drolleries and deadpan expressions. The result—a bedlam of comedy.

Herbert, a "fuddy-duddy" bachelor, is informed that his eccentric old aunt has died and left him $59,000,000. The situations which arise from attempts to block Herbert from receiving this handsome piece of change, provide one of the most sparkling shows of the season.

Conniving against Herbert with Helen Broderick, are a dance band maestro, Fred Keating, and members of his orchestra, and even Herbert's own blundering butler, Eric Blore, than whom none can blunder or "butt-le" better.

The "Original California Collegians," as the orchestra, are a madcap group of comic musicians whose antics in "Fifty Million Frenchmen," "Three's a Crowd" and "Roberta," aroused laughs that still echo on Broadway.

Abetting these comics and musicians are the popular Roger Pryor, who was Mae West's "dark and handsome" in a recent picture; and a lovely newcomer to the screen, Phyllis Brooks, whose blonde beauty was circulated 'round the world by the talented pens of America's most noted illustrators.

Five melodious ditties written by Johnny Mercer and Matt Malneck, both offsprings of that royal band headed by Paul Whiteman, enliven this filmusical. They are: "I Saw Her At Eight O'Clock," "Santa Claus Came in the Spring," "Eenie, Meenie, Minie, Mo," "If You Were Mine" and "Meet Miss America."

Sharing honors with this topnotch group of comedians and musicians are Evelyn Poe, that tiny bundle of melody; Ronald Graham, baritone of radio fame and Bill Carey, the goggle-eyed "skat" singer.

"To Beat the Band" brings one of the first all-stage casts to the "flickers," every member having served his dramatic apprenticeship before the footlights before coming to Hollywood. It is also one of the first all-singing casts assembled for a major production.

PLANS MADE FOR CHURCH CENSUS

First Project Of Its Kind Here Will Be Undertaken Thursday

The first community-wide religious census of Monroe and West Monroe will be held next Thursday morning, when approximately 250 workers will take part in the unique project, it was announced Saturday by Rev. C. S. Brooks, the general chairman.

Every home in the two cities will be canvassed by the workers soliciting information on the religious affiliation or preference of every member of each family. Virtually every denomination represented in Monroe and West Monroe will be represented in the effort. Rev. N. F. Vandegaer, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic church, said Saturday that 20 workers from his congregation would assist in the canvass. Other denominations, including Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, Lutheran, Episcopal, Church of God, and various smaller groups, have already announced their participation.

Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will have immediate charge of the canvass in Monroe. In West Monroe the work will be directed by Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. Martin Hebert, pastor of the First Methodist church.

A meeting of ministers of all groups in the two cities will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the study of Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, at Temple B'Nai Israel, to make final plans. At 9:45 o'clock Thursday morning, the day of the canvass, a meeting of all Monroe workers will be held at the First Methodist church, and at the same hour the West Monroe workers will meet at the First Baptist church to receive final instructions.

The canvass will be completed in one hour, between 10 and 11 o'clock, and a request has been made that some member of each famliy remain at home for that brief period to facilitate the work.

MOTHER CAN'T TOUCH TINIEST BABE

Farmerville

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Killpatrick entertained with a six o'clock dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. Charles Radway and daughter, Reita Nell, of Malone, New York. Those enjoying the hospitality, besides the honorees, were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roark, Mr. W. Ed Walker of Marion, Mr. Coats Stuckey of Baton Rouge, Mrs. Willie Lee Thompson of Bernice, Mrs. T. E. Griffin, Mrs. H. E. Dawkins, Miss Bertha Cobb and Miss Bettye Jo Cobb of Farmerville.

Mrs. W. J. Hull of Russellville, Ark., visited her sister, Mrs. J. R. Dawkins, in Farmerville for a few days.

Mrs. S. T. Howell and son, Thad, were called to El Dorado, Ark., recently on the account of the serious illness and death of her brother-in-law, Mr. James G. Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Preaus accompanied Mrs. D. C. Tidwell and Mrs. Etta Calhoun to Alexandria, where they will spend a while in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel White of Ruston were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mayor and Mrs. J. R. Dawkins, during a week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Tibbett of Oil City spent several days in Farmerville with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Killgore Andrews.

Mrs. Willie Lee Thompson of Bernice was the charming house guest of Mrs. E. N. Killpatrick during a recent week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Radway and daughter, Reita Nell, of Malone New York, spent several days here with Mrs. Radway's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Killpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ward of Overton, Texas, spent a week-end at their home in Farmerville.

Mrs. Rafe Odom departed recently for Houston, Texas, where she went for an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ora Hard.

Mrs. John W. Taylor spent several days at Monroe with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor.

Mrs. Stein Baughman spent a week at Delhi with her father, Mr. Gunter. Mr. Baughman joined her there for a week-end.

Bonita

Dr. A. B. Gregory, Miss Jane Gregory and Miss Johnnie Meyers of Monroe were recent visitors in Bonita.

Mrs. DeVance Ponder has returned from a hospital in Shreveport, where she was seriously ill for several weeks.

H. P. Buatt of Monroe recently spent a week in Bonita visiting relatives.

Mrs. Clark Butler has returned to her home in Jones from a hospital in Monroe, where she recently underwent an operation.

Columbia

Members of the sixth grade of Columbia high school, assisted by Miss Bert Hearne and the tenth grade home economics girls, entertained in the school library recently in honor of their teacher, Mrs. Aucie Grigg, who was, before her recent marriage, Miss Rilla Hebert. The high light of the evening's entertainment was the mock wedding ceremony, with Jane Davis as the bride; Joe Hundley, bridegroom; Jim Sherman, minister; James Martin, best man; Myra Nell Myers, Adele Redditt, Roberta Bridger, Earline Steele and Betty Girod, bride's attendants; Norman Coates, bride's father.

Lovely gifts were presented to Mrs. Grigg in a charming manner, and inspection showed them to be useful as well as beautiful. Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mrs. Aucie Grigg, Mrs. Earl Norwood, Mrs. G. E. Erskine, Mrs. Orvie Watson, Mrs. Hugh Davis, Mrs. Chrissie Redditt, Mrs. Earl Harris, Mrs. H. C. You DON'T Have the Right TO VIOLATE TRAFFIC RULES

FIND THE MISTAKES AND ENTER CONTEST

With the help of your parents, teacher, or some other grownup, find four safety mistakes in this picture and list them on the blank lines.

Listed below, and indicated by numbers which I have written on the pictures, are four mistakes dangerous to human safety that I find illustrated in the above drawing:

NO. 1 .....

NO. 2 .....

NO. 3 .....

NO. 4 .....

The numberplate on your car is your license to drive but it is NOT a license to violate traffic rules.

It is estimated that if all of the money that is paid by automobile owners each day for traffic fines could be put together and used for the purpose state or federal governments would not have to spend one cent for relief cases.

RULES

2—After all of the pictures have appeared and you have found four mistakes in each one of them, write a "Safety Slogan" of not more than 12 words.

3—Send the 26 drawings with the mistakes listed and your "Safety Slogan" to the Safety Contest Editor of The News-Star—World.

MEDAL IS GIVEN TO CITY SCHOOLS

Supt. Neville Gets Trophy For Washington Celebration

The United States commission which was empowered to conduct the bi-centennial of the birth of George Washington, with appropriate exercises throughout the country, has just awarded the Monroe city schools, through their superintendent, E. L. Neville, a handsome bronze medal. The trophy, which was received Thursday, is now on display in the office of Mr. Neville. It contains a bas-relief of Washington with the name, "Washington" and the numerals "1732-1932." On the reverse side of the medal is shown "Liberty" with a torch in her hands and the inscription, "Proclaim Liberty Throughout the Land."

Accompanying the medal was a letter which stated as follows: "With the approach of the 204th anniversary of the birth of our great American—George Washington—we review with gratitude the outstanding services and cooperation of the schools of America in the period of the bi-centennial celebration. The record of accomplishments and success of the celebration as recorded in the memorial volumes, was made possible by the active support of those interested in education.

"In recognition of the valuable assistance given by the schools of your city during the celebration commemorating the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, we are presenting the official bi-centennial medal in bronze for your school museum. This is an expression of our appreciation of the achievements of your educational staff and is in recognition of your part in this great historical celebration."

LINCOLN PARISH SCHOOLS TO OPERATE NINE MONTHS

CHOUDRANT, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—C. L. Madden, principal of Choudrant high school, has been notified by Superintendent H. L. Campbell that all white schools in the parish will have nine months of school. Great satisfaction has been expressed because of this decision.

TROTTER IS NAMED OFFICIAL OF CHURCH

A. W. Trotter, well known leader in fraternal and church affairs of Monroe, has been named general superintendent of the First Methodist church Sunday school to succeed the late S. M. Collins. He will assume his new duties today.

Mr. Trotter is a native of New Iberia where he was born in 1903. After finishing high school, he was employed for some time with a business house in Alexandria, coming to Monroe in January, 1924, to accept a responsible position with a firm here with which he has been connected as sales manager ever since.

He has held membership with the First Methodist church ever since he came here and has for years served as a steward, superintendent of the Intermediate Senior department of the Sunday school, and as teacher of the young men's Bible class.

He is also active in fraternal affairs, being one of the outstanding members of the Stonewall lodge. Knights of Pythias in which he has held nearly all offices and is at present district deputy grand chancellor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH AT JENA WILL BUILD

JENA, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Members of the First Baptist church in Jena have voted to erect a new and modern church building on the lot owned by the congregation at the corner of Second and Elm streets. The new building will be of frame construction and will house an auditorium for church purposes and a two-story educational and Sunday school wing.

The building committee, already at work on the plans for the new structure, is composed of Q. R. Hudson, A. D. Flowers, W. F. Mackey, L. W. Holmes, Bob Owens and W. H. Baker. The finance committee is composed of Phillip S. Gaharan, Jr., Claude Welch, Walter Brewton, Alex Floyd and S. R. Poland.

Work is expected to start within the next fifteen to thirty days.

MEASLES SPREADING IN DISTRICT ABOUT DIONNES

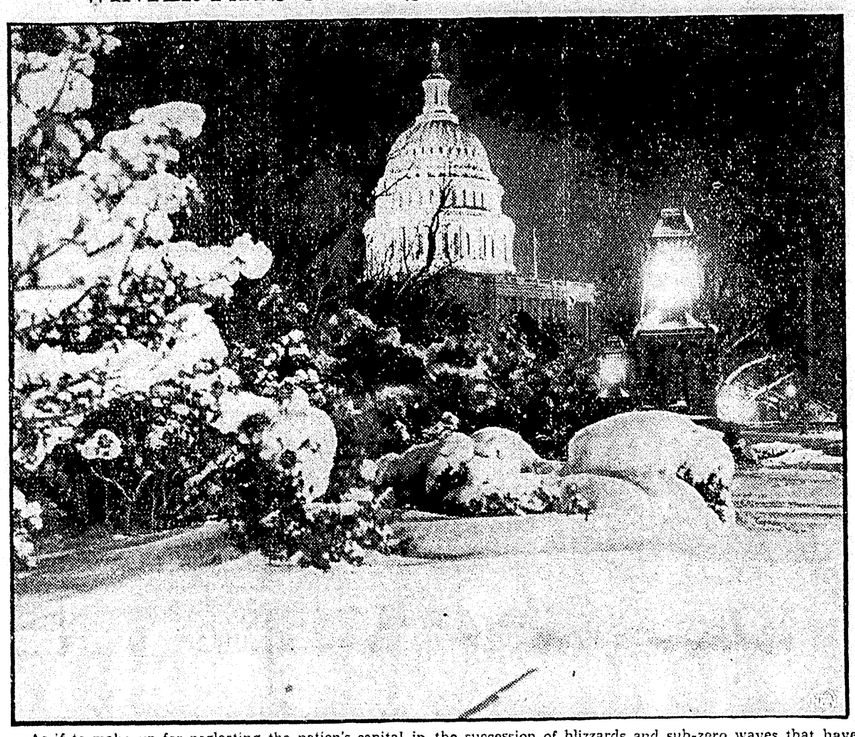
Dr. A. R. Dafoe, physician to the quints, said the measles had reached the near epidemic stage, though the carefully guarded babies have not been touched.

WINTER PAYS UNCLE SAM AN OFFICIAL VISIT



As if to make up for neglecting the nation's capital in the succession of blizzards and sub-zero waves that have swept most of the United States since before the holidays, King Winter gave Washington, D. C., a fifteen-inch snowfall to set a 14-year record. The brightly illuminated dome of the capitol building rising above snow blanketed shrubbery and lawns makes a scene that symbolizes the severe weather besetting the nation.

CHAPTER XLIV

A pause, then Scott's deep voice. "Hello."

"Scott—"

"Hello, there, Dr. Osborne." Then, quickly, "Nothing wrong, I hope."

"Plenty, I'm afraid, Scott."

"They say your wife's getting married to Ronnie Moore—tonight."

Silence. Then Scott's voice, hoarse with emotion. "Thanks, sir. I'm coming as fast as I can."

The telephone clicked. Dr. Osborne hung up, smiling a little. A load was off his mind. He had almost made one of the big mistakes of his life. He would have made it if it hadn't been for that timid old lady. But now Scott was coming as fast as he could. That meant he'd be coming more than fast. The new car of Scott's was a traveler! And with good roads all the way, Scott should have time to get home before nightfall, with a good margin to spare.

When Scott spoke in the tone he had just used over the phone, something was bound to happen. It had taken a jolt like this to bring that hard-headed, hard-bitten young realist to his senses, bringing him tearing across the country to put a stop to this fool business.

Meanwhile Dana continued her preparations in a half daze. There was a sense of unreality about everything. The rain had stopped, but the sky was still dark, and the gloom had penetrated the house, wrapping it in gray shadows.

The silent, flower-filled rooms surely had nothing to do with a happy occasion. Dana could not bear to look into the big front, drawing room. Once she had, but had glanced away quickly. The big mantel facing her was like a solemn rebuke.

She and Scott had stood in front of it two years ago when they gave their pledges to each other, with a soft glow from tall candles about them. Forever and ever. What mockery! Nobody ever married for forever and ever any more.

Nancy was shut up in her room. Aunt Ellen's blue eyes looked as though they were being perpetually washed with tears. It was easy enough to understand why Aunt Ellen looked unhappy. She believed romance had reality, when really it was only a trap. But why should Nancy who had so much to profit from this marriage withdraw from the plans with such cold hostility?

Her traveling cases were packed. Her traveling outfit was on a hanger. Hat, gloves, the new pocketbook, daintily outfitted, were on the bed.

An orchid shoulder bouquet was in the icebox. But not bigger or more beautiful than the one Scott had sent on that other wedding day. She wished Ronnie had sent something else—anything but orchids. But then he couldn't have known that orchids were going to make her miserable.

• • •

It was 5 o'clock now. Just 5. The hours seemed leaden. Not even lighted fires, recklessly blazing all over the house and the prodigal waste of electricity were bringing a cheerful aspect.

She would feel differently, perhaps, if Nancy were friendly, if people were chattering all over the place, and if Ronnie were here.

He was so dear and considerate. When she was with him, some of her doubts fell away.

"Dana, dear, Miss Burton has come. Are you ready for the manicure?"

Aunt Ellen opened the door gently and put her gray head in. Then she closed the door behind her quickly: "Dana, you're crying!"

"It's a cold, Aunt Ellen."

"I guess I know tears when I see them," Aunt Ellen answered with surprising spirit. Her own tears fell on Dana's bright hair, as she took her niece in her arms.

"Dana, there's something I want to tell you. I—"

But her words were interrupted. Mrs. Cameron had opened the door. "Dana, here is Miss Burton."

"Yes. I'm ready," Dana answered listlessly.

"Sorry to be late," Miss Burton said, "but I had a hard customer. She wanted a deep red, and then when it was on, decided she wanted pale pink."

"I suppose you do have some trying people," Dana said.

"Yes, dearie. But Miss Long was one of the worst I've ever had!"

"Miss—Miss Long? Miss Paula Long?"

Dana's heart was beating wildly. Paula nervous and irritable. People weren't nervous and irritable when they were happy, when they were getting the man they loved.

"Maybe, she was in a terrible rush about something. Going out? Expecting someone?" Dana's probing, questioning words tumbled from her lips.

Dana was silent now. Nothing to gain. No illuminating word. Only surmising from this garrulous person. Why was she questioning her. What difference could anything make now?

With Dana's nails rose-tipped and shining, the manicurist packed her equipment. She remarked as she glanced at her wrist watch that it was 6 o'clock. The time meant nothing to Dana, except she mentally registered that Ronnie would arrive in an hour.

• • •

It was exactly 6, when an elderly man driving along the highway at a conservative speed witnessed one of the deadly dramas of the road. Two cars traveling at breakneck speed were meeting on a curve. He saw one car turned aside quickly, but not quickly enough. There was the sound of breaking glass and splintering wood.

A few seconds before, Scott had been driving along the smooth highway at 60 miles an hour. Some miles back he had picked up a nail. A man had come along and helped him jack up the car and change the tire. Scott had fretted fearfully over the loss of those precious minutes.

It was five minutes to six when he got under the wheel again and set out to recover the lost time.

Many things had become clear to Scott on that long, desperate drive home. He had been a stubborn fool, putting pride before his love for his wife.

He had allowed her to walk out of his life weakly, without demanding an explanation. If she married Ronnie he would have only himself to blame. But she would not marry Ronnie!

He had glanced exultantly at the clock on the dashboard as he rounded a corner. Then the yellow globes of a car had loomed in front of him like the eyes of a huge wild animal.

In a split second, Scott had thought in a passion of revolt, "I'd have made it if that fool driver had stayed on his side of the road!"

CUCUMBER ACREAGE FOR LASALLE PARISH SOUGHT

JENA, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—J. V. Hinton, LaSalle parish county agent, is at work to secure a pledge of 100 acres of land to be planted in cucumbers for an Alexandria pickling plant and will call a meeting of the farmers in Jena within the next few days to endeavor to complete all arrangements for the acreage. He has been advised that the farmers of Rapides and Grant parishes, who have been engaged in raising cucumbers for several years, have made a nice profit from the venture and is anxious that the LaSalle farmers pledge the acreage for at least one year and see if a profitable crop can be grown here.

Washington Almost Lost!

1775 to 1783 were dark years for America. Though the people were inspired with patriotism, they were also doubtful and anxious. Money to continue financing the American move for independence was almost shut off. Credit was practically NIL.

If America was to win the Revolutionary War, it was up to private capital . . . courageous men and far-sighted banking institutions . . . to see it through.

America won.

FISHER'S HISTORY OF BOXING 2-23

PRIMO AT 12 COULD NOT READ NOR WRITE. HE HAD NO SCHOOLING AND COULD NOT EVEN SPEAK ITALIAN AS THE PEOPLE OF SEQUALS SPOKE A LOCAL "PATOIS". ONE DAY HE MET A LABORER WHO WAS JOURNEYING TO FRANCE.

PRIMO DECIDED TO GO WITH HIM. HIS MOTHER GAVE HIM HER LAST CENT AND HIS GRANDMOTHER CONTRIBUTED HER SHOES AS SHE HAD THE LARGEST FEET IN THE VILLAGE. ARRIVING IN FRANCE HE WORKED FOR A COUSIN AT LE MANS' RECEIVING FOOD AND LODGING BUT NO PAY- AND STAYED AT THE JOB FOR 2 YEARS.

YOU SAY YOU FEEL DIZZY AND HAVE BEEN EXPERIENCING HEADACHES? I SHOULD SAY YOU NEED GLASSES.

AH THAT'S FER SISSIES. I DON'T WANT NO GLASSES.

BUT MR. WALSH, YOU SHOULD HAVE THEM FOR READING. COME, I'LL TEST YOUR EYES.

AWRIGHT, ONLY I DON'T DO NO READIN'. SO IT'S FOOLISH.

CAN YOU SEE THIS SIGN?

FUNEX

WHAT DO THE LETTERS READ?

FUNEX

WHY UH-- WHY- IT'S A CINCH.

PSSST--- WHAT'S IT READ?

K--LFMNX

THAT'S RIGHT! WELL, NOW TRY ANOTHER.

FUNEX

UH--WHY-- IT READS UH--

PSSST---

VERY GOOD--MARVELOUS IN FACT! I GUESS I WAS WRONG. TROUBLE MUST BE YOUR STOMACH OLD MAN.

P-D-Q-F-O-B G-T-H-Y-Z-E J-L-O-I-R

TELLIN' ME I NEED GLASSES-- TH' GUY'S NERTS!

LET'S HAVE SOME LUNCH. I'M VERY HUNGERY.

BEFORE WE EAT I GUESS I'LL WASH UP.

I DID ALREADY. I'LL SEE YOUSE IN THE DININ' ROOM.

AH--THERE IT IS. GENTS WASH ROOM.

LADIES POWDER ROOM AND LOUNGE

EEEEEE! HOW DARE YOU! CAN'T YOU READ? HAS A LADY NO PRIVACY! BUT LADIES- I THOUGHT-- HIT HIM WITH THE MIRROR JULIA! OW-LADIES-- OOF!

ARE YOUSE READY--WHY FER HEVVINS SAKES!

AW SHUT UP! I WONT BE HAVIN' LUNCH. SEE YA LATER.

KOROLOFF'S BRAIN SNAPPED WHEN HE FINALLY SUCCEEDED IN GAINING POSSESSION OF THE STRATOS-SHIP PLANS, AND HE IS NOW A RAVING LUNATIC! ALARMED, HIS TWO HENCHMEN FEAR FOR THEIR LIVES AT THE HANDS OF THE MADMAN!

--I SHAL' BE ABLE TO LAY CITY AFTER CITY TO WASTE WEETH THESE STRATOS-SHIPS-- SINK ALL BATTLESHIPS--THEN-- I, KOROLOFF, SHAL' BE EMPEROR OF THE WORLD—

LET'S GET OUTTA HERE!--HE'S GONE CRAZY!

MEANWHILE-CRANDELL HAS LOCKED THE DOOR OF THE LABORATORY AND IS GOING FOR HELP—

I'LL USE THEIR AUTO TO SUMMON POLICE!

LOOK, BETTY--I BELIEVE THAT'S MR. CRANDELL WAVING TO US—

--AND I LOCKED THEM IN THE LABORATORY— THEN TRIED TO REACH TOWN IN THEIR CAR-- BUT IT RAN OUT OF GASOLINE-

I'VE GOT LOTS OF RESERVE GAS IN MY WING TANKS-

BETTY, YOU GO AFTER THE SHERIFF-- IN THE CAR--- MR. CRANDELL AND I WILL FLY BACK TO THE HANGAR AND GUARD THOSE CROOKS—

BUT AS THE TWO CROOKS ASCEND THE STAIRWAY—

SAY, HERE'S A BUTTON!--EVERYTHING HERE OPERATES BY SWITCHES AN' BUTTONS-- MEBBE THIS OPENS TH' DOOR—

AND THAT IS THE DEADLY BUTTON THAT WILL SEND OFF TONS OF DYNAMITE AND BLOW THEM ALL INTO ETERNITY!

HOW TO FLY

BY HAL FORREST

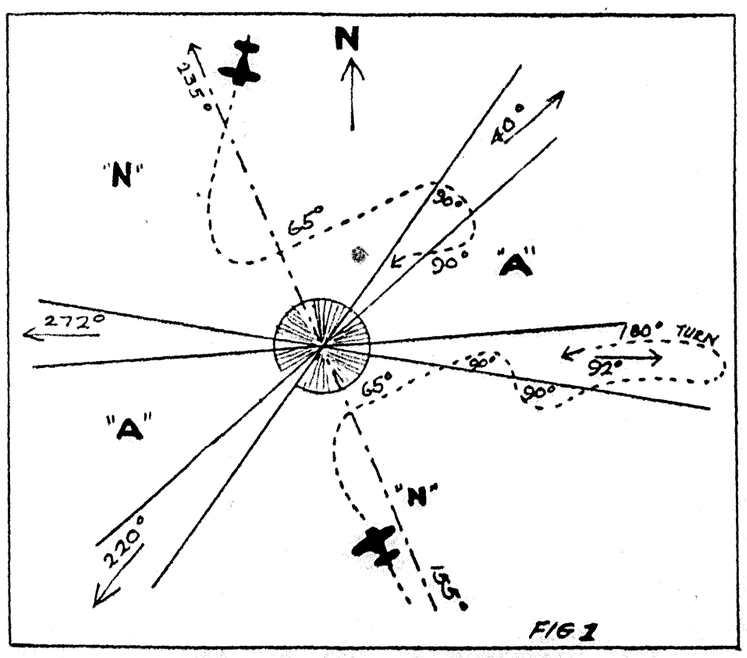

FIG 1

STILL ANOTHER METHOD OF ORIENTATION IS ILLUSTRATED IN FIGURE 2. THIS METHOD HAS THE ADVANTAGE OF ELIMINATING-

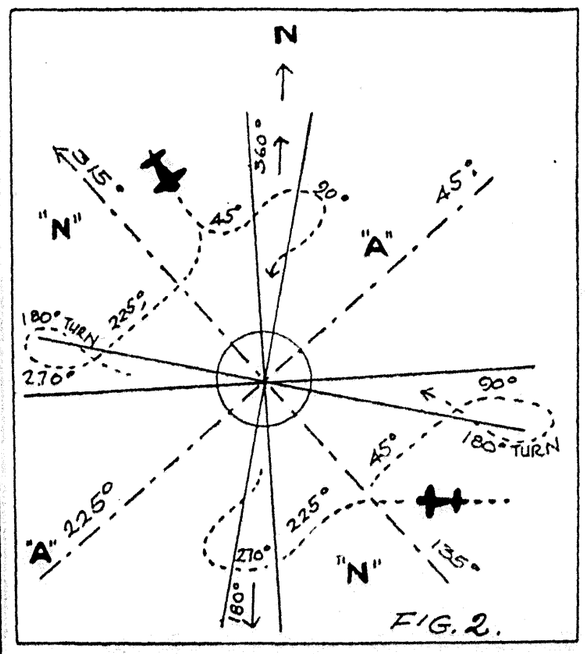

FIG. 2.

A MODIFICATION OF THIS SYSTEM, DESIGNED TO ELIMINATE 270° TURNS, IS PRESENTED IN FIG. 1. THE PILOT, UPON RECEIVING AN "A" OR "N" SIGNAL FOLLOWS THE SAME PROCEDURE AS OUTLINED LAST SUNDAY. HOWEVER, IF AFTER INTERCEPTING A RANGE AND MAKING HIS 90° RIGHT TURN, HE FINDS HIMSELF IN THE QUADRANT—

—TURNS OF MORE THAN 180° WITH ACCOMPANYING UNDESIRABLE COMPASS SPINNING.— A CAREFUL STUDY OF THE ABOVE DRAWING WILL DISCLOSE THIS METHOD—

DOCTOR- IS THERE ANY HOPE?

THE MINUTES DRAG SILENTLY PAST, AS A NURSE KEEPS CONSTANT VIGIL AT THE DETECTIVE'S BEDSIDE....

ONE O'CLOCK - TWO O'CLOCK - THREE O'CLOCK..

IT'S THE HOSPITAL!

YES... YES.. YES...

OH.... OH... OH.. (SOB), (SOB) (SOB)..

TESS.... WHAT DID THEY SAY? WHAT'S THE ANSWER? SPEAK... SPEAK...

HE'S PAST THE CRISIS.. ..HE'S BETTER...HE'S CALLING FOR YOU, JUNIOR! THEY WANT US TO COME DOWN THERE RIGHT AWAY!

NO-I DIDN'T GO TO BED AT ALL. I JUST SAT UP THERE BY THE WINDOW AND KEPT....WELL, SORT OF PRAYING, I GUESS....I KNEW TRACY'D GET BETTER! COME ON-LET'S GET GOING.
